Labor Cabinet Is Beaten But Refuses To Quit

M'DONALD HOLDS CLAUSE DEFEATED IS NOT ESSENTIAL

Conservatives and Liberals Combine To Defeat Coal Bill Clause by Vote of 282 to 272.

VOTE OF CENSURE COMES TOMORROW

Baldwin Asks Prime Minister To Quit But MacDonald Refuses—House Is in Uproar.

LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald's second labor government went down to defeat in the house of commons tonight.

The margin of defeat was 8 votes, one less than the margin by which the government triumphed over the combined opposition forces on February 27.

It had been evident for a week that the liberals were lining up their strength and stiffening the party discipline in preparation for an attack against labor's controversial coal mines bill and unemployment program.

Not Essential Clause.

Today they joined the conservatives and successfully pushed through an amendment to the coal bill by 282 votes to 274.

Immediately after announcement of the result, Prime Minister MacDonald made it plain that he had no intention of resigning until he was beaten on a major issue. He said he intended to go on with the coal bill because the amendment carried by the opposition made no essential change in the main structure of the measure.

Stanley Baldwin, former prime minister, who is the leader of the conservatives, provoked an indignant denial from Mr. MacDonald by asking whether he intended to go on with the coal bill, which was the parliamentary way of asking if he intended to resign.

"I am amazed at the question," Mr. MacDonald declared. "Mr. Baldwin will have an opportunity two days from now to move his party's vote of censure. I will be glad to accommodate him if he will make his vote of censure general, and we will accept the decision."

Censure Motion Up Thursday.

The prime minister showed no sign of discomfiture after the defeat and asked the house to continue with its work. Debate upon another amendment then proceeded.

Tonight it was said to be uncertain whether the conservative leader would push the censure motion he announced several days ago he would propose.

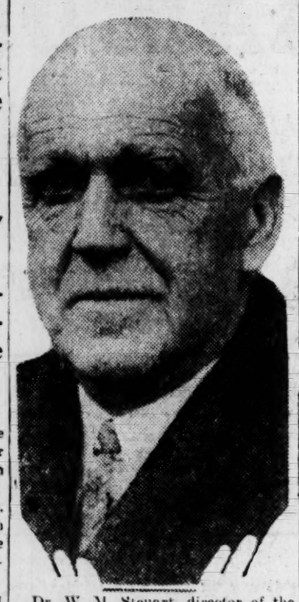

The motion, threatened by Mr Baldwin and Winston Churchill on March 5, condemned what it described as the "evasive and drifting policy" of the labor government. It deplored the current trade depression and the increase in the number of unemployed workers.

This would furnish the liberals and the conservatives, if they bring the question to a vote, an opportunity of attacking labor at one of its weakest points. The handling of the unemployment situation by J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal, has been vehemently criticized not only by Mr. Lloyd

Proposal To Slash School Pay Lost

Census Leader

Dr. W. M. Steuart, director of the bureau of the census, who is conducting a school for supervisors of the southeastern states in Atlanta.

Budget Not Acted Upon. Committee of Three To "Sell System to the People" Is Approved.

Declining to authorize a blanket cut of 50 per cent in salaries of all employes of the Atlanta public school syst for the last four months of this year, members of the board of education Monday afternoon failed to act on any budget and voted to form a committee of three to "sell the public school system to Atlantans and to attempt to bring sufficient pressure on council to obtain additional funds to avert any slashes."

The motion establishing the committee was offered as a substitute to th proposed of the current expenditures committee of the board and was passed by a vote of 8 for and 5 against.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, of the 11th ward, was made chairman of the committee, and John T. Hancock, author of the paper, and W. W. Gaines, chairman of the current expenditures body, were selected by Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, board president, as the two other members.

Mr. Gilliam announced that he would call a meeting of his committee within the next few days but would await action of a committee from the board which, this afternoon, will begin a conduct of the administration of Raymon R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs.

Heads Probe Committee.

Mr. Hancock heads the probe committee which will air the complaints which were filed against Ritchie in presentments of the Fulton county grand jury March 1. The jury charged Ritchie with waste and extravagance in the administration of school affairs.

When Mr Gaines offered the recommendations of the current expenditures committee which were formulated Monday afternoon at a secret session of that body from which the public and newspaper reporters were barred, the plan to reduce the system to an operation and maintenance basis of 50 per cent immediately struck a snag.

Alderman Gilliam led the attack on the plan by objecting to absorption of so large an amount of money during the last four months. It was estimated that at least $500,000 would be thus absorbed and that the system would operate for the four months on about $500,000 instead of the $1,000,000 estimated amount needed.

Opposes Salary Cut.

In presenting his substitute proposal that the committee be named Mr. Hancock opposed any contemplated cut in salaries.

"In am inherently opposed to any cut in salaries," he said. "I also am opposed to mutilating the school system, but if anything must be cut out I think we must do that. I do not think we should attempt to balance a budget today.

"We should name a committee of this board to tell the people of Atlanta the true facts and get their reaction. Then we should put pressure on council for more money. I believe if the people of Atlanta really become informed they will get behind the money-raising body and we would get the money we should have.

"In conjunction with this committee of three which I am proposing, I believe an intelligent publicity campaign should be waged. Our committee should meet with committees representing businessmen in order to acquaint the laymen with our program, its economy and its effectiveness. This would eliminate the opposition to our program."

Paper Criticized.

Passage of the Hancock paper was regarded in certain board circles as an attempt to balk a move to oust Ritchie from his post by acquainting the people with the actual operation of the school official's department. Another wing of the board held that it was purely concerned with the budget.

Alderman Gilliam declared that in-

ATLANTA IS ASKED TO AID IN CENSUS

The dicennial census of 1930 will be th greatest ever attempted in this or any other country in the world, declared Dr. W. M. Steuart, director of the census, in an address before a group of Atlanta businessmen and manufacturers at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, in which he pleaded for complete co-operation on the part of every individual citizen and business firm as the only method of assuring success of the undertaking.

Robert M. Davis, statistical editor of the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company and head of the nation advisory committee on the census of manufactures and distribution, also addressed the gathering and told of the specific benefits which might be expected to result from the vast accumulation of facts relative to business conditions.

Census Supervisors Attend.

Census supervisors from five southeastern states who are attending a two-day school at the Biltmore hotel under directon of Dr. Steuart, were guests at the dinner which was given by the Chamber of Commerce. Horace Russell, president of the chamber, presided.

Dr. Steuart pointed out that the welfare of the country depended in large measure on the willingness of business firms and industries to give the census enumerators the desired in-

Want Ad Search Nets Man $300

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Yesterday A. S. Ames, of West Palm Beach, was mighty blue. He had no job. His rent was overdue. The grocer stoutly refused to talk about further credit. Ames' family was in need.

Then he found a mere trinket—a "ten cent store" pin. It wasn't much to look at, so Ames dropped it into his pocket and went on reading the want ads in the newspaper. Still he found no indications that his luck would change. Absently he looked at the "lost and found" column. Hurriedly he re-examined the "ten cent store" pin. He was tickled all over with having found the mere trinket.

Mrs. Leo P. Cummings, of Chicago and Palm Beach, claimed the pin as her $4,500 diamond brooch and paid Ames a reward of $300. Tears of joy were seen in the man's eyes as he received the money.

HOPE OF SUCCESS OF NAVAL PARLEY IS FAST FADING

France May Recall Delegates — Three-Power Pact With England Building Is Prophesied.

PARIS, March 11.—(UN)—Opinion appears to be crystallizing in France that if the naval conference continues to attack the French attitude concerning security pacts while ignoring the impasse created by the demands of other powers, the Paris delegates may be forced to withdraw from the sessions.

There is no disguising that semi-official French circles are tired of British and American attacks. In these quarters the feeling is expressed that France is the only nation to have outlined clearly the total tonnage under which she cannot reduce without air-tight political pacts in return.

BY ARTHUR F. DEGREVE,
United News Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, March 11.—(UN)—Hope for a five-power naval agreement dwindled almost to the vanishing point tonight when it became known that the United States will not enter any form of a consultative pact in an effort to obtain a reduction of French tonnage demands.

The feeling of the American delegates is unanimous that such a pact accepted at this time might, under the circumstances, be construed by France in case of war as being more than consultative.

Three-Power Pact Seen.

France, it is held, might demand not only consultation, but naval support from the other powers in return for the cruisers, submarines and other craft she might sacrifice at this conference.

Observers feel that today's developments leave the problem of security, which the French demand as a price of reduction of their figures, strictly and solely up to the British. The general belief is that unless France obtains a security agreement with Britain, the only hope is a three-power pact between the United States, Britain and Japan, with a clause allowing the British to build more vessels if endangered by any other power.

The difficulty arises over the British policy of maintaining a fleet as large as those of France and Italy together. France wants 724,000 tons of warcraft by 1936, compared with 1,200,000 for Britain, and Italy demands the right to build to a parity with France.

Thus England is faced with the possibility of France and Italy building together, above her standards, and her only hope to avoid this is to get the French—and by the same token, the Italians—to reduced their figures.

England May Build More.

But if she fails to satisfy the French demand for security, the French will refuse to cut, and a deadlock will ensue leading to a three-power treaty at best.

In case of a three-power treaty Britain will continue to maintain a fleet as large as those of Italy and France combined. But to do so she will have to build, and if the Americans want parity with her they will have to build proportionately.

The British spokesman announced today that the French and English experts had agreed on figures that would form a basis of discussion of French tonnage demands. The figures were submitted to the heads of delegations this afternoon, but the discussion was expected to run up against the snag of a security pact before long.

JAMES J. DAVIS TO SEEK SENATE

Secretary, Backed by Vare, Will Oppose Grundy in Primary.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—(AP) William S. Vare, republican organization leader, today withdrew as a candidate for the United States senate and cleared the way for a fight for the senatorial seat between James J. Davis, secretary of labor, and Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

Closely allied with this contest will be a three-cornered rumpus for the republican gubernatorial nomination in which former Governor Gifford Pinchot, Francis Shunk Brown, of Philadelphia, former attorney-general of Pennsylvania, and Samuel S. Lewis, of York county, will be the candidates.

In announcing his withdrawal because of his health, Mr. Vare asked his followers to support the candidacy of the Hoover cabinet member for senator and Brown for governor. Mr. Davis at Washington today said he would formally enter the contest with a declaration he is to make at Pittsburgh on Saturday.

There was much speculation here as to whether Secretary Davis would resign from the cabinet to make the contest, but he was quoted in Washington as denying he would resign. "Such a report is a great injustice and if broadcast will do immeasurable harm to President Hoover," he said.

The seat for which Senator Grundy and Secretary Davis will oppose each other is for the unexpired term to which Mr. Vare was elected in 1926.

Site Leased at Cone and Luckie Streets — Plans Approved by Public Service Board.

With approval Tuesday afternoon of its petition by the Georgia public service commission, Atlanta officials of Colonial Stages, Incorporated, operators of transcontinental bus lines, announced that they would begin at an early date the erection of a modern terminal station on the southwest corner of Cone and Luckie streets, to cost $75,000 to $100,000.

Approval of the petition of the Colonial Stages Line follows an order issued in December directing both the Colonial and Greyhound lines to show cause why a joint terminal should not be erected. Recently, however, the Greyhound Line was summoned before the commission to show cause why its franchise should not be revoked because of violation of the commission's schedule orders.

The new building of Colonial Stages will be of colonial type and will be modern in every way. It will be erected on property which has been obtained under a lease "for a long number of years," officials said Tuesday night. Decision to erect the terminal follows on a previous determination to consolidate the southern, western and eastern lines of the company and its connections in Atlanta.

Colonial Stages owns the Central of Georgia Motor Company, operating to the south of Atlanta, and maintains overnight and day connections to Birmingham and the Pacific coast. It also has an operating agreement with the Queen City lines to Charlotte, Washington and New York, and has connecting lines to Augusta and Jacksonville. It is one of the largest coach lines operating in the country.

'Miss Texas' Wins Beauty Pageant

MIAMI, Fla., March 11.—@—A blonde beauty from Fort Worth, Texas, 20-year-old Janet Eastman, tonight donned the crown of "America's sweetheart" as seven judges named her as the inno among 44 contestants in the first annual international Miami beauty pageant.

Alberta McKellopp, 17, Los Angeles, bore the colors of California to a second place in the contest with 18-year-old Margaret Ekdahl, Tampa, bringing the state of Florida into third place.

Edward F. Albee, Theater Magnate, Dies

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Edward F. Albee, theatrical magnate, died suddenly here tonight. Death was due to heart attack. He was 72 years old.

Mr. Albee, who has been subject to a heart disorder for some time was in his hotel room when he died. His son, Leed A. Albee, was with him.

Mr. Albee was president of the Keith-Albee Vaudeville circuit, one of the most famous theatrical chains in the country. It was founded by the late B. F. Keith.

The theater man has for many years spent his winters here.

Two children survive, the son and a daughter, Mrs. Ethel A. Lauder, both of New York.

BEAVERS CALLED BY GRAFT JURY

Police Department Members Questioned — New Bills Expected Soon.

With rumored new indictments in the municipal graft probe still a matter of conjecture, the Fulton county grand jury Tuesday afternoon continued its investigation with Chief of Police James L. Beavers and members of the city police department among witnesses questioned.

No official indication as to the time when new graft bills will be returned was given by the grand jury, although reports around the courthouse were persistent that the grand jury has voted or is about to vote new indictments.

From a source close to the solicitor-general's office, however, it was stated that no new bills have been actually drawn, and that drawing of the bills and action on them is "entirely up to the grand jury."

Reports of alleged witness-tampering were said to be under scrutiny Tuesday. An official connected with the graft investigation said that such reports will be probed to the very bottom and, if any basis is found for the rumors, drastic action will be taken.

The opinion was voiced that the grand jury will not take action on any new bills until after the first of the series of trials is out of the way, or that it will delay returning indictments until Solicitor-General John ... Boykin's return to duty next week after a rest in Florida.

Solicitor Boykin will take personal charge of the first court trial, it was said. The first case on the calendar is that against Councilman Harry York, Jack White, a broker, and City Purchasing Agent W. P. Price, which is set for next Tuesday. Preparations for the trial are going forward rapidly. Price announced that his attorneys will ask for severance of the cases. In the event of severance, it is expected that York will be placed on trial first.

While Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A. Stephens quizzed prospective witnesses as to what they knew, Special Assistant William Schley Howard handled the questioning of witnesses in the grand jury room. Approximately 20 witnesses were called during the day.

Among the police department witnesses were Captain A. J. Holcomb, I. H. Lindsay, secretary of property records at the police station, and a number of uniformed patrolmen.

Constitution Editorial Used by Prize Winner

MT. BERRY, Ga., March 11.—An editorial from The Atlanta Constitution, "What's the Matter With Georgia," used by Miss Chrystine Rouse, of Decatur, Al... won the first prize in the annual citizenship prize speaking contest at the girls school of Berry schools last night.

Miss Laura Newsome, of Washington, Ga., won second prize with "The Possibilities of An Hour a Day," by Orison Sweet Marden. Honorable mention was given to Miss Margaret Coleman, of Greenville, S. C., for "Force Rules Till Right Is Ready," by Nicholas Murray Butler.

Miss Rouse's prize winning talk detailed the troubles in which Georgia is at present laboring, a state with great innate wealth, low taxes, not highly bonded, yet faced with bankruptcy, and as The Constitution editorial writer asserted, placed in this position by general incompetence of its legislature and the legislators, whose proudest boast was they were elected to do nothing and "did nothing."

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Under rain sodden soil of wooded glade, lonely in its peace and isolation, William Howard Taft lay tonight, the long, eventful story of his mortal journey ended.

At his feet, a dozen yards away down the gently sloping hillside, towers an ancient and mighty oak. Through its leafless limbs, thrilling now with the stir of the coming spring, the far lights of Washington gleam dimly toward that restful sylvan nook in Arlington National Cemetery where he sleeps in eternal fellowship with other great dead.

There is an old highway that passes just below, where the busy traffic of the workaday world ebbs and flows. Beyond that comes the wide, quiet sweep of the Potomac, and then the city where his life-time of public service was spent.

Honors greater than have come to any American since the first president who perhaps saw that sturdy old oak in its youth, fell to the lot of the man whose last sleep it now shelters with kindly, far-spreading boughs. His countrymen made him president, almost against his will. Then again they called him to high service as chief justice.

Nation's Most Beloved.

Yet above and beyond all that, greater than the honors and dignities of high place that set him apart, was the love men bore him all his long life for those personal, homely virtues upon which friendships are founded that transcend political differences, loyalty, kindliness and the saving grace of humor.

In these qualities Taft of Ohio was richly endowed, and through all the splendor of tribute by the nation and the world as he was carried to his grave today, ran the thread of that wealth of friendships he left behind among men of all parties and creeds, that he had never lost in victory or adversity.

Just over two decades ago, William Taft entered the White House on a March day of bitter winds, cold and snow. Today another March day played the gamut of its vagaries as he passed on his last parade, received his ultimate honors.

Cold, drenching rain beat upon the columns of soldiery that made up his escort. The lowering sodden clouds turned back from that last scene at the grave thousands who otherwise

Charles Francis Coe Writes

Of Crime Sway in New York

BY CHARLES FRANCIS COE.
Author of "Mr. Gangster," and Other Popular Novels and Short Stories.

(Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NEW YORK, March 11.—John "Legs" Diamond, whose chief claim to fame lies in the fact that the federal and New York city police chased him unsuccessfully for eight months, has quite calmly surrendered.

After the fashion of the underworld, he walked jauntily into a police station and remarked that they appeared to be looking for him. They were.

Accounts of the affair seem garbled. Looking back we see that two men were murdered in the Hotsy-Totsy Club, New York. Diamond and Charles Green were charged with the killings. Green was apprehended, tried and acquitted. He is now cleared.

Diamond Not Afraid.

For eight solid months the police scoured the city for Diamond. He was reported at various places in the country but the authorities never caught up with him. Now he surrenders. By so doing he enrages 50 detectives who have spent their complete energies in trying to catch him.

Beyond that Diamond's action is so typically of the modern netherworld that it gives rise to several interesting questions. The first impression of such a thing is invariably founded upon a newspaper understanding of the underworld. With murder become a commodity the average man looks for it in every development. It seems natural, then, that someone should report that Legs surrendered himself to the police in order to escape the ghastly vengeance of crimeland. This is bunk.

We have become prone to scan the crime news with an eye only to the stark, the romantic or the dramatic. In everything gangsters do we seek the sensational. The business of crime is much too prosaic to afford it. This writer sees in the surrender of Diamond nothing of the dramatic. He is unable to find in it anything which should make good reading of the fictional type. It is a casual and distinctly prosaic piece of business reflecting with startling clarity upon the frailty of our enforcement machinery.

Why should a hunted fugitive charged with a capital crime, casually surrender to face trial? The an-

'RED' ORGANIZERS HELD UNDER BOND

M. H. Powers, organizer for the communist party in America, who claims Minnesota as his home, and Joe Carr, organizer for the Young People's Communist League, who says that he hails from West Virginia, have been bound over to the Fulton county grand jury under bonds of $1,500 each on police charges that they had violated a section of the Georgia penal code which provides that the circulation of literature "likely to cause rioting or a revolution" is a felony. Both put up cash bonds immediately after the hearing.

Following their trial Tuesday before Recorder A. W. Callaway. The Constitution obtained from its New York correspondent confirmation of the claims of Powers and Carr that they are communists. With Miss Mary Dalton, who is an accredited organizer in this territory for the National Textile Workers' Union, they have been in Atlanta a number of days holding meetings of workers and laying the groundwork for organizing unions distinguished from the group which is backed by the American Federation of Labor.

Woman Under Indictment.

Miss Dalton, whose organization is affiliated with the communists and with the international labor defense committee which financed the Gastonia (N. C.) strike, is under indictment for disturbing the public meeting here Sunday a week ago when she heckled William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and charged him with selling out the textile workers "to the bosses." She put up a cash bond of $300 pending trial in municipal court.

Specifically, the two young men, one obviously of Russian descent, are charged with distributing circulars last Sunday afternoon demanding recognition by this country of soviet Russia and urging the spread of communism here. These circulars were localized to the extent that they linked, inferentially, the present graft situation with the unemployment condition.

New Charge Made.

An additional charge, that of a misdemeanor, also has been lodged against Powers and Carr, this charging them with participating in an unlawful assembly. Both young men were on the verge of speaking to a mixed audience, whites and blacks, men and women, gathered in a third floor hall at the corner of Piedmont and Auburn Sunday afternoon when the police interfered. Powers and Carr were taken to headquarters and released on orders of Chief Beavers, who held that they had violated no law.

Subsequently, however, someone loosed a couple of tear gas bombs in the meeting, which Powers and Carr had to abandon at the direction of officers. Dissovering this, police rearrested them and held them under bonds of $100 each for trial Tuesday morning. Recorder Callaway indicated that he wanted the grand jury to pass upon the charges against the alleged "reds" while O. C. Hancock, representing Powers and Carr, and also Miss Dalton indicated that his clients would fight to the highest courts for the right of free speech and free assembly.

REICH PUTS O. K. ON YOUNG PLAN

BERLIN, March 11.—(AP)—The reichstag today approved the Young plan on its second reading 251 to 174. There were 26 abstentions.

The reichstag also approved the Polish liquidation agreement on second reading by a vote of 224 to 207. There were 30 abstentions.

The reichstag also gave approval at its second reading to the recently signed American liquidation agreement under which Germany reparations to the United States will be paid.

The liquidation agreement was concluded December 28. Under it Germany will pay the annuities allocated to the United States by the expert plan of June 7, 1929, directly to the United States government instead of to the bank for international settlements.

Two types of American claims will be satisfied out of the German payments—first, those awarded by the German-American mixed claims commission; second, the American claims for the costs of the American army of occupation in arrears.

The execution of the agreement is contingent on the coming into effect of the Young plan.

The agreement contains a clause whereby the United States government declares that it regards good will as sufficient guarantee for fulfillment by Germany of the obligations assumed. In German political circles this was interpreted as indicating the desire of the United States to disassociate itself from a policy of sanctions.

ASA KEYES GOES TO SAN QUENTIN

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—(AP)—Asa Keyes, for a quarter of a century a public servant in the Los Angeles district attorney's office, went to San Quentin prison tonight to join the thousands of convicts he sent there, murderers, kidnapers, robbers, embezzlers, swindlers, all the victims of Keyes' prosecutions, await his entry as a fellow convict, and Keyes says he is not afraid of them.

Four thousand and 30 men and women were sent to state's prisons by Keyes in the five years he was district attorney. In the previous five years, while he was chief deputy 1,600 persons here were sent to either San Quentin or Folsom prisons.

Keyes is under sentence of one to fourteen years on a charge of accepting bribes from defendants he had sworn to prosecute. His downfall came in the aftermath of the gigantic stock swindle manipulated by the overissuance of millions of shares of Julian Petroleum Corporation stock. Eleven alleged conspirators in the $40,000,000 swindle were prosecuted by Keyes. Some were granted dismissals and the remainder were acquitted. Subsequently he was charged with having accepted more than $100,000 in bribes to "lay down" on the prosecutions. With Jacob Berman, asserted leader of the Julian swindle, turning state's evidence, Keyes was convicted.

Fifty-four years old, Keyes has before him the prospect of spending the best of his remaining days in prison. He contends that he is innocent. But the court of appeals and the California supreme court both affirmed his conviction.

"I do not fear them (the men he sent up)" Keyes reiterated as he made ready to depart for the big prison. "If some of them figure they received 'bad breaks' in their convictions they can console themselves with the fact that none of them received worse treatment than I."

DOCK FIRE LOSS SET AT 1 MILLION

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—(AP)—The 1,100-foot Mandeville wharf, heavily stored with cargo of the Munson Steamship line, was consumed by flames late today and the steamship Munaires of the same line was seriously damaged.

The fire marshal estimated the loss at approximately $1,000,000. It started under the floor of the wharf, and spread rapidly through the stock of staves, lumber, coffee, sugar and linseed oil. Shortly after the flames shot through the roof two loud explosions were heard, believed to be oil casks bursting.

The Munaires, tied alonside the wharf, quickly caught fire and despite efforts of the crew and two fire tugs the flames spread over the ship.

Finally it was cut loose and towed across the river with smoke and fire rising from her. The tugs put out the fire on deck but fought the flames in hold No. 1 until well after dark.

Another ship, the Pacific, British owned but under lease to the Munson line, was cut loose before she was seriously damaged.

As the flames spread through the wharf, a general fire alarm was turned in and nearly all of the apparatus in town was concentrated on the waterfront. Soon the firemen abandoned hope of saving the structure and centered on preventing its spread. Heat from the fire was felt several blocks away and in addition firemen were hindered by being unable to get at the base of the fire in the under pinning. Its origin was undetermined.

Vitale Explains Acts To Bar Association

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Charged with unethical and unjudicial conduct by the city bar association, which asks his dismissal from the bench, Magistrate Albert Vitale today took the stand in the appellate division of the supreme court to explain the acts the association complained of.

They charged two specific incidents of misconduct, one a loan from Arnold Rothstein, slain Broadway gambler and narcotic ring financier, and the other the dismissal of a prisoner charged with theft.

Vitale, who said he had been on the bench six years, explained that when he arranged through a friend, now dead, for the $20,000 loan from Rothstein he did not know from whom the money was coming. In the second case he said he did his duty as he saw it and was surprised when he learned that the money involved had been returned to the complaining witness despite the dismissal of the charge against the suspect. He said when he signed the order returning the money he thought it was being given back to the suspect.

Woman Burns Self To Death in Bathtub

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The death of Miss Elsie Mandleberg, 22, a pianist, who was found in a bathtub filled with burning newspapers, was on the medical examiner's records today as a suicide.

Her mother, Mrs. Celia Mandleberg, beat out the flames and called a physician, but the girl died soon after he arrived. Before she died she said her clothing had become ignited at the kitchen gas range and that she had attempted to extinguish the blaze in the tub.

Nye Deserts G.O.P. To Lead New Assault on Tariff Bill

Says Sugar, Cement, Oil, and Lumber Votes Have Been Traded — Attacks Senator Grundy.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(UN) A warcry for a desperate assault on the Grundy high-tariff forces was sounded today by Senator Nye, republican, N. D., through the democratic national committee. Nye, a leader of the independent republican-democratic low-tariff coalition on other rates, has finally deserted the advocates of increased rates on sugar, making charges of "stacked cards" in a sugar-cement-lumber-oil trade among senators.

Nye has moved to reconsider the vote of last week for a higher sugar rate and announced his intention of similar action on cement.

"An unholy alliance," engineered "by astute high-tariff lords like Grundy," aiming at rates which will "slap ten dollars of new burden on the farmer for every dollar it puts in his pocket," were the harsh words tossed by Nye.

Predicts G. O. P. Defeat.

The westerner predicted that the republican party soon would find itself in the situation of 1912 if the present trend prevails, and the 1930 high tariff act will smash the party as the Payne-Aldrich tariff was said to have smashed the same party in the 1912 election.

Nye's statement threw in high relief the progress which Senator Grundy, republican, Pennsylvania, the famous ex-lobbyist of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, has made in uniting the high-tariff forces.

When Grundy entered the senate last fall, he was the most insignificant member. Now he is "Old Joe" to everyone, and his desk in a far corner of the chamber sees a series of conferences all through the senate sessions. The high-tariff forces at his prodding have drawn strength from the coalition, almost altogether, as Nye says, in senators from states the business interest of which would be advanced by higher rates on one or more of the four commodities mentioned. The sugar rate has been boosted, cement has been taken off the free-list and taxed at 6 cents a hundredweight, and the prospects are good for laying duties on lumber and oil.

May Kill Entire Bill.

The bespectacled mild-mannered Pennsylvanian has led this alliance with determination even though his actions opposed the wishes of President Hoover. The president unofficially approved the coalition's lower rates, but Grundy carried on an active campaign in behalf of the industrial east's cry for further increases.

This week is expected to see Nye's reconsideration moves on sugar and cement voted on. The chances now are that Grundy's ranks will hold their majority. If they do, the situation will be chaotic. Many regular democrats, led by Senator Harrison, Mississippi, and the western independents led by La Follette, Wisconsin, and Norris, Nebraska, will vote against the bill. They may defeat it, either on the senate vote for passage, or later on the conference report. The house rates are generally even higher than those being put in by the senate republicans, and any compromise will boost the final results. This would mean there would be no tariff bill at all, and some leaders assert that even a final defeat would allay the unrest of business over the situation.

The whole fight is so bitter, however, that instead of finishing up the bill in the senate this week, as Senator Smoot hitherto hoped, it may drag out for several more weeks.

Two Close Co-Workers Attend Taft Rites

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Two who worked closest to William Howard Taft through the triumphs and trials of his presidential administration, one still active in the offical program, the other retired from public life—stood by today as his body was lowered into its resting place.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Hoover law enforcement commission, and Frank H. Hitchcock, now a private citizen of California, together watched the body of their former chief laid to rest. Wickersham was attorney general in the Taft cabinet, and later collaborated with him on legal writings. Hitchcock was President Taft's postmaster general.

Alfred B. Williams, Noted Editor, Dies

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Alfred Brockenbrough Williams, author and editor, died suddenly here today of a heart attack.

Born in Hanover county, Virginia, in 1856, Williams began his newspaper career 20 years later. In 1878, as correspondent of the Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier, he went to Liberia with a shipload of negro emigrants. Because of his descriptive stories of that trip he was credited with having been responsible for the abandonment of the Liberia colonization enterprise.

He was editor of the Greenville (S. C.) News from 1890 to 1896, and worked with the New York Advertiser and the New York Times from 1896 to 1900. Later he became editor of the Richmond News-Leader and was editor-in-chief of the Times Publishing Company of Roanoke, Va., from 1910 to 1915.

He died today while at his desk. Recently he had finished writing "The Prostrate State," his latest book.

Lumber Company Manager Bound, Robbed of $120

That well known and slightly shopworn gag about a one-man crime wave proved to be devoid of any humor whatever for D. C. Vaughn, of 679 Myrtle street, who is office manager for the West Lumber Company at 1490 Piedmont avenue.

Shortly before 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon Mr. Vaughn was sitting in his office and turning over in his mind the problems of his trade. A nattily-dressed man, apparently about 35 years of age, walked in and ordered Mr. Vaughn to hold up his hands. He then ordered Mr. Vaughn to lie down on his stomach, all orders being reinforced with a blue steel pistol. With Mr. Vaughn down on the floor, the smartly-attired bandit carefully tied his hands and feet and, after looking out the door, walked to the cash register and took $120.71 in cash.

Just to make his job a thorough one, he returned to his prostrate victim and took several dollars in change from his pockets and a set of keys. The Vaughn watch was initialed, so the well dressed robber returned this, and leisurely strolled over to a brown sedan and sped away.

Mr. Vaughn soon untied himself and found that his telephone wires had been cut. He called the police from a nearby house and Detectives A. C. Davis and H. W. Armstrong, at last reports, were still looking for Beau Brummel bad man.

New Road Body Named in Kentucky

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 11.—(AP)—A new state highway commission of eight members, to direct the expenditures of more than $30,000,000 the next two years, was named today, over the protests of Governor Flem D. Sampson, who refused to have anything to do with the appointments. The old commission of four members, appointed by the governor, has engaged counsel to bring suit to test the constitutionality of the act of the democratic-controlled legislature by which the change was made. The appointments were made by Lieutenant Governor James Breathitt, Jr., and Attorney-General J. W. Cammack, members of a board created by the act, of which the governor, lone republican administrative officer, also is a member.

The fight between the legislature and the governor, in progress since the session started January 6, also was marked today by further developments in the struggle to have the governor accept as of Saturday a number of partisan bills. He was not in his office Saturday, the last day on which bills might be given him and allow time to pass them over his veto before the end of the session. Today a house committee was named to wait on him.

The governor has vetoed 11 bills and all have been passed over the veto.

Labor Federation Suppressed in Cuba

HAVANA, March 11.—(AP)—Accused of being responsible for strikes in several industries and of "compromising the independence of the state" the National Confederation of Labor and the local Federation of Labor, Cuba's largest labor federations, have been suppressed by the governor.

The action was taken under an article of the penal code concerning efforts to increase wages abusively, and to regulate labor conditions arbitrarily. All labor meetings have been prohibited.

The national confederation has 90,000 members and the local federation 10,000.

ATLANTA IS ASKED TO AID IN CENSUS

formation, stressing the fact that all such information is guarded as absolutely confidential.

"The first census was merely a matter of listing the population of the country," he explained, "but as our country grew and economic conditions changed, the scope of the census has widened until this year we are undertaking the most far-reaching program in our history.

"In order that our information be correct," he continued, "we have to ask that all firms and industries give us the information we want. Only in this way can the true condition of the country be learned and the statistics prove of actual value."

A complete knowledge of kindred manufacturing lines and distribution problems was described as absolutely essential by Mr. Davis in his talk on the practical value of the facts accumulated by the manufacturing and distribution census.

Often Meet With Disaster.

"Too many of our manufacturers and merchants are proceeding on the theory, that their own natural intelligence and knack of being able to 'pull through' are sufficient to enable them to overcome every obstacle in the race for business," he declared, "but sad experiences, ending too often in disaster, has proven that these qualities are not really enough."

"In the past, all too many of our production and marketing processes have been veiled in haze and fog," he continued, "but now we find businessmen more and more searching for the real facts."

Answering the question as to what the census will do for the individual business organization, Mr. Davis listed the following: Production data will give a clear picture of the volume of commodities which are being added to the supply of your industry; will show whether or not an expansion of production equipment is warranted; will give accurate data on consumption of particular products; will give the latest data on buyers and actual receipt of new orders as well as information on employment trends, price trends, imports, exports and many others.

He concluded by saying that from all indications, 1930 will stand out as a year of unusual stability and general industry.

J. E. STOKELEY VICTIM OF ALCOHOLIC POISONING

WASHINGTON, Ga., March 11.—J. E. Stokeley, of Crawford, Ga., a traveling man 47 years old, was found dead in his room in a local hotel. An inquest was held and the coroner's jury returned a verdict that he had come to his death from alcoholic poison. Mr. Stokeley was a piano-tuner by profession and was well known in this section of Georgia. He leaves a wife and six children. The body was taken to his home in Crawford Monday for funeral and interment there Wednesday.

CAUSE OF MYSTERY PARALYSIS IS SOUGHT

No Fatalities Are Reported in Stricken Tennessee Area.

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., March 11.—(AP)—Health officers of four east Tennessee counties and two specialists from the state board of health today combined their efforts in search for the cause of a mysterious form of paralysis that has afflicted 107 persons in this section of the state.

With those afflicted in Washington, Carter, Sullivan and Unicoi counties under quarantine, both public health officials and private physicians combined their efforts in laboratories to find the cause of the disease and a treatment to which it will respond.

So far there have been no fatalities, but development of the disease at Kingsport, in Sullivan county, was reported today.

The laboratories of the Soldiers' Home and the East Tennessee State Teachers' College were placed at the disposal of the physicians engaged in seeking a treatment for the strange malady.

Dr. S. S. Moody, health officer of Washington county, where 75 cases have been reported, was unable to throw further light on the illness today. He previously had said that it was probable that bad liquor was the cause, as 98 per cent of the cases showed a history of drinking.

Victims of the disease have told of suffering a cold, then a sore throat which was followed by numbness or "sleepy legs" below the knees. The numbness has been followed by severe pain and finally inability of the patient to flex the ankle muscles.

Monaco Family Tangle Is Aired By French Chiefs

PARIS, March 11.—(AP)—The whole future of the principality of Monaco and the succession of its rulers is understood to have been the subject of talks for the last day or so between Prince Louis and representatives of the French foreign office.

The recent family difficulties of the ruling house culminating in the separation of Princess Charlotte and Prince Pierre as well as the constitutional troubles over a period of several months has led France, which has a virtual protectorate over the little principality through a treaty with the reigning family, to inquire what it is all about and what is to take place in the future. The exact nature of the conversations has not been disclosed.

Under the treaty with the ruling family, France handles Monaco's military and naval affairs as well as its diplomatic representation abroad. Prince Louis, the present ruler, is a general attached to the general staff of the French army and acted in that capacity during the war. Prince Pierre accompanied his father-in-law to Paris for the conversations which have been going on.

Kentucky Bank Fails To Open on Schedule

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 11.—(AP)—O. S. Denny, state banking commissioner, announced today that the Grayson County State bank at Leitchfield had failed to open this morning. Resources of the institution are approximately $450,000. It is capitalized at $25,000. Ed Kefaur is president.

W. A. Dicken, deputy banking commissioner, left today for Leitchfield to examine the bank. Frozen assets were given as the cause for the failure to open.

Taken for Bandit, Officer Is Killed

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Hailed by a sentry at Managua, Nicaragua, Lieutenant Edward Selby, of the marine corps, was shot to death Sunday night by the guard who apparently mistook him for a bandit.

The navy department announced today that an investigation was under way. No further details of the shooting were available.

Lieutenant Selby's widow is in Coronado, Cal. He was a native of Chicago and joined the marine corps in 1912.

LABOR CABINET BEATEN, HOLDS ON

Cabinet Split on Bill.

There is even a split in the cabinet, Sir Oswald Mosley and other young members of the party, having assailed Mr. Thomas for his "timidity," much as Lloyd George did yesterday, have evolved proposals of their own for solving the problem. Their suggestions are said to have been put before the cabinet in a memorandum by Sir Oswald, who is chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

The labor "new leader" recently said that one of the features of the scheme was an emergency offer of retirement on a pension of 30 shillings a week to any industrial employe over the age of 60. The idea was that the feeble would accept and the vigorous refuse.

There was great excitement in the house over on an earlier amendment.

Cries of "Resign."

A storm of cheering from the conservatives and liberals for several minutes drowned out the voices of the tellers, who could not announce the figures. When the government's defeat was finally established, cries of "resign" rang from all over the house.

Though the debate continued, little attention was paid to it, everyone being occupied in discussing labor's first reverse in the house. The view was freely expressed that the government might ultimately withdraw the entire coal mines bill, which during weeks of debate has been virtually pulled to pieces by the opposition and once caused a government defeat in the house of lords.

The amendment that caused today's defeat was profered by the conservatives. It demanded that the government proposal of a levy on the output of coal for the purpose of facilitating its sale be omitted. The liberals and the conservatives contended that this would virtually mean subsidizing foreign coal competitors.

Former Premier Lloyd George, liberal party leader, who is suffering from a cold was unable to lead his followers in their attack with the conservatives. He was better tonight but still unable to leave his house.

HANS LUTHER ELECTED HEAD OF REICHSBANK

BERLIN, March 11.—(AP)—Dr. Hans Luther, former chancellor, and an administrator who played a conspicuous part in the building up of past-war Germany, was unanimously elected president of the Reichsbank this afternoon.

He succeeds Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who resigned last week because of dissatisfaction with the final form of the Young plan, contending that Germany would not be able to fulfill its terms, as modified.

Dr. Luther's election is somewhat of a birthday present as he celebrated his 51st birthday yesterday.

Before going into state service, Dr. Luther for several years was chief mayor of Essen. He was educated at the universities at Geneva and Kiel and at the age of 28 became a city councillor at Madgeburg, being eventually appointed chief burgomaster of Essen in July, 1918.

He became minister of food and agriculture in the Cuno cabinet in 1922. The next year he was appointed finance minister and in 1924 formed his first cabinet. This government lasted to 1925 when it was defeated. The next year he formed his second cabinet but this lasted only five months.

Dr. Luther gained considerable fame as minister of finance in helping to restore the German financial system, he was able to balance the budget and it was he who appointed Dr. Schacht currency commissioner to carry through the change from the old paper currency to the new Renten mark currency.

Apartment House Is Damaged by Fire

Fire originating in the basement of an apartment house at 627 Parkway drive, N. E., late Tuesday damaged three apartments, one of which was unoccupied, to the extent of about $1,000, according to an estimate made by Assistant Fire Chief O. J. Parker. Companies 4, 6 and 11 answered the alarm. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

Mrs. Matthews Dies At Home in Florida

Mrs. Phoebe Matthews, who lived near Atlanta for many years and was well known here, died Tuesday at her home in Anlander, Fla. The body will be brought to Atlanta Thursday and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Mrs. Matthews is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Albert Hinton and Mrs. Thomas M. Page; a granddaughter, Miss Julia May Hinton; three sisters, Mrs. Emma K. Alford, Mrs. Addis K. Byrnes and Mrs. Lena K. Cofer, all of Atlanta, and a brother, John H. Kelley, of Birmingham, Ala.

CHARLES FRANCIS COE WRITES OF GOTHAM

swer is as obvious as a wart on the nose of a debutante. He expects to beat his case. Since the time of the crime and the present things have changed.

Perhaps some witness has died or his testimony has changed. Perhaps in the days of his hiding Diamond has been able to raise the funds to prepare his defense and pay clever lawyers. It might even be that we will see again the sordid business of a man once acquitted assuming the guilt of the crime on the ground that he cannot twice be exposed to justice for the same offense.

Remember Green! He was indicted with Diamond. When he called at a telegraph station for money he was arrested. When he was tried a jury found him guiltless.

It would be very simple for Green to testify for Diamond. He could, in fact, step into the courtroom and confess the killing. If his confession was taken seriously Diamond certainly could not be convicted of the murder.

Never Outside New York.

Scarcely anything intensely puzzling about such business. It is merely an ordinary piece of underworld traffic. Mr. Legs Diamond hid away until he became confident that it was safe for him to appear and stand trial.

When it is said that he surrendered because he prefers the safety of prison to the barking, belching guns of gangland, someone is romancing unduly. If he is correctly quoted, Diamond has spent his entire hiding time right here in New York. That may be braggadocio or it may very easily be true. In this city of mountainous apartment houses and no neighborliness anyone can hide away with complete efficacy if he simply observes a few fundamental rules.

Detectives have considered Diamond the one big catch ever since the murders were committed. Not one of them but would have given his month's pay to be the man to make that catch. From time to time these men lay on roofs watching other roofs through spy glasses. This because Legs was reported as "living on a roof."

Too Quick for Police.

Again, they spotted a relative living at one of the big hotels and managed to wire his room so that all his conversations became audible and accessible to the police. This led to information about other things, but not to Legs.

Once or twice, I am told, Legs actually called his relative on the telephone and talked with him briefly. Detectives had the wires tapped, but it did them little good. Nothing in the various conversations was of value in the chase. The detectives recognized the voice of Legs and fairly burned with desire to catch him. But he was too quick for them. By the time they traced out the source of the call, Legs was gone.

Invariably he would telephone from a booth in a semi-public place and be gone before the police could arrive. I am told that they trailed his wife for days on end, and finally she discovered them and led them a hopeless round of the usual calls a woman might properly make.

All that effort went for naught. When he was good and ready, Legs Diamond walked casually into a police station and gave himself up. The fact in itself means little enough. Perhaps he will be tried for the murder. But there is interest in the knowledge that Legs does not expect to be convicted. If he did, certainly, he would remain in seclusion.

Nothing But Sordidness.

Therefore, something changed between the time of the murder and the present. Something, too, infinitely to the advantage of Legs himself. What that something is should interest the Wickersham committee. It is the source of a vast percentage of our professional crime.

Like a fighter training for a fight, Legs got himself ready before he gave battle. He made the forces of law wait his own good time. For nearly a year he remained hidden away from searchers. During that time he may have planned many things. In any event, things happened. Now he appears with a confident smile and acknowledges himself ready for battle with the courts.

This writer sees nothing of the dramatic here. It is too sordid. As a commentary on the wheels of justice, though, the business has merit. It shows us that our reporters and our public want their underworld in large portions of sensationalism, salted well with the seasoning of melodrama and washed down with the tears of sentiment.

Take it that way if that is the way it pleases you. But the truth of the Legs' diamond case, I repeat, is that he surrendered not to escape the guns of gangland but merely because his case has changed to his own advantage and he has a supreme confidence in his ability to win acquittal.

CHICAGO "BIG SHOT" QUIT BEER RACKET.

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—The big bosses of the racket in Chicago are quitting, if one can take their word for it.

Bullets stop those who stay too long, and today another of the better known gangsters walked into the detective bureau to announce his retirement.

Today it was Spike O'Donnell, strolling in to see Stege, unannounced. Lounging in the "jinx" chair in which 15 slain gangsters once sat and heard warnings to leave town while they still were healthy, O'Donnell told Stege, he, too, had quit the racket. The detective chief was interested in the future trend of south side shootings. Would there be any more?

"As far as I am concerned," replied O'Donnell, "there won't be any. I don't believe in that kind of stuff. I'm in the coal business now." He said he supplied coal to the city hall and central police building.

Stege reminded him that he had escaped machine gun bullets fired from Oberta's car two years ago. O'Donnell remembered, but disclaimed any knowledge of the killing of Oberta last Wednesday. He was permitted to go.

And so of the six leaders of the south side beer trade, Oberta is dead—buried today in a $15,000 coffin draped with orchids and watched by a crowd of 15,000; Frank McErlane, his leg shattered by bullets, lies wounded out of the racket for the time being; while Saltis, sitting among the chief mourners of Oberta today, and O'Donnell have retired. The remaining two, Danny Stanton and Charles "Buba" Quinlan, are sought by the police. Al Capone, reputed boss of them all, is soon to be released from a Philadelphia jail, but he too has said he was out of the trade, and would go to Florida.

McPherson Scores Archaic Tax System of Georgia

University Professor Discusses State's Fiscal Affairs Before University Women.

ATHENS, Ga., March 11.—(Special.)—Four measures of tax reform for Georgia were proposed here today by Dr. J. H. T. McPherson, professor of political science, University of Georgia, and member of two former state tax commissions, in an address before the Athens University Women's Association.

Dr. McPherson, widely known as a tax expert, suggested four tax measures: Classified property tax, income tax, inheritance tax and sales tax.

"Georgia's difficulty in taxation today is the antiquated system which rests chiefly on the general property tax," Professor McPherson declared. "Under the working out of this tax, practically all intangible property escapes taxation, and real property—the farm, the home, real estate, carries the burden unfairly. Ownership of property, after all, does not reflect tax paying ability, for property, instead of ielding income, might actually be costing the owner something."

"Income," Professor McPherson asserted, "is what really should determine tax paying ability. Georgia tax laws of today would ruin any community in the state in which they were enforced," he said. "The system has fostered dishonesty in returns, and from the practical aspect alone we have a strong reason for changing the law. A tax law should be put on the statute books that can be enforced."

The remedy, according to Professor McPherson, would be first to change the constitution in order to eliminate the requirement that all property be taxed at the same rate.

GENERAL ESTES TALKS FOR BENNING CLASS

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 11.—(AP) Brigadier-General G. H. Estes, of Fort McPherson, spoke tonight before the reserve officers' class at Fort Benning. The general, who lived in Columbus from 1880 to 1884, is visiting the reserve schools of the fourth corps area as the representative of the area commander. He and Mrs. Estes arrived here today.

No Over-Production Of Peanuts Foreseen

MOULTRIE, Ga., March 11.—(AP) J. E. Ladson, of Moultrie, farmer and one of the incorporators of the Peanut Growers' Co-operative Marketing Association of the Southeast, said today that information from the United States department of agriculture indicates there will be no overproduction of peanuts in the southeast.

"There is no good reason," Ladson declared, "why, with a proper marketing organization, peanuts should not bring the cost of production plus a reasonable profit to the grower."

Ex-Senator Back To Face Trial

TALBOTTON, Ga., March 11.—(AP) Emmett F. Johnson, former state senator and representative from Chattahoochee county, who disappeared several days ago as his trial for forgery was about to begin, came to Talbotton today and surrendered to Sheriff J. H. Ferguson.

Johnson was placed in jail. His bond was set at $25,000 by Judge C. F. McLaughlin at the time of his disappearance.

The former state senator was arrested in Monroe, La., last December and returned to Buena Vista, Ga., where he also faces a forgery charge. At the time of his return from Louisiana his bond in Marion county was fixed at $3,000 and in Talbot county at $5,000. He was indicted by a Talbot county grand jury.

CURB ON INFANTILE PARALYSIS SOUGHT

ATHENS, Ga., March 11.—The state board of health will be asked by the Clarke County Medical Society to obtain a supply of convalescent serum for the treatment of infantile paralysis, it was decided at a meeting of the society here. Dr. J. A. Hunnicutt, Jr., is president of the society. The serum has been highly praised as a treatment for infantile paralysis. It is a new discovery.

SADAH SHUCHARI GIVEN ENTHUSIASTIC ACCLAIM

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—Sadah Shuchari was enthusiastically received by a large audience in Savannah tonight. Miss Shuchari was presented by the local Schubert memorial committee as the second artist of its series. Following closely upon the beautiful recital of Muriel Kerr, the Shuchari concert has definitely established the Schubert memorial in this city.

The brilliant playing of this talented young violinist found ample scope in the magnificent program which she rendered. The Brahms A Major sonata was particularly well done and was much applauded.

Miss Shuchari will play in Atlanta next Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Woman's Club auditorium. She will be presented by the Atlanta Schubert memorial committee. Her program here will begin with a Brahms sonata and will contain other numbers of general interest.

Georgian Is Killed As Car Overturns

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 11.—Harry Fitch, Fitzgerald, was killed when his automobile turned over on federal highway No. 1 about three miles north of Waycross at noon today. Fitch's mother, who was traveling with him, was painfully injured. A negro boy, who was driving the car, was slightly injured.

JUDGE TILSON SUED ON TWO UNPAID NOTES

MACON, Ga., March 10.—(AP)—Judge W. J. Tilson, of the United States customs court of appeals in New York city, Monday was made defendant in a suit on notes filed in Bibb superior court here by Herbert Pearson, receiver for the defunct Fourth National bank. The action involves $3,000.

The petition alleges that Judge Tilson signed two notes, one for $1,000 and the other for $2,000—a short time before the bank closed its doors on November 26, 1928, and has since refused to pay them.

The customs court justice served for more than a year as United States district court judge here under appointment of President Coolidge but congress failed to confirm the appointment. He then was appointed to the customs court bench.

FEDERAL PRISONERS TO GO TO FORT BRAGG

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—(AP) George B. McLoed, United States marshal for the southern district of Georgia, has received orders directing him to transfer the several score of federal prisoners now employed on Chatham county roads to Fort Bragg, near Fayette, N. C., on March 16.

Eight guards will be employed to guard the prisoners, all negroes, who were placed here to relieve the congestion at the federal penitentiary in Atlanta. Four guards will be sent here from the Atlanta prison to assist in the transfer and in addition the regular guard and two deputy marshals will be on a coach attached to a regular train.

AGED GEORGIAN DIES OF INJURIES IN FALL

PHENIX CITY, Ala., March 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Thomas Williams, 84, died here Monday night of a broken hip suffered in a recent fall from a chair.

Mrs. Williams was Miss Eugenia Gammage before her marriage to Captain Thomas Williams, who served in the War Between the States, and later practiced law in Talbotton, Ga.

Businesswoman

MISS MAYCIE CURRY, Of Bainbridge, Ga.

FUNDS ARE OBTAINED BY BAINBRIDGE WOMEN

BAINBRIDGE, Ga., March 11.—The Business and Professional Women's Club, under the leadership of Miss Maysie Curry, the president, realized $170 on the show "Aunt Lucia," which the club sponsored as a method of obtaining funds for the entertainment of the state convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs here in May. By continuous effort the club has a balance of more than $500. Although the organization has the smallest membership of any in the community and is composed of businesswomen and working girls whose time for doing the extra things is necessarily limited, it is second to none in point of accomplishments.

Murder Charged Death Car Driver

TIFTON, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—Emanuel E. Johnson, 58, of Stockbridge, Wis., who was injured here last week when struck by an automobile, succumbed to his injuries Monday. A murder charge was sworn out by Mrs. Johnson against Lee Carter, driver of the car which struck Johnson.

"INDICTED JUROR" FOUND NOT GUILTY

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—City Councilman Joseph F. Grammer today was freed of a charge of robbery placed against him by county officers following the arrest of several negroes for the theft of cigarets and tobacco from the firm by which he is employed as a shipping clerk. He was implicated by one of the negroes arrested.

On the stand today the negro denied that Grammer had any part in the theft and the charge against the councilman was dismissed when the solicitor-general told the court the attorneys for the grocery firm could not make a case against Grammer.

Grammer had the unique distinction of serving on a jury the day previous to the trial. He sat with other jurors in a forgery case yesterday.

SAVANNAH SUGAR SENT TO MISSISSIPPI POINTS

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—(AP) Seventy-five thousand bags of refined sugar, loaded at the Savannah Sugar refinery and destined for points in Florida, Missouri, Illinois, and Iowa, were aboard the Munson line steamer Munisla when the vessel sailed today for Tampa and New Orleans.

The cargo comprised the first shipment from the local refinery to that territory. From New Orleans most of the sugar will be sent by government bargo line to St. Louis, Mo., Cairo, Ill., and other Mississippi river points for distribution. En route to New Orleans the Munisla will stop at Tampa, Fla., to discharge a small part of the cargo for southern Florida.

Raid Nest of Stills.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 11.—(AP) Muscogee county officers raided a nest of stills near here and destroyed three plants having a total capacity of 2,000 gallons. One still was of 1,000 gallons capacity and the other two of 500 gallons. The three were about 10 yards apart and were filled with beer. No arrests were made.

FORMAL ORGANIZATION OF AMERICUS RAYON

AMERICUS, Ga., March 11.—The stockholders of the Americus Rayon Mills held an organization meeting in the plant of the former Sumter Rayon Mills here Tuesday, with a large majority of the stockholders present and others represented by proxy. R. C. Ellis acted as chairman of the meeting and all those present signed a deed formally conveying their holdings in the old company to the new corporation, a charter for which was recently granted.

The stockholders, in addition to accepting the charter and moving toward a complete transfer of the realty and machinery belonging to the old company, elected a new board of seven directors and increased the capital stock from $10,000 as set in the new charter to $25,000.

This increase will permit the exchange of bonds of the old company for stock in the new corporation upon a dollar-for-dollar basis.

Directors elected by the stockholders are R. C. Ellis, Frank Harrold, C. T. Tillman, Charles F. Crisp, James Lott, R. C. Moran and H. L. Mize. Following the stockholders' meeting the directors met and arranged for continuing the affairs of the company, but did not formally elect executive officers, this action being deferred until a later meeting.

Herschel Price Scalded to Death

COCHRAN, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—Herschel Price, 17, senior in the Middle Georgia College here, who was scalded Monday when the tractor which he was driving turned over, pinning him beneath, died at the college infirmary today.

As he attempted to drive the tractor across a ditch the machine fell backward, pinning him beneath, while the boiling water from the radiator poured over him. Students who were nearby rushed to his aid and extricated him from under the heavy machine. The body was carried to Wrightsville for interment. Herschel was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Price, of Johnson county.

Pair Sentenced For Robberies

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 11.—(AP) Robert Ferguson pleaded guilty in federal court today to robbery of the postoffice at Alma, Ga., and was sentenced to a year and a day in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Price Mahone was given six months in jail in connection with the robbery of the postoffice at Manchester, Ga., several months ago.

Harold Edward Rutledge and Albert Charley Evatt, of Walhalla, S. C., charged with bringing a stolen automobile to Columbus, pleaded guilty, but Judge Deaver deferred sentence until an investigation of their records could be made.

U. S. GEODETIC SURVEY ERECTS STEEL TOWERS

MANCHESTER, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—Six steel towers have been erected in this section of the state by the United States geodetic survey for the purpose of determining longitude, latitude and altitude in a study the survey is making. The project, of which these towers are a part, extends from Atlanta to Shreveport, La.

Towers have been built on the farm of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, near here, and at other high points in this section. E. B. Packer, of the geodetic survey, is in charge of the construction.

ALLEGED MANN ACT VIOLATOR ARRESTED

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—(AP) E. H. White, 45, was held under bond of $2,000 today on a charge of violating the Mann act. A 13-year-old girl was held as a material witness. They were arrested recently at Ludowici, Ga., at the request of Kimbalton, Ohio, authorities. White had not made bond early today.

Gardens Open Sunday.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 11. (Special.)—Next Sunday at Greenwood, winter residence of the Payne Whitney family, of New York, the grounds will be thrown open for the annual Azalea Day. Once each spring Greenwood azalea gardens are opened for inspection by the general public. visitors are also given the privilege on that day of walking over the grounds in the vicinity of the Whitney home there, and viewing the lovely sunken gardens near by.

Heads Beekeepers

J. J. WILDER, Of Waycross, Ga.

GEORGIA MAN LEADER OF SOUTHERN BEEMEN

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 11.—J. J. Wilder, Waycross, who was elected president of the Southern Beekeepers' Association at the convention in Baton Rouge, La., is the owner of a chain of apiaries extending for many miles in south Georgia and north Florida, and entirely encircling the great Okefinokee swamp. He is the editor of the Dixie Beekeeper, published at Waycross, is the author of several authoritative books on bee culture, and was the organizer and first president of the Georgia Beekeepers' Association.

WILL DELIVER SERIES OF LECTURES AT EMORY

ATHENS, Ga., March 11.—Miss Roberta Hodgson, professor of political science at the Georgia State Teachers' college, has been invited to deliver a series of lectures on county government at the Emory School of Statesmanship.

Miss Hodgson will deliver five lectures in the series. This is the first time that a woman has been placed on the program of the Emory school of statesmanship. Miss Hodgson is well known as a student of international politics and recently completed a series of lectures on world affairs under auspices of the Athens League of Women Voters.

"NEW SOUTH" TOPIC OF BAPTIST PASTOR

WAYNESBORO, Ga., March 11.—(Special.)—The pastor of the First Baptist church of Waynesboro, Rev. W. E. Howard, discussed the "New South" in his sermon on Sunday morning. He spoke on a changed educational policy from the kindergarten up, scored the intolerance that has marked much southern thinking, pleading for a tolerance in the field of religion that will make for a better and more unified church program. He also scored lynching, saying that force will not work in our country.

EX-MINISTER TO CHINA IS SPEAKER AT BERRY

MOUNT BERRY, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—Russia under the "red czars" was described here today by Charles R. Crane, former American minister to China during the Wilson administration and an authority on the soviet and the near east.

Mr. Crane spoke to the students of the Berry schools in the chapel while on his first visit to the mountain schools in more than a decade. He is the guest of Miss Martha Berry, director and founder of the institutions, while en route from his California ranch to his home in New York.

"The southern states have a wonderful heritage in the folk songs heard here," Mr. Crane said tonight, after students at the girls' school had sung old-fashioned songs during supper. "A song that is sung by the people is a lovely thing with a freshness never achieved by a new song." Mr. Crane, who is an authority on folk songs, having helped compile some 2,000 while in Russia, is also one of the founders and leaders of the American college in Turkey.

A world of nations, befuddled and confused, was presented in the talk of Mr. Crane. He said the World War definitely ended one stage of civilization and that the countries and peoples of the world were plowing ahead through uncharted seas into a new course.

Russia, Mr. Crane told the students, is today finding that it has merely substituted one czar for another. The "red czar," he said, is the title given the dictators who live in the same kremlin the Romanoffs once inhabited.

The cheka, or secret police, are worse under the soviet than in the days of imperial rule, he asserted.

Ragsdale Begins Serving Sentence

GRIFFIN, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—Bowden Ragsdale, former secretary of the Griffin Building and Loan Association, has been taken to Chattahoochee county prison camp to begin serving a sentence for misappropriating funds of the association. Ragsdale pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven years. Directors of the association made good the amount missing from association funds and the organization is reported operating on a normal basis.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Stop overeating—exercise regularly.

Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Jacobs' Pharmacy or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.—(adv.)

Mrs. Booth Tells Life Story On Stand in Gwinnett Court

Alleged Atlanta Kidnaper On Trial for Swearing Falsely to Girl's Age.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., March 11.—(Special.)—Closing arguments in the trial of Mrs. M. L. Booth, alias Mrs. Krebs, of Atlanta, who is charged with false swearing in connection with the marriage of Martha Robinson and Billy Shannon, will begin when court convenes Wednesday morning, with the probability that the case will reach the jury before noon.

Mrs. Booth, who was the organizer of a traveling theatrical company and who has been accused of kidnaping by the parents of several Atlanta girls in the company, took the stand in her own defense late Tuesday afternoon. During her lengthy testimony in which she described her career for the past several years, she explained a conviction in the Atlanta courts and a subsequent 12-month sentence served at the state prison farm, as due to the "persecution" of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin, of Fulton county. She charged that Solicitor Boykin's animosity toward her dated from the famous Jack Lance case in Atlanta. She said that her active interest in the Lance case had angered the Fulton solicitor and asserted that she and Lance had been close friends for a long time.

Judge E. S. Wages, Gwinnett county ordinary, testified at the trial today that he was called from his home late on the night of February 12 and asked to issue a marriage license and marry Martha Robinson and Billy Shannon at his office at the courthouse. He said he insisted on an affidavit to the effect that the girl was 21 years of age or older and that Mrs. Booth signed this paper.

Mrs. Mary Robinson, mother of the girl and prosecutor of the case, swore that her daughter was only 17. There was a sharp tilt during Mrs. Robinson's testimony between the witness and Attorneys John I. Kelley, of Lawrenceville, and A. S. Johnson and Frank Grizzard, of Atlanta, for the defense.

In event of conviction, the defendant would be subject to a prison sentence of from 3 to 5 years. The case is being tried before Judge W. W. Stark in Gwinnett superior court, and the state is represented by Solicitor Clifford Pratt.

Both the Robinson girl and Billy Shannon were members of the troupe organized by Mrs. Booth. They were en route to fill an engagement at Anderson, S. C., at the time they stopped in Lawrenceville for the marriage ceremony. The company was the outgrowth of a stage school conducted by Mrs. Booth in Atlanta. Parents of several young girls in the company swore to warrants charging kidnaping to Mrs. Booth, saying their daughters had been enticed away from the city without their consent. The company never fulfilled its theatrical contracts, and Mrs. Booth was eventually apprehended in Asheville and returned to Atlanta, where she still faces trial on the kidnaping charge.

Lanier High School Wins Rifle Match

MACON, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—For the second consecutive year, the Lanier High school rifle team has won the annual matches of the Fourth Corps Area, junior division, according to a letter received today by Captain John T. Zellars, commandant at Lanier and instructor of the rifle team.

Besides winning the junior matches the Lanier team outshot all teams of the senior division, which is made up of all southern colleges with senior R. O. T. C. units, it was stated. The Lanier riflemen shot a total of 3,600 points out of a possible 4,000. Mississippi A. & M., winner of the senior matches, made a record of 3,599 out of a possible 4,000.

The team which ranks second to Lanier in the junior division is Tennessee Military institute with a record of 3,560 out of a possible 4,000.

STILL AND SHORT MOBBY DESTROYED BY SHERIFF

BUTLER, Ga., March 11.—An all-copper, 600-gallon capacity whisky manufacturing outfit, together with 5,000 gallons of sugar and short mobby have been destroyed by Sheriff R. P. McGuffin and his deputies Sunday 10 miles north of Butler, in Taylor county. The plant bore marks of having been in operation for several months, and was one of the largest ever captured in this part of the state.

BANDIT AT SAVANNAH IS FOILED WITH EASE

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—(AP) Unsuccessful was a bold but not so bad bandit tonight in his efforts to rob the till of the Coastal Transport Company office in the heart of the downtown hotel district. Paul E. Jacobs was later arrested by police for the attempted robbery.

The fact that the safe was locked, further induced by Miss Clara Whalley, then in charge of the office, crossing her fingers at Jacobs and telling him she did not know the combination, evidently was enough for him. He put his drawn gun back in his pocket and left.

He was not masked and his most distinguishing figure is a scar on his nose.

Prior to the attempted holdup, Jacobs asked if a gaily uniformed starter of a bus line was a policeman, but being informed that he was not, took heart and walked into the office in Congress street and tried to rob the place.

LOWNDES GROWS IRATE AT DELAY IN PAVING

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 11.—(Special.)—Through unofficial but direct sources, Valdosta learned yesterday that, according to present plans, the state highway commission has little idea of letting the contract for paving state highway No. 38 east of this city toward Clinch county.

Three years ago Lowndes county arranged for getting this highway in the group for paving. The highway was made wider and graded, the county so far having spent approximately $120,000 on the work. During last year assurances were given that the paving contract would be let in the first group this spring, but already a number of contracts have been let and no mention has been made of No. 38. Lowndes county is losing interest on the money spent in preparing for this paving, and the mild indignation prevailing for the last 18 months is now taking on a more virulent aspect. With contracts being let in other sections, many of them in south Georgia, especially in Colquitt, Brooks and Cook counties, local patience is being strained and the public is making some very emphatic statements.

In connection with this delay in carrying out a promise, it is learned here that the federal engineer in charge of approving paving work in Georgia has practically demanded that connection be made south of Thomasville with the Florida highway now paved from Tallahassee to the state line, and if this report is correct it would appear that this project will also come in ahead of No. 38. Lowndes county is also losing patience in regard to making the proper repairs on No. 7 south of Lake Park, there being about two miles of the paving there which has long ago reached the dangerous stage and needs attention. It is stated that much of this roadbed will have to be raised about four feet before it can be repaved.

Later out comes corn, callous, roots and all. Guaranteed never to fail. Ask druggist for O-Joy Corn Wafers—six wafers for 10c—(adv.)

First Historical Marker In Bibb County Unveiled

MACON, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—The Macon Clinic on Walnut street, which was formerly the home of Major General Howell Cobb, and Colonel John Basil Lamar, where many notables of the Confederacy were entertained during the stirrings days of the 60's, was the scene of the unveiling of a bronze tablet this afternoon. The tablet was erected by the Sidney Lanier chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy to commemorate the historical associations of the old building.

Miss Caroline Patterson, president of the local U. D. C. chapter, unveiled the tablet, after eulogies had been paid to General Cobb and Colonel Lamar.

Eugene Anderson paid tribute to General Cobb as a diplomat and warrior and said that had Cobb been elected president the War Between the States might have been averted by his remarkable statesmanship. The family history of the Cobbs was traced from the time they came to America.

"Although General Cobb did not connect himself with any church I believe that few deserve more to have inscribed on their tombs, 'Here lies a Christian gentleman,'" said Mr. Anderson.

Harry Stillwell Edwards spoke of the other Confederate hero, Colonel John Basil Lamar, relating outstanding and amusing incidents of his career. Mr. Edwards pointed out that Colonel Lamar's death on the battlefield was singularly like that of the gallant Pelham's.

Two former presidents of the Sidney Lanier chapter, U. D. C., were presented by Miss Patterson, these being Mrs. Walter Grace and Mrs. T. C. Chestney.

BOND FOR JEFFORDS IS SET AT $20,000

BRUNSWICK, Ga., March 11.—While an appeal for new trial in the case of H. V. Jeffords, former Waycross man under sentence of from 15 to 18 years for murder, is pending, it is possible that the defendant will be released under bond.

Bond for Jeffords, convicted of the murder of Charlton Wright, has been set at $20,000 by Judge J. H. Thomas of the Brunswick circuit, but he has been unable, to date, to post it. He was convicted in Glynn county superior court.

THREE STILLS TAKEN IN BURKE COUNTY

WAYNESBORO, Ga., March 11.—(Special.)—Deputy officers of Burke county had a busy week-end, capturing three stills in various sections of the county. Two of them were small stills while one was larger. There were no arrests.

ALABAMAN IS GUILTY OF WHISKY CHARGE

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 11.—(AP) Charles L. Windham, of Phenix City, Ala., was found guilty by a federal court jury today of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act and was given the option by Judge Bascom S. Deaver of serving two years in the federal penitentiary or serving one year and paying a fine of $1,000.

After a consultation with his attorneys, Windham announced he would pay the fine and serve one year in the penitentiary.

Windham was indicted jointly with Ray Morgan, of Phenix City, in connection with whisky transactions. The latter was charged with making deliveries of whisky in Columbus on telephone orders given by prohibition agents.

Morgan, on a plea of guilty, was given a year and a day in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta.

On plea of Windham's counsel he was given 30 days in which to attend to business affairs before beginning his sentence. His bond was set at $5,000.

MILLER MURDER CASE DEFENSE CONCLUDED

COLQUITT, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—The state late today began the presentation of rebuttal testimony in the trial of Joe Albritton, Clarence Bush and Charley Albritton, charged with the slaying of Jeff Davis, Miller county farmer.

Near the close of defense testimony earlier in the day, the attorneys for the trio of white men, placed Solicitor-General B. T. Castellow and members of two grand juries on the stand in an effort to show alleged discrepancies in the testimony before the grand juries of J. B. Jones and Marvin Dennis, negroes, also indicted for the killing of Davis, but not on trial.

In their testimony in the trial of the white men the negroes claimed Davis was killed by the three because Davis frustrated an alleged attempt to steal syrup used in whisky making. The negroes also told the court they shot at Davis under duress.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY HELD AT MILLEDGEVILLE

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 11.—A Sunday school rally was held here at the Hardwick Christian church. Mrs. B. B. Anderson, county president of the Sunday School Association, and Mrs. T. F. # FLORIDA TO WELCOME 'GOOD-WILL' TOURISTS

Elaborate Entertainment Is Planned Along Route of Cuban Special.

Elaborate entertainment all along the line has been planned for the members of the Cuban good-will and trade tour with entertainment programs already arranged at Jacksonville, Plant City, Tampa, Key West and at Miami on the return trip, it was announced here Tuesday.

In Jacksonville, a welcoming delegation will meet the special train and escort members of the tour to the Carling hotel for a dinner-dance, following which they will be driven to the fair grounds to view the opening night program of the Florida State fair.

Sunday morning, March 16, the train will halt at Plant City, about 40 miles east of Tampa, where a strawberry breakfast will be served as the culmination of a four-day strawberry festival held annually by the people of that section in recognition of its pre-eminence in strawberry culture.

Arriving in Tampa about 9 a. m., the party will be met by a welcoming delegation headed by the foreign trade committee of the Tampa Chamber of Commerce, escorted on a sight-seeing tour of the city, tendered the free use of the Davis Island Golf course and swimming, and honored with a luncheon at the Palmerin hotel.

Key West will be the scene of two entertainments. On the down trip, there will be sight-seeing. On the return trip, there will be a dinner-dance at the Casa Grande hotel.

Returning via Miami with a day's stop-over in that city, the party will be entertained by the Miami Chamber of Commerce with a sight-seeing tour and luncheon at the McAllister hotel.

The tour is open to business executives and professional men and their wives and the registration list Saturday revealed a veritable cross-section of the commercial, industrial and transportation interests not only of Atlanta but of nearly a score of other Georgia and Florida cities.

Candler Estate Is Held Liable In Realty Suit

In a directed verdict returned Tuesday, a jury in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court found that the Citizens and Southern National bank, as executor of the will of Asa G. Candler, Sr., should account to the estate of the late George W. Adair for profits on property at the northwest corner of Baker and West Peachtree streets.

The directed verdict dismissed the suit as against Asa G. Candler, Incorporated. Judge Howard ordered that the Citizens and Southern, as executor of the Asa G. Candler, Sr., estate, be made a defendant, by consent. The Citizens and Southern, through the law firm of Tye, Thomson & Tye, filed an answer alleging that the case as against Asa G. Candler, Sr., was barred by the statute of limitations, in that Asa G. Candler, Sr., sold the property to Candler Incorporated in 1917.

In an amendment to the original petition Frampton Ellis, as executor of the George W. Adair estate, asked that a representative of Asa G. Candler, Sr., be required to account to the petitioner for the profits on $100,000 par value of stock in Asa G. Candler, Incorporated.

The plaintiff alleged that an agreement had been entered into between Candler and Adair whereby Candler was to furnish money for operation of the property and the profits were to be divided equally. Later the property was turned over to Candler by deed, but the profits were to be divided just the same, it was said. Candler subsequently transferred the property to Candler, Incorporated.

Business Women End Member Drive Soon

With the last week of the semi-annual membership drive of the woman's division of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce marked by increased interest and activity among all members of the organization, plans are shaping for the regular monthly dinner meeting on March 17 when the result of the campaign will be announced.

The division maintains a clubroom and full-time secretary at 506 Chamber of Commerce building and all interested women are urged to visit this meeting place and obtain more information about the work of the organization.

Great Egg Mystery Is Believed Solved

The great egg mystery has been solved with the arrest of two railroad employes at Live Oak, Fla., by Atlanta postoffice inspectors, according to reports to the office of S. E. Caine, local inspector in charge. Crates of prize "hen fruit" have been arriving at Lakeland, Fla., several layers short for the past few weeks and the federal authorities were called in to investigate. They found that the shipments had been opened while being transferred at Live Oak and then the crates carefully repacked.

Truck Driver Indicted For Injury to Child, 4

A felony indictment charging assault with reckless disregard for human life was returned Tuesday against Frank Winder as the result of an accident on Fair street on March 3, in which Daniel A. Long, 4, of 752 Fair street, S. E., was injured. The indictment charges Winder with operating a truck inside the city limits at a greater rate of speed than the legal limit of 15 miles an hour.

Local Cat Fanciers Will Gather Tonight

Cat fanciers of Atlanta are asked to attend a special meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. G. Alfred Harbour, secretary of the Atlanta Cat Fanciers Association, at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Mrs. Harbour lives at 516 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Final plans will be discussed for the cat show to be held at the Chamber of Commerce on the night of April 2 when owners of aristocratic cats will exhibit them as a sort of preliminary to a bigger feline exposition to be staged in connection with the annual Southeastern Fair.

Kiwanis Club Hears Talk on Psychology

Success comes from within, Dr. Julian Pennington, of Birmingham, nationally famous vocational psychologist, declared in an address before the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Ansley hotel.

"Impediments of environment and circumstance are ineffectual to the man who has within him a great desire to succeed," he said.

Psychologists are unable to define or account for the quality in a man that makes him start out at the bottom and climb the rungs of the ladder of success regardless of the obstacles in the path, Dr. Pennington said.

However, psychology can and does give valuable aid in guiding a man along the road to success, he said.

DOHENY FACES JURY ON BRIBERY CHARGE

Mass of Testimony Heard in Fall's Conviction Not Admissable.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil operator, will go on trial tomorrow on an indictment charging that he gave Albert B. Fall a bribe of $100,000 for a lease to the Ridge Naval Oil reserve at Elk Hills, Cal.

Evidence concerning the payment of the money to Fall, then secretary of the interior, was presented a jury four months ago. Doheny and Fall testified that it was a loan of one old friend to another and their acquittal of conspiracy followed. Last October, however, another jury in the District of Columbia supreme court, took an opposite view of the transaction and found Fall guilty of accepting the money as a bribe.

Much of the evidence which was used by government prosecutors to secure the conviction of the former cabinet officer cannot be introduced against Doheny. Especially is this true of evidence concerning Fall's receipt of $233,500 from Harry F. Sinclair about the time Sinclair's company received a lease to the Teapot Dome Naval reserve in Wyoming. It was the Sinclair evidence, intended to show intent on the part of the cabinet officer, which was credited with bringing about his conviction.

Doheny's case first was set for Monday but the court recessed until Wednesday in respect to the memory of the late William Howard Taft and Justice Sanford.

When court convenes tomorrow, Justice William Hitz is expected to rule on Doheny's plea that to try him for bribery would place him in double jeopardy and that all elements of the case already have been decided by the first jury. A similar plea in the Fall case was denied.

SOUTH IS HINDERED BY POLITICS--EDMONDS

Editor Points to Disturbing Factors Impending Growth of Section.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 11. (AP)—Small politics and petty jealousies have been dominating factors in hindering industrial development in the south, Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record, of Baltimore, said in a message read to the annual industrial conference of the southern division of the American Mining Congress here today.

"Southern states have been hindered by interminable political disputes, not between parties but within one party," said the message. "If groups of southern states could band together into organizations for co-operative work covering every phase of their resources and potentialities, progress in agriculture and industry in the next ten years would exceed all that has been done in the last 25 years," he added.

Herbert A. Brooks, Clearwater, Fla., hotel manager, speaking of the "tourist industry" in the United States declared this had become a five-billion-dollar business.

In six states alone, California, Florida, Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin and Colorado, the gross annual tourist business amounts to two and a half billion dollars, Brooks said. All other states combined have at least this much, he said. The five-billion-dollar tourist industry outstrips nearly every other business in the United States," he asserted.

Two Are Arrested In Tennessee Death

LOUDON, Tenn., March 11.—(AP)—Lee Snyder and Buck Williams were held in jail today charged with the death of Roy Schrimpshire, 25, whose body was found on a railroad track below a bridge.

Witnesses testified at a preliminary hearing yesterday that Schrimpshire was knocked from the bridge.

Second Rate Beer Runner Is Buried in $15,000 Casket

CHICAGO BIG SHOTS DO RIGHT BY DINGBAT OBERTA

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN.
United News Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Chicago's underworld demonstrated again today that in the matter of magnificent funerals it has no peer.

Ever since Johnny "Dingbat" Oberta, a distinctly second-rate beer runner and ward politician, was taken for a ride which ended in death last week, the powers that survived in his "back 'o the yards" bailiwick planned to "do him right."

The big shots and the little shots, the beer runners, the labor racketeers, and the shady politicians, friend and enemy alike, dug deep in their pockets to provide Dingbat a funeral in keeping with gangster tradition.

Thus when his tuxedo-clad body was started to a cemetery, a cortege which for utter opulence rivalled that of an East Indian potentate, wended through the stock yards district.

The body, with bullet holes disguised by an expert embalmer, was in a $15,000 satin lined silver-bronze casket, banked high with flowers. Immediately behind the stately hearse were four carloads of spring blossoms. In the scores of automobiles which followed rode in cushioned ease the big and small of Oberta's thirteenth ward.

At the head of the cortege were motorcycle policemen and officers in yellow touring cars. About the house stood 15,000 people, some friends of Dingbat, but most of them citizens attracted by the scene.

"It's a swell funeral," said one urchin.

"Yeh, gee," replied another, "lookee there on the schoolhouse, the gov'ment even has a flag at half mast."

The two urchins didn't know that the flag was lowered in honor of the late William Howard Taft and no one bothered to correct them. They stood in open-mouthed wonder while the big shots of the underworld filed from Oberta's modest home.

Dingbat's aged mother became hysterical. With her was his widow, a plump blond woman whose first husband, "Big Tim" Murphy, also was assassinated by rival hoodlums.

So thick was the crowd that police were forced to drive their automobiles against the milling spectators to clear the way. The sirens of the squad cars whistled an appropriate dirge and the cortege slowly rolled down the squalid streets to the Holy Sepulchre cemetery where two priests pronounced the last rites. The Catholic church refused until the last minute to take part in the services.

Oberta and his bodyguard, Sam Malega, were shot and killed by unknown assailants while riding in Oberta's $5,000 automobile through a western suburb of Chicago last Wednesday night. Malega's funeral was held yesterday.

MINE FIRE, CHEATED OF VICTIMS, BURNS ON

Conflagration Continues Unabated in Empty Shafts.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, March 11. (AP)—Cheated of all but two victims among the 89 men trapped in the smoke-filled tunnels, flames lapped stubbornly away today in the depths of the Wolf Run mine of the Warner colleries near Amsterdam, 25 miles from here.

Sparks from the electric trolley pole of a train started a conflagration which for hours threatened a major mine disaster, but heroic rescue squads, picking their way through tongues of flames springing from timbers and coal, brought every man but two safely to the surface.

Paul Borkowski, 65, died soon after he was brought out. He suffered from asthma and could not survive the choking coal fumes he had breathed. The body of Jack Pewoski, 37, was found beside a door of one of the mine rooms.

Another miner, George Allman, was severely burned on the feet, legs and hips while dashing across a barrier of fire. Two rescuers, Sidney Wales and Arnold Horton, inspectors of the mine, collapsed from exhaustion after tramping for miles to search for workmen.

The 87 others cut off by the blaze were brought out unharmed, although 70 of them owed their lives to the desperate work of the Steubenville fire department and mine rescue squads. About a dozen of them were unconscious from the intense heat and smoke when carried to the surface, but most of them were able to walk to their nearby homes after they had been revived. Company officials announced at midnight that every man had been accounted for.

The fire broke out about 4,000 feet back from the main entrance shaft yesterday afternoon and telephone communication to the mines was destroyed.

The Steubenville fire department made a 25-mile run and began pumping water just in time to save the weakened timbers from allowing dirt and shale to slide in and block the trapped men. About 70 men were threatened, the rest having been able to escape or were brought out before the flames could cut them off.

For a time it seemed that the fire would be the victor, but five hours later it was checked sufficiently that rescuers, wearing gas masks, crept through and brought out 70 men, exhausted and gasping for air. It was believed the trapped men lived because fresh air had constantly been pumped through an overcast chute.

The rescue was made barely in time, for less than three hours later the flames again gained headway and Fire Chief Edward Green of Steubenville said he feared it would be impossible to save the mine from destruction. Shifts of firemen were kept at their posts all night.

Man Held in Jail For Drowning Mate

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Howard Trottman, 29, of Norfolk, Va., was drowned in upper New York bay today and his shipmate, Ike Keaton, 30, also of Norfolk, was locked up by police on a charge of homicide.

Police said Keaton and Trottman, members of the crew of the steamer Baldrock, engaged in an argument over which one should pay a 95c taxi bill and Keaton picked Trottman up and threw him into the bay. His body was recovered three hours later.

Reichstag Strikes At Red Chieftains

BERLIN, March 11.—(AP)—The reichstag by a majority vote today deprived Hermann Remmele, secretary of the communist party and six other communist members of the reichstag of their parliamentary immunity for inciting the working classes to rebellion. The nationalists abstained from voting.

The effect of today's action is that the communist reichstagers may be prosecuted by the Leipsic supreme court, but not while the present parliament is sitting.

The communist newspapers are making political capital out of the reichstag's action by representing it to being due to agitation by the communist members against the Young plan.

Cop Buys Book, Reads It Through, Arrests Seller

CHICAGO, March 11.—(UN)—It doesn't matter what a college professor, a philosopher and a noted book publisher think about the Satyricon of Patronicus, Patrolman John J. Kratzmeyer believes its a "dirty book."

Officer Kratzmeyer, it seems, purchased the Satyricon from Bookdealer Gerald Nedwick. Then Officer Kratzmeyer read the book. It so shocked him that he forthwith arrested Nedwick. The case was called in Judge Freeman L. Fairchild's court today.

The defense offered in evidence letters from Professor Baker Brownell, of Northwestern University; Professor T. V. Smith, of Chicago University's philosophy department and T. R. Smith, of Horace Liveright Publishing Company, New York.

Patrolman Kratzmeyer listened soberly while an attorney read abstracts of the letters, which likened the Satyricon to the "Songs of Solomon," said it was a "respectable classic," and called it "a fine piece of scholarship."

"That's all very well," Patrolman Kratzmeyer told the court when the letters were finished. "But I read that book myself. And I still think its a dirty book."

Hoovercrats Plan Fight in Alabama

LAFAYETTE, Ala., March 11.—(AP)—Arrangements for a county primary for those opposed to the action of the state and county democratic executive committees in barring bolters as candidates are expected to be completed here tomorrow by a committee representing the 13 precincts of the county.

The democratic committee of Chambers, the home county of Senator J. Thomas Heflin, followed the lead of the state democratic executive committee in barring as candidates those who were opposed to the party's national ticket in 1928.

At a recent mass meeting here resolutions were adopted criticizing the action of the party committees and authorizing an independent "Jeffersonian" ticket to be selected in a primary. J. O. Webb, former state senator, presided.

The committee is scheduled to meet tomorrow and discuss the special primary, which according to present plans will be held either just before or immediately following the statewide democratic primary August 12.

Judge Scolds Jury In Dry Law Acquittal

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., March 11.—(AP)—A Stafford county jury's action in acquitting a man of prohibition charges was said by Circuit Judge Frederick W. Coleman from the bench here today to evince "a willful disregard for law enforcement."

"Gentlemen," said the court after the jury had given its report, "this verdict is a reflection on the fair name of Stafford county. It evinces a willful disregard for law enforcement and so long as jurors return verdicts of acquittal on testimony like that produced in this case you may expect bootleggers to flourish in putting out their moonshine."

The case was that of John Simpson, indicted on a charge of selling intoxicants after Walter Burgess, a prohibition officer, swore to an affidavit that marked money used in a liquor transaction was found on Simpson's person.

When the jury was selected, Judge Coleman had questioned every man of the panel as to his prejudices against the prohibition law. "Have you any conscientious scruples against the enforcement of the prohibition law?" and "have you in the past 12 months purchased or had in your possession any intoxicating liquors not legally acquired?" the jurist asked. One juror answering the second question in the affirmative was discharged.

W. Z. Foster Denied Bail in New York

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Because he had been convicted in Spokane, Wash., in 1907 for violation of the free-speech law, William Z. Foster, communist party leader, was denied bail today when arraigned on a charge of felonious assault and his hearing was set for March 20.

Magistrate John V. Flood, in denying Foster bail, said that he had served a 10-day jail sentence in Spokane. The magistrate set bail for four of Foster's lieutenants, also charged with assault, at $10,000 each.

The charges against the communists are an outgrowth of the unemployment demonstration which ended in a riot in Union Square last Thursday.

The five first were arrested on unlawful assembly charges and held without bail, but they gained their release from jail in habeas corpus proceedings in the supreme court. They were rearrested on the assault charges as they left the courtroom after posting bail.

In the second complaint police charge the five men with beating Arthur Talbot, a policeman, in the Union Square riot.

Catarrh Is Most Common Cause of Head Colds

Find a man, woman or child who is afflicted with catarrh of the nose and its connecting air passages and you will always find a patient who is most susceptible to more serious diseases. Why? Science explains that catarrh interferes with natural breathing thus preventing proper purification of the blood by the lungs and also prevents refreshing sleep. Catarrh is a constant drain upon the nutrition of the body, making the patient weak and thereby susceptible to diseases such as head and chest colds.

Your physician will tell you that catarrh is a local condition, not a systemic disease. You must fight it constantly with a local remedy that reaches the spot. Of the many remedies that have been tested by nose and throat specialists to relieve the irritation and reduce the congestion of the mucous membrane the most effective and agreeable are those contained in the preparation, known to your druggist as Runion's White Wonder Salve. Applied in the nostrils, morning and night, Runion's White Wonder Salve gives quick and most delightful relief from the irritation and congestion. Clean, greaseless and absolutely stainless, Runion's Salve is a perfect example of the finest pharmaceutical art—a joy and comfort to everyone who suffers with catarrhal irritation of the nose and throat.

To have a fine lawn, feed it!

Grass cannot live in ground that lacks plant food

FEED your lawn this easier and better way—with a clean, rich food that the grass will relish and that neither you nor your neighbors will notice. Feed it V-C Fairway, then watch the turf grow fast, thick and green and velvety.

Anybody can distribute V-C Fairway, and any season is good for serving it to grass. Fall and Spring are best, but a top-dressing of V-C Fairway now and then will keep the best of lawns in finer condition.

V-C Fairway is ideal for making new lawns: rake it into the prepared dirt, wait a day or two, broadcast the seed, sprinkle and roll the surface—and there comes your grass!

V-C Fairway is a dry and granulated powder, ready for use. Moderately priced, it comes in bags, 10-lbs. to 100-lbs., and is easily handled or stored. It is exactly the food that grass must have—the V-C Fairway balanced ration, the complete and carefully blended diet of good chemical elements. And it carries no weed seeds, no insect pests, no plant diseases.

If your garden supplies dealer does not have V-C Fairway, ask us for prices, where to buy, etc.

THE SANFORD SUCCESSOR.

The vacancy left upon the bench of the supreme court of the United States affords President Hoover an opportunity to show his equitable mind toward the south. Justice Sanford was of the south and his deplorable death leaves among the justices only one vicariously accredited to the south, namely, Mr. Justice McReynolds. He is noted as from Tennessee, although President Wilson actually picked him from New York city, where he was practicing law.

To be frankly correct about the matter, there is now no member of the court from the south.

It is, of course, allowable for all the nine members of the court to be appointed from a single state—New York, for instance—if none of the other 47 states do not happen to have in any of them a lawyer or jurist with qualifications to sit in the court that intrigue presidents or impress senates. However, no one imagines such a situation, but the fact has been that the court has at times been constituted without a single representative of the southern states upon its bench.

As yet President Hoover has shown great restraint in awarding major appointments to southern men and it may reasonably happen that he will not see any man in this wide section fit, in his judgment, to succeed to the Sanford vacancy. In any event there will be very acute curiosity in all sections to learn what manner of man, and from what atmosphere, he will appoint to fill out the court.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.

In late years there have been several instances of judges summarily awarding fines and prison sentences upon persons who dared to criticise their judicial actions. Flagrant cases of the kind have occurred in Indiana, Ohio and other states. These proceedings against freedom of speech and freedom of the press have been had under the assumed power to punish "contempt of court."

A bill by Senator Vandenburg, of Michigan, himself a newspaper publisher, is now pending in the senate, the purpose of which is to limit the power of federal judges to award such penalties in cases where they are the parties claiming to have been offended by the alleged act of contempt. The proposed remedy is to require the trial of the contempt to be had before another judge not personally interested in the transaction.

Not only the press, but every citizen should be jealous of the sovereign right to call into review and question the official acts of public agents. The inviolability of that right has been asserted from the foundation of our American independence. So confidently was that right held that Alexander Hamilton, one of the makers and chief expounders of our constitution, held it unnecessary to safeguard it in the document. He wrote in "The Federalist"—

"For why declare that things shall not be done which there is no power to do? Why, for instance, should it be said that the liberty of the press shall not be restrained, when no power is given by which restrictions may be imposed?"

But Jefferson, Madison and other of the fathers felt, and several of the state ratifying conventions agreed with them, that in a bill of rights attached to the constitution there should be a guaranty of freedom of speech, of the press and of religion; hence the first amendment of the constitution was submitted and ratified.

The question logically arises: If the congress is prohibited, as it is, to make any law "abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press," why should any judge of an inferior court created by congress have the unrestrained right to make and enforce such law in his jurisdiction?

The eminent and lamented William Howard Taft, ex-president and ex-chief justice, who was buried but yesterday, has left upon record this emphatic and righteous opinion:

"The opportunity freely and publicly to criticize judicial action is of vastly more importance to the body politic than the immunity of courts and judges from unjust aspersions and attacks. Nothing tends more to render judges careful in their decisions and anxiously solicitous to do exact justice than the consciousness that every act of theirs is to be subjected to the intelligent scrutiny and candid criticism of their fellow-men."

That is an opinion that harks back to that of the Continental Congress regarding the freedom of the press when it addressed the inhabitants of Quebec. That congress said it promoted "the diffusion of liberal sentiments on the administration of government . . . whereby oppressive officials are shamed or intimidated into more honorable or just modes of conducting affairs."

Theeodore Roosevelt, writing to Senator Poindexter in 1918, said: "I believe that the first article (of amendment) of the constitution guarantees the right of the people to criticise truthfully the conduct of their public servants and that this right cannot be taken away by law."

A volume of like opinions from the eminent men of the nation from its foundation down to now could be compiled. Courts, of course, should have immunity from open and gross insults; they should have power to enforce their orderly proceedings from irregular interruptions, obstruction and violence; but no judge should be permitted in any case to be prosecutor, jury, judge and executive in a case where his feelings and passions initiate the proceeding, and where the accused may be heavily fined and deprived of liberty for exercising an indefeasible right.

The Vandenburg bill seems to be a timely and conservative measure and should command the support in the congress of all those who are jealous of constitutional rights and natural justice.

A PERTINENT QUESTION.

An esteemed reader writes in to commend our editorial recommending cotton and cattle as the safe dependences of Georgia farmers, but adds that "what these poor devils want you to do is to tell them how to get the cattle?"

The question is very pertinent and not so easily answered as asked. But it is being answered in several sections of the state by the growing willingness of local bankers to aid in financing the purchase of pure-bred cattle for breeding, beef and dairy purposes.

Very sensibly, however, careful lenders of farm credit demand that the farmer who asks for it shall be a real farmer, and not a fumbler always hopping under the harrow of debt. It is becoming easier every year now for farmers with brains and industry to secure helpful credit to diversify out of all cotton and to build up money-making herds on their farms. Money is always ready to work with a man who works and wins.

THE WORTHY BOY SCOUTS.

The address that President Hoover made Monday evening to the Boy Scouts, on their twentieth American anniversary, was admirable in content and spirit. It spoke eloquently of the personal and patriotic interest the president feels in the welfare of the youth of the nation.

The Boy Scout organization has become one of the most important manhood training institutions of the country. It deserves far more of the substantial support of every man and woman who desires a ne plus ultra type of Americans in the next generation than it has heretofore received.

No investment of personal interest and money will produce better physical, moral and citizenship results than that put forth to gather the youth of the community into Boy Scout patrols. They already are a gallant and useful young brigade in Atlanta, but should be 20-fold stronger at least.

Breaking the Ice.

Though slow progress may be made with the task of "humanizing" the submarine, it would sound as though our own admiralty is moving towards the ideal of better and brighter battleships when we read that it is considering the installation of ice cream plants on men-of-war, remarks the Manchester Guardian jestingly. That ought to soften the rigors of modern warfare a little, though it is to be hoped that our hearts of oak will not get cold feet as the result of becoming too fond of chilled confectionery. The conversation between the admiral and his underlings as the enemy draws with in range should be rather entertaining: "Is the soda-fountain functioning?" "Aye, aye, sir—the egg phosphates are in fine form!" "Are the sundaes ready?"

"Aye, aye, sir—as rich as real cream will make 'em!" "Have the men had their raspberry vinegar ration?" "Aye, aye, sir—and a special issue of wafers, too, sir!" "Is the peppermint cordial in prime condition?" "Aye, aye, sir—never brisker!" "Good! Then bring me a malted milk and let the battle begin!"

Four National Hymns.

The Austrian republic at the present moment has four national anthems: (1) The old, very popular hymn by Haydn to the words of Seidl, beginning "Gott erhalte." It was sung in pre-war Austria, and is now used by the monarchists. (2) The same melody by Haydn to the words of Ottokar Kernstock, beginning with: "Sei gesegnet ohne Ende." (Blessings without end). A short time ago this was adopted as the official national anthem, but it was opposed by the social democrats as the "Hapsburg Hymn." (3) The same melody by Haydn to the words of the German Hoffman von Fallersleben, "Deutschland, Deutschland ueber alles." It is sung by the German nationalists and the social democrats in approval of the "Anschluss" idea, and has been permitted by the education minister for "official occasions." (4) The hymn of the "Berglaender Bund," composed by Wilhelm Kienzl, to the words of the ex-Chancellor Dr. Renner. It was introduced several years ago by the social democrats, but it never became popular, owing to its rather complicated music. It has now been replaced officially by the old Haydn hymn to the words "Sei gesegnet ohne Ende." The education minister has prohibited the "Berglaender Bund" in schools, but the social democrats say this is illegal.

Widow "Robin Hood."

China's female "Robin Hood," known as the "Widow Chang," leader of an army of several thousand bandits, is sweeping like a scourge through western Honan, says a Peking correspondent. This remarkable woman, who believes herself charmed against bullets, and never fails to lead her men into battle, has organized banditry on a business basis. Ahead of her raiding troops marches a propaganda corps. These stalwarts enter a town and prepare the ground for the bandits by plastering the walls with posters bearing such statements as "Rob the Rich." "Save the Poor." "Widow Chang is the salvation star of the poor people." Peasants and poor workers in the towns regard "Widow Chang" with reverence. The residents of Honan have given her the title of "marshal."

Health Talks

AND HOW'S YOUR SECOND STOMACH TODAY?

Viewing movies of the effects of various medicines on digestion I was struck with the fact that every guy has two stomachs, though he may not be aware of it, especially if he has two chins. They are, to-wit, the upper, larger and more familiar bread basket, and the lower, smaller and stranger 12-finger section of the alimentary tube known to doctors and particularly surgeons as the duodenum. Here in the lower stomach the more essential part of digestion goes on. A man may get along fairly well without any stomach at all, if his food is properly prepared; but one just can't do without a duodenum. Into the duodenum the bile empties and through the same orifice the pancreatic fluid from the abdominal "sweetbread" reaches the duodenum. The pancreatic fluid digests fats, proteins and carbohydrates. The bile—well, that is still somewhat obscure, though of course we know that everybody has to have bile in his duodenum, oh, yes, indeed. The bile aids in the absorption of fats; we know that much. It may be an excretion—that is, it may carry substances off from the body, substances the body must eliminate; we don't know much about this. Really, I'm sorry I got into this mess now—some readers may suspect doctors don't know much anyway. The old almanac quacks divined more than any doctor knows today. For instance, there was "liver complaint," which every customer was presumed to suffer. Today we're so dumb we don't even know what "liver complaint" means. And we defy anyone who pretends he knows to tell us. I reckon that leaves it right where I said it was—obscure.

I intimated that a chap with two chins probably is not aware he has two stomachs. Comparatively early in his career he doesn't even know he has one, except from hearsay. It is the lean and hungry—and how!—geek that is likely to be all too conscious of his duodenum. Especially if he happens to be an excessive smoker. Maybe some of you scrawny folk will recall what we said here some time ago about the cigaret hog's duodenal ulcer complex. If you don't remember but do play hog with your smoking, let me repeat that in not a few instances tobacco excess causes a very imposing group of symptoms, all the typical symptoms of duodenal ulcer, and if you're not careful some ever-ready operator may realize the truth of this only after he has opened you by mistake. Far be it from me to take the joy out of anybody's life, but I do earnestly advise thin folk particularly to be temperate in their smoking.

Stomach ulcer is almost a familiar condition at least to valetudinarians. Sometimes it is better known as peptic or as gastric ulcer. Duodenal ulcer is less familiar yet more frequent. The causes, symptoms and treatment of ulcer are much the same, whether it is in the upper or the lower stomach.

If you have the makings of an ulcer, in either stomach or just in your mind, watch this corner for further and, I hope, helpful inside information on the subject. If people will have these tricky little erosions in their midsts they may as well understand precisely what ails 'em.

Sound the Hewgag and Relight the Old Atlanta Go-Getting Spirit.

It is a wise and timely decision by the Chamber of Commerce and associated city promoters to carry on a campaign of education to show the many advantages of Atlanta as a "fit place to live in," to own a home in, and in which to bring up and train children for the business of life.

All of which presupposes a man with a family - supporting business, profession, salary, or wages. Anyone with less is classified as a dependent or a drifter. And they are not the people to whom our campaign of enlightenment on civic advantages would be directed. It is aimed to convince the man who wishes to make the most of what he has got and what he earns.

* * * *

Atlanta as a Health Center.

One of the first considerations of a sensible man seeking a family habitat is the matter of health. He wants more than anything else to prolong his own life and health and insure the life and health of his wife, children and any others dependent upon his support.

"What will a man give for his life? All that he hath!" That is why doctors, hospitals, sanitariums, hot springs, winter and summer resorts, patent medicine makers and quacks thrive and often grow into millionaires.

A John D. Rockefeller offers a million dollars for a reconstructed stomach that won't buck and lay him out a nervous wreck, and gets it—so that he is still flourishing and golfing in his 91st year.

Atlanta is famous throughout the nation for the possession of more of the muniments for health preservation and physical fitness than any other city of its size upon the continent.

* * * *

America's Most Salubrious Climate.

We have here in Atlanta the most salubrious climate in North America. Most cities that compete with ours have no "climate" at all—only a vaudeville performance of the elements.

Climate, you know, cannot be bought for a civic possession; it must be sought where it naturally exists as a delectable environment.

Atlanta sits enthroned upon the foothills of the Blue Ridge and is courted by the breezes that blow upon her lovingly and beneficently from the Atlantic ocean on the one hand and the amiable Gulf of Mexico on the other hand. They ward from us excessive cold in winter and melting heat in summer. So that the climatic argument in favor of residence in Atlanta is unmatchable by the boosters of any other city in the blooming, booming south.

* * * *

Home-Owning Easy in Atlanta.

There are other cities in America with a larger percentage of home-owners than Atlanta, but that is due to the fact that they are much older cities, were never destroyed by war 65 years ago, and have always had more capital to invest in building and selling dwellings to their inhabitants on time payments.

But, in the broad and large, Atlanta has been a progressively home-making city and now has some 20,000 individual dwellings housing over 50,000 families, with 4.1 persons to the family.

Home sites, as a general thing, are purchasable now upon exceedingly favorable terms as to price and mode of payment, because of the common business depression throughout the country. They will scarcely get cheaper, but are sure to go up in market value as the business revival ripens. The man who wants a home in Atlanta will be most wise to negotiate for it right now.

* * * *

A Municipal Department Store.

Atlanta is a veritable "department store" city, if you catch what I mean. It is not a reference to the splendid actual department stores which make this one of the most active and prosperous retail markets in the south.

What I mean is that here we have ready to enjoy all those things the progressive modern citizen wants 'o" himself and his family.

We have churches, universities, colleges of all sorts, public schools, parks, amusements, libraries, every mode of communications and transportation that brings to us our needs from the ends of the earth.

It must be something peculiarly novel and special that they have in New York, Chicago or San Francisco that cannot be had here—from toothpicks up to grand opera that is the "real goods."

* * * *

The Hard Part of Our Job.

The hardest part of this renewed campaign to make Atlanta bigger, more beautiful and more desirable as a "good place to call home," is to make the mass of our people already here appreciate their home town to its full deserts and to enter heartily the endeavor to "sell" it to home and business seekers in other sections.

As Woodrow Wilson once said "we should find the way to get together, to consult, to advise, to devise for betterments and to growl and kick at things that are not right!"

We need to relight that old "Atlanta spirit" which, when a rally horn was blown used to bring the citizens of every degree a-runnin' and a-rarin' to go for what would build up and glorify the city. It can be done and this new campaign should splendidly accomplish that revival.

Air Travel Will Reach "High Tide" This Summer, Says Eddie Rickenbacker—America's 12 Big Motion Picture Companies — Percentage on a Big Scale.

Watch air travel this summer! It will reach the high tide—far outdistancing any previous record!

This is the prophecy of Captain E. V. Rickenbacker, the American ace, now vice president of the Fokker Aircraft Corporation.

Captain Rickenbacker believes that the aircraft companies made a mistake in thinking that the time-saving element which so appeals to big business executives could be made the basis for the charges sufficient to warrant a large business. But directors of business enterprises hesitated to become air-minded. Many refused to sanction air-travel by their officers. Because of this, airplane companies have turned from high rates and the high rate customers to low rates and the more lowly customers.

The new slogan "Tell It to Sweeney, the Astorbilts Know" is the basis of a new and growing business, according to Captain Rickenbacker.

The Fokker company is speeding up production of its 32-place planes with all the resources at their command. The demand for these planes is expected to be followed by a demand for the smaller planes, for feeder lines.

"Criss-crossing from Cleveland to Los Angeles and from Spokane and Winnipeg to San Francisco and El Paso today, finds planes crowded. Commercial travelers, women tourists—just the average sort of folk you meet in everyday Pullman cars," says the war ace.

The luxury rate days are over. The new emphasis is placed where it will be most effective—with the great mass of Americans.

One hears much about the "Big Three" in the motion picture field, but there are more than a dozen motion picture companies doing a national producing and distributing business.

In the field of production, the first 12 companies rank about in the order named: Paramount-Publix Corporation, Warner Brothers, Fox Films, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, First National Pictures, Radio-Keith-Orpheum, United Artists, Universal Pictures, Pathe Exchange, Educational Film Exchanges, Columbia Pictures Corporation and Tiffany Productions.

Today no one company controls the entire distribution field. There are more than four hundred chains of theaters, of which only five are actually affiliated with film companies. Paramount's chain is operated by its own subsidiary company—Publix Pictures—while Fox's movie houses work under the Fox Theaters corporation.

Loew's, in which Fox has a 41 per cent stock interest, is strong in New York city, while United Artists and Radio-Keith each have a number of theaters throughout the country.

Universal, which specialized on country theaters and at one time operated several hundred, has been reducing its number in the last few years.

Brazil's problems center around coffee, United States' in cotton and wheat, Canada's in wheat, and Japan's in silk.

Japan's foreign trade is largely built around silk. Today her silk market is glutted. There's more silk in the world than there is demand for. Since last May the price of silk has been slipping down. The real reason, outside of the rise in the yen, is the sudden drop in American buying. Why? Let's put the blame on the November stock market break.

Then to add to Japan's difficulty, Italy has increased her production of silk. Europe bought only 9,174 bales of Japanese silk from July, 1928, to February, 1929, as contrasted with 22,487 bales during the same period the year before.

Small Things Seem Great To Small Creatures

By Robert Quillen

At a point on the river bank where converging paths led the creatures to drink, a coon and a turtle stopped to exchange words.

"It is my right to drink first," said the turtle.

"Who do you think you are?" asked the coon. "And how do you get that way? I rate above you."

"What utter absurdity," cried the turtle. "I was hatched before your great-great-grandfather saw daylight. And a blow that would break your back wouldn't disturb my digestion. What is more, I can lay eggs, and I am related on my father's side to the distinguished serpent family that bamboozled the first woman and is used in sacred writings as a synonym for wisdom."

"Blah!" said the coon politely. "Is the dry leaf important because it fell from a great tree. Can you climb a tree, by the way?"

"No," confessed the turtle, "but—"

"Can you catch a fish and wash it?"

"No, but I—"

"Can you scratch the back of your neck? Can you wash your face? Can you grow coats for freshmen?"

"I can't," said the turtle, "but—"

"Then have the good manners to step aside," said the coon, "and give precedence to your betters. On your way, hard-shell; on your way."

In another part of the world a college professor and a mechanic locked bumpers at a street crossing and climbed out of their flivvers to exchange compliments.

"You should have given me the right-of-way," said the professor. "I am educated. I can read Latin and Greek and speak five languages. I know botany, astronomy, geology, chemistry, history and biology and I'm a wow in math."

"The—well, the dickens you say," remarked the mechanic. "Can you lay brick? Can you splice a rope? Can you wire a house for electricity? Can you build a radio set? Can you adjust your carburetor? Can you build a cabinet? Can you cook? Can you clean fish? Can you mend your typewriter?"

"Certainly not," said the professor, "but—"

"You're a dud," said the mechanic. "Don't argue with better men. On your way, ignorance."

Mr. Edison recently remarked that men have not yet acquired one per cent of the sum of knowledge.

How strange that the man who knows the length of a river or the area of a state should feel superior to the man who knows how to balance a ledger.

sofar as he is concerned, the committee will confine its activities towards educating the people of the needs of the system and its present operation.

E. R. Sweat, commissioner from the tenth ward, attacked the proposal to cut teachers' salaries, declaring that there is much overhead and many departmental additions which could be eliminated at the saving of many thousands of dollars.

"It was the judgment of the current expenditures committee that we should not mutilate the school system, but that we should keep it intact," Mr. Gaines explained. "We feel that the proposal we are offering is equitable. We know it is legal because we asked the advice of the city attorney and he approved it. It was our thought to retain the entire system intact. It has taken years to build the system.

"It is nationally known and is recognized as a good one. We should bend every effort to preserve it. We still hope to avert a crisis and the calamity of a cut in the salaries."

Slate Hits Cuts.

Commissioner William C. Slate, of the second ward, hit the proposed cuts.

James W. Maddox, commissioner from the fifth ward, declared the administration and the board should close the schools for the last two months of the year in order to impress upon citizens the gravity of the financial problem with which the board is wrestling.

"No financial miracle which would snatch the schools from the disaster of having to shave down its budget can be expected," Alderman Gilliam said. "Atlanta has a low tax rate, the lowest of any city in the United States in its class. For that reason the municipal government can not contribute any more to schools."

Sale of equipment which came under the fire of the grand jury and of several idle properties of the school department in order to meet the financial drain, was suggested in a resolution offered by Commissioner Slate.

The board referred the resolution to the special commission which Mr. Gilliam heads. An effort to table the paper failed.

Text of Resolution.

Text of the Slate resolution follows:

"Whereas, the board has several pieces of property not in use, and

"Whereas, there no doubt is considerable equipment, such as clocks, books, old desks, picks and shovels and various odds and ends that have a marketable value, and

"Whereas, the board is in urgent need of funds.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the administrative department be requested to prepare and furnish the board an itemized list of all such property with a full description giving the name, location, etc.

"Be it further resolved, that an itemized list of all equipment not in use and not absolutely needed be furnished the board with an approximate sale value in order that the board may be in a position to look forward to its early disposal and that either a special committee or the buildings, grounds and equipment committee be requested to investigate the feasibility of disposing of such property and equipment and report their findings to the board at the earliest possible date."

Mr. Slate also offered a paper providing that all employes of the school system should live in the corporate limits of the borough of Atlanta, but it was adversed. He declared he would offer it again at the next regular meeting of the board, April 15.

Major Robert Guinn, representing the committee on church co-operation, asked the board to preserve the Walker Street school, which the department has just abandoned as school headquarters, to care for the overflow of negro students in that vicinity.

Mrs. B. F. Fontaine was elected by unanimous vote of the board to the post as a member of the board of lady visitors from the second ward. She was nominated by Commissioner Slate.

Contracts Completed.

The board spent several hours in consideration of routine matters incident to winding up contracts on schools erected from funds supplied by the 1926 bond issue, and other details.

A report of the current expenditures committee showed that $753,714.06 has been spent thus far this year in operation and maintenance of the schools. Of this amount $565,257.44 was for instructional service.

M. C. Bishop was elected head of the English department of the Boys' High school, succeeding James P. Barron, elected principal of the James W. Maddox Junior High school. Other elections were Frank Richardson and Clarence A. Swenson.

Leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Elizabeth R. Matthews and Mrs. Fannie C. Symmers, and an extension of a leave of absence was granted to Miss Olive Chambless.

TAFT IS BURIED IN ARLINGTON

Benediction of Sunshine.

Yet, just at the end, as the triple rifle blast blazed its last salute and the sweet, clear tones of an army bugle sounded in "taps," the blue showed through above and a shaft of yellow sunshine poured its benediction upon the dripping canvas tented above that hillside grave.

It bathed in beauty the great mound of dripping blossoms there beside the grave. It peered in beneath the canvas to cast its beneficent spell upon the weeping widow, bowed over the slowly lowered casket in her last farewell. It caught the trim lines of troops, marines and sailors that ringed that woodland half acre about as a frame, to touch saber blade and polished button with glinting lights, to wake the rain-sodden coloring of flag and guidon to new and glowing life.

And it was thus they left their dead, those weeping women of his household, those many, old, old friends of the most distinguished men in national life today who gathered with him for the last time. They left him sleeping under the glow of a sinking sun, which was flaming gloriously among the old trees from which the shadows of night were stealing down the hill even as they went down it and back to the busy city beyond the river.

There was just a scattering of rain in the morning as the cavalry escort clattered to its place before the Taft home on Wyoming avenue, waiting to escort the dead man on his last journey to the capitol. The black caisson, with its gun team of six gray horses, told of the errand on which the troopers rode.

Stand Bareheaded In Rain.

The flourish of trumpet due to his one time place as commander-in-chief, alone sounded as the flag-draped casket was carried out by non-commissioned officers of the sister services and set in its place.

Down all the way to the great building that was the center of his ambitions in life the way was cleared. Despite heavily overcast skies and intermittent showers, sidewalk edges were fringed all along. They stood, bareheaded and silent as the cortege trotted slowly by without sound of drum or bugle to give cadence to its going. Only the rattle of steel shod hoofs upon hard pavements sounded.

But long before the cavalcade wound up through the curving drives of the capitol grounds to that wide east plaza where the man now escorted in death once walked in the prime of his strength and manhood to take his oath as president, thousands were waiting behind roped lines to pay their own brief tribute.

Guarded by Military.

In front of the wide steps to the rotunda, the caisson halted while the troopers rounded into line to sit motionless save for the restless pawing of their mounts, and with sabers at stiff salute while the casket was carried in to be placed on the low catafalque in the center of the great stone circle. Already the honor guard, still as though cut of bronze, stood grouped in place with gleaming bayonets fixed. Two soldiers, facing inward toward the coffin, now opened to expose the tranquil features of the man resting there, stood to the east side, and across from them a sailor, with jaunty white watchcap, and a marine in trim blue with scarlet facing, made up the detail.

At the head of the casket the officer in command took his stand, a knot of crape wrapped about the hilt of the sword he clasped with both hands, blade resting across his breast. Every 15 minutes for the time the casket rested there in state, the guard changed in order that the strain of motionless watching might not be too great.

And that was almost the only sound during those hours save the shuffling scrape of feet on the stone floor as ten thousand Americans moved in double file beside the casket to look their last on that dead face. They came trooping from the eastward as the great bronze doors were opened, moved by without stopping and then on down the marble stairways that lead the way down to the west and Pennsylvania avenue below.

Great Pay Tribute.

Two sides of the rotunda were all but hidden behind the mass of blooms of every color, wrought into every shape, that were ranked around. They bore cards on which were the names of great men all over the world, of kings and princes and presidents. And some humbler offerings among them, too, bore the names of men and women who knew and loved William Taft for himself alone, who had long served him in lowly place.

It was so with those ever-moving lines of humanity that passed beside his bier. There were fellow judges and senators and representatives here and there among them; there were men, women and children of many races and many faiths. And there were some who wept silently as they passed him by.

Out in the great plaza the rumbling of gun wheels had heralded the coming of the escort that would bear the casket away to the church service. Rank on rank, foot troops, marines and sailor battalions trudged up the hill to take their stand at the foot of the wide steps. The caisson waited there again, and as the hour struck the lines of ordinary folk were broke, their hour of honor to the dead at an end.

"Onward Christian Soldiers."

As the casket was carried out again into a world now shot with cold rain and tormented by gusty breezes that drove the drops like shrapnel before them, a great army band below broke the silence. Deep and strong came the tones of "Onward Christian Soldiers" lifted amid echoes of the quadruple trumpet flourish to the former rank of the dead which marked the coming of his casket. The troops below stood motionless and dripping rifles and sabers at present.

Again sidewalks were fringed with thousands as the funeral procession wound its course down from "the hill" and over the long way to All Souls' church, far out Sixteenth street.

When Mr. Taft was president that broad way leading down directly to the front door of the White House was for a time known as "The Avenue of the Presidents." Now it gives place on Meridian hill far out from the busy center of Washington, to many an embassy and legation.

And from each of these great banners hung in wet folds or flapped with rifle-like reports in the grip of a fierce March gust. They made a special way of rich coloring close about the church where Mr. Taft had been the most distinguished parishoner ever since he first came to Washington to live, more than a quarter of a century ago.

Bleak, Dripping Day.

It was a hard march for the soldiery and sailors against that driving rain. Overcoats were drenched, the white hats of the jackies washed out of their perky shape long before the end. Even the crimson saddle blankets of the gun teams, vivid spots of color an hour earlier, were dark with moisture as the procession wound finally over the top of the Sixteenth street hill to pass before the church.

Meanwhile an endless string of cars had brought President and Mrs. Hoover, the comrades of the dead man from the supreme court, the committee from senate and house, the cabinet officers and diplomats and the high generals and admirals, including General Pershing, again in uniform and wearing his sword, to their reserved places within the church. It was a mass of fresh blooms within, crowded with flowers. Their fragrance came out against every opening of the doorway, overcoming even the stormy drive of March wind outside.

Within, too, sheltered from public gaze at her coming was the widow and the large group of those near of kin to the dead man. She was heavily veiled to hide her sorrow.

As the troops reached their places outside, to form a wall of living kakhi or blue against the far curb of the street, some hundreds of onlookers still braved the rain to mass along the sidewalks and others clustered in every doorway or beneath every building lee. There was no sound but that of trampling hoofs as the caisson with the casket beneath the rain-drenched beauty of the great flag, came to a pause at the canopied doorway.

Severely Simple Funeral.

Then again the four flourishes of bugles rang out and the marine band lifted softly that old hymn, "Lead Kindly Light" as the bodybearers stepped forward to stagger out of public sight with their heavy load.

Within the church an old friend of the dead president, Dr. Ulysses G. Pierce, waited to offer such religious comfort as was in keeping with the simple faith of the man who had passed on. There was little of ritualistic service, just the kindly old hymns with organ and the chiming bells far above, joining, the prayers and the Scripture readings, with only a poem or two beloved of Mr. Taft and read by his old friend. It took less than half an hour in all.

Then the final scene. Outside the troops had waited again to salute as the casket was carried to a motor hearse for the long trip to Arlington. Only the cars carrying Mrs. Taft and the family members, President and Mrs. Hoover and others of the distinguished group that gathered in the church followed it. For the moment army and navy had paid their respects and the battalions could turn to barracks to shift from wet uniforms.

Mounted Cavalry Band.

But the day itself had relented. Gray skies still gloomed above as the faster trip was made to Fort Myer, the old post that flanks Arlington cemetery. The rain had all but stopped although there was threat of more to come.

And at the gate of the fort the cavalry again waited, this time headed by its own mounted band. Beside them, ranked among the trees, stood a battery of artillery with gunners waiting to fire.

As the hearse crossed the reservation line, the first brazen clamor of a 21-gun salute, the salute to the president of the colors, belched forth to send its echoes reeling down the hillsides to the company waiting at the grave far below. Minute by minute the guns drummed out their tale of soldierly sorrow as the slow procession wound its way down among the trees and the many, many graves of the valorous.

It is a wonderful glade, where this first president to sleep in a National cemetery takes his rest. Perhaps an acre of woodland sward is set close about by the red and white oaks, young and old. The fine old tree that was there when George Washington came a-courting to the Lee mansion on the heights about, stands alone in the center. Westward, up the gentle hillside, is a group of a half a dozen younger oaks. And it is beneath their spread boughs that a place had been made for the newcomer to this last sanctuary of valor and fame.

About the squared sides of the glade the troops were ranked. Soldiers held two sides, marines and blue jackets the others, and just back of the wide tent flies spread from their poles to cover the grave and the few dearest and nearest who could crowd about, the full strength of the navy band was mustered.

Few Hundreds Dare Weather.

Within the square stood a single rank of riflemen, waiting to fire the last volleys, and the same sergeant-bugler who sounded taps for the unknown soldier, for Woodrow Wilson, for Warren Harding and for William Jennings Bryan. Close behind the soldier lines were the few hundreds who had dared even this journey in rain and wind to say a last good-by to an old friend.

Far away came the tones of the cavalry band, broken by the clamor of the guns looming their minute signals above. As they drew closer the guns ceased, their tale told, and the music rang through the wooded hollows, it was a dirge old to the army that the band played and as they came nearer and nearer to the open space at the foot of the rifle-ringed square, the men below snapped to stiff attention.

Down wound the troopers, glimpsed first vaguely through the trees, the band instruments gleaming even in that dull light. Then they broke out into the open with the muffled mutter of the drums lost in the clatter of their chargers' hoofs. On and on the column moved, turning at last to form in a solid, living mass of men and mounts behind the foot troops on the north side of the square.

"Abide With Me."

The dignitaries, from president down, alighted from their cars, awaiting Mrs. Taft and the near relatives. The body bearers again took up their burden and finally, led by Dr. Pierce, the little column moved slowly up and the flag-draped casket vanished into the shelter of khaki-hued, tented inclosure. Mrs. Taft with members of the family passed within, then President and Mrs. Hoover, and a few nearer, dearer friends of the dead. For the others of the mourning party, for admirals and generals, for senators and representatives, it remained to stand clustered outside bareheaded as the simple burial service was completed within.

No word of what was said inside reached the ears of those about the outer ring of troops. Rifles of the men in lines about the great square were at parade rest now, the president salute having been rendered as the casket was carried up the hill. In that interval, too, the band played softly amid the trees the final hymn of the funeral service of William Howard Taft, "Abide With Me."

Then came a signal of hand. The troops snapped to attention.

"Ready! Aim! Fire!" called a crisp military voice, and the 16 rifles spoke as one in cracking volley amid the trees.

"Fire," came the order again, and a rifle blast; again "fire" and the third and last crashing note of the soldier's last salute was given.

Sun Breaks Clouds.

Standing now within the tent shelter, at the head of the grave, the bugler raised his instrument to his lips. Soft and clear the notes of "taps" rose in the air, and almost at that instant the clouds just over the trees at the hilltop above drew aside and for the first time in all the day, the sunlight came beaming down.

Full upon the tent above the grave it played, to light all within to soft, filtered glow, full it fell upon the ranked troops and the cavalry with rigid sabres flashing back the glow and horses nodding and pawing at the soft turf.

As the little group about the grave turned away to waiting cars and everyday affairs again, they could look back up the hill to the tree-framed nook, bathed in such splendor of waning sunshine as must have softened that moment of parting.

And behind them, eternally at rest from his labors, William Howard Taft, of Ohio, remained, alone, save for a soldier guard for a little time; but unforgotten by countrymen he had served long and well.

Judge Sibley Urged For Supreme Court

Appointment of Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley to the United States supreme court to succeed the late Edward Terry Sanford, of Knoxville, Tenn., was urged here Tuesday by the bar associations of Atlanta and Georgia.

Sanders McDaniel, president of the Atlanta Bar Association, and Joseph E. Pottle, of Milledgeville, head of the state organization, both sent wires to Washington recommending him for the position, while individuals throughout the state followed the same procedure, it was reported.

Walter F. George, who also has been mentioned for the post, has withdrawn as a candidate and will lend his support to Judge Sibley, according to word received here. Judge Sibley has served in local federal court for more than 10 years and is one of the best known jurists in the country.

Barnett Commission Issued by Governor

Governor L. G. Hardman Tuesday administered the oath of office and issued a commission to J. W. Barnett, of Athens, as chairman of the state highway board.

The commission is for the period April 1, 1930, to June 5, 1935. H. J. Rowe, of Athens; John B. Wilson, private secretary to the governor, and capitol newspapermen were witnesses to the ceremony.

Mr. Barnett succeeds Colonel Sam Tate, whose resignation as chairman of the board is effective April 1.

INJUNCTION GRANTED IN AUGUSTA GAS CASE

Temporary Scale Set Up in U. S. Court—Judges To Decide Question.

Temporary injunction against enforcement of the Georgia public service commission's recent new schedule of gas rates for Augusta was granted in United States district court here Tuesday to the Georgia Public Utilities Company, operating the gas plant at Augusta. The plantiff posted bond of $10,000.

Judge Samuel H. Sibley, who issued the writ, also set up a temporary scale of rates to apply while the matter is in litigation and required the complainant company to post bond to indemnify against any loss. Judge Sibley announced the matter of making the writ permanent in effect would be decided at New Orleans by a court of three federal judges on a date to be fixed later. The New Orleans hearing will be held in about 30 days, it was understood.

The temporary schedule fixed by Judge Sibley, it was said by James A. Perry, chairman of the public service commission, is the same as that asked by the company when the commission announced some months ago that revision of Augusta's rates was contemplated. This schedule is:

For the first 200 cubic feet, $1.50 net; next 2,000 cubic feet, $1.45 per 1,000 net, and for all over 3,000 cubic feet, $1.25 per 1,000 net.

The new rates fixed in the commission's recent order of revision, against which the injunction Tuesday was issued, to become effective with meter readings for March, are: For the first 2,000 cubic feet, $1.40 per 1,000 net; next 3,000 cubic feet, $1.20 per 1,000 net, and all over 5,000 cubic feet, $1 per 1,000 net. These charges would be in addition to 85 cents monthly service charge.

Morris Brown Plans Celebration Today

Morris Brown and Founders' Day celebration will be observed in college chapel today, with exercises beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, and at 8 o'clock at night. Bishop J. S. Flipper, of the diocese of Florida, and Bishop W. A. Fountain, head of the Georgia diocese, will preside.

The following persons will appear on the day's program: Dr. M. S. Davage, president, Clark University; W. A. Scott, editor, Atlanta World; A. D. Carey, principal emeritus of Morris Brown University; B. J. Davis, editor Atlanta Independent; Dr. J. M. Nabrit, president Georgia State Baptist convention; Forester B. Washington, director of Atlanta school of social work; L. D. Milton, banker; A. T. Walton, lawyer; R. B. Eleazer, commissioner of inter-racial co-operation; Dr. C. W. Reeves and Dean Archer, of Morehouse.

Fine Weather Due for City, Forecast Says

Atlantans may now expect a few days of "ideal weather" with moderate temperatures, clear skies and less wind, according to the official forecast of C. V. von Herrmann, local meterologist. A mercury range from 48 to 58 was registered here Tuesday and today's extremes are expected to be 42 and 60.

A. M. E. PASTORS MEET

Better Educational Facilities for Children Urged.

Encouraging committee reports, touching the religious, civic and the educational welfare of the negroes of Atlanta were made at Tuesday's session of the A. M. E. Ministers' Union, held at Big Bethel church, Dr. W. B. L. Clark presided, and R. H. Porter acted as secretary.

A paper, "Solomon's Autocratic Reign," by S. H. Rome and discussed by Bishop J. S. Flipper and others.

President W. A. Fountain, Jr., Drs. J. A. Hadley and T. J. Linton were named as special committee from the union to confer with similar committees of other denomination alliances looking forward to improved educational facilities for negro children of the city.

Dr. B. V. Thornton made a full report on "Current Evens." Dr. S. H. Giles, the critic of the body, offered his report.

The wife of Bishop W. A. Fountain, the general superintendent of the misisonary organization of the A. M. E. church in Georgia, addressed the body on the coming census, urging pastors to use pulpits to have members of the race number families in full when approached by the workers.

E. H. Kelley, A. P. Lightner and Rev. W. B. Adams spoke before the union.

BYRD EXPEDITION FACING BANKRUPTCY

Commander Says His Funds Are Nearly Gone—Leave Planes Behind.

DUNEDIN, March 11.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd said here today that his expedition which returned Monday from its conquest of the south pole's vast region of ice, was on the verge of bankruptcy. He hoped, however, that it would "pull through all right."

Scarred by battering ice floes, his ships, the Eleanor Bolling and the City of New York, equipped at a cost estimated at $750,000, are being refitted at Dunedin's docks. Within ten days, they will carry Byrd and his 41 courageous men homeward through the Panama Canal to New York.

The ships will bear small cargoes. Behind them in the antarctic they left the airplanes used by Byrd and his men to map 280,000 square miles of land which previously had kept its secrets locked in mountains of ice. Even the plane which carried Byrd and three other men on their epochal flight over the south pole was left at Little America, the base camp, while the ships fought their way from the great barrier of ice through floes to the open sea.

But these planes are not to be sacrificed; Norwegian whaling ships are to bring them safely to civilization when the Winter King yields his dominion next season.

Poor in purse, rich in scientific accomplishments, the most completely equipped expedition ever to visit the polar regions is receiving the plaudits of New Zealand. Officials and plain citizens alike hail the success of the Americans and extend hospitality and entertainment.

The men who endured the cold and hardships of the antarctic for 14 months are tired but happy. They are indulging in joy rides in American automobiles. They like the feel of hard pavements under their feet in crowded streets after treading on snow in desolate loneliness.

But even those accustomed to the hurrying traffic of New York display a curious hesitancy in crossing the streets of this city of 85,000 inhabitants.

"Once I though New York was the biggest city in the world," said Maurice Hanson, chief radio engineer, "but Dunedin seems like the hub of the universe."

Man Is Arrested As 'Bill Jumper' When Bluff Fails

Bluffs, like lights, sometimes fail, and something of the kind undoubtedly happened in the case of W. J. Norton, described as one of the cleverest "hotel bill skippers in the country." He now is being held at police headquarters following a lengthy conversation with L. O. Moseley, manager of The Ansley, during which he is said to have masqueraded as a "Mr. Shaw" and freely discussed Mr. Norton, whom he had "just brought over from Birmingham."

Despite the fact that he knows "Mr. Shaw" fairly well, Mr. Moseley was completely taken aback by the calm, collected manner in which Norton conducted himself and some 15 minutes elapsed before he could bring himself to "call the bluff" and accuse his visitor of being Norton. The accusation was immediately admitted, Officers Stone and Brown called in, and the accused carried to headquarters.

Word was received here Tuesday that W. J. Norton had "jumped" a hotel bill in Birmingham and had started for Atlanta with a Mr. Shaw. Communicating with him at once, Mr. Moseley found that Shaw had been invited to lunch at the Ansley by his chance acquaintance, and official assistance was called.

Norton was paged in the lobby of the Ansley and called to the telephone. When approached by the officers, he calmly told them his name was Shaw and that he was looking for Norton. They suggested that he talk to the manager, and he promptly proceeded to do just that. The bluff, however, did not work quite long enough.

Norton, who is said to have come originally from Lafayette, Ga., apparently is "wanted" in at least six southern cities for cashing bad checks and running out on hotel bills, it was stated. Police here are still checking his past record. He was ordered held under $200 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct. His trial has been set for Thursday.

Atlanta Woman Asks $50,000 Love Balm

Miss Mary Alice Smiley, now of Nashville, Tenn., secretary to Edward A. Adams, an official of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, has been named defendant in a $50,000 alienation suit filed in the former city by Mrs. Adams, who lives in Atlanta.

Mrs. Adams charges in her bill of complaint that her husband's secretary, who gained rapid promotion in his employ, won the affection of Adams "by the use of wiles" and caused the estrangement and separation. A suit for permanent alimony is now pending in the Fulton superior court.

M. W. Bates To Rest In Lawrenceville

M. W. Bates, a native of Lawrenceville, but for many years a resident of Atlanta, died at his home in Center Hill, Fla., Tuesday afternoon. The body will be brought to Lawrenceville for funeral services and interment Thursday.

Mr. Bates is survived by his widow, a son, Howard Bates, of Miami, Fla., and three sisters, Mrs. Emma L. Wallace, of Atlanta; Mrs. L. P. Walker, of College Park, and Mrs. W. A. Davis, of Clearwater, Fla., and one brother, W. A. Bates, of Jacksonville, Florida.

Song Pageant Given By Big Bethel Choir

More than 3,00 people, of whom some 500 were white, attended the Bible story play and song pageant given by Big Bethel Choir No. 1 at the church, corner Auburn avenue and Butler streets, Monday night. Former Governor John M. Slaton was among those in attendance, and, in a brief talk he declared it to be his opinion that no colored choir in the world could surpass that of Big Bethel. Rev. B. G. Dawson, formerly of Chicago, came in for praise by a number of members of the audience who spoke.

Alabama Bankers Jailed in Huge Theft

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 11.—(AP)—Emmett C. Cox, president of the defunct First National bank of Tallassee, and Charles F. Fincher, cashier of the institution, were lodged in jail here tonight on charges of embezzling a total of $250,856.07 from the institution a few weeks before and about the time the bank closed near the middle of February.

The former officials were taken into custody by federal officers in Tallassee this afternoon following an examination of the bank's accounts by a federal examiner. They were arrested by order of the United States commissioner here and preliminary trial on the charges has been set for March 19, before the commissioner.

Title Firm Owes County $500,000 Petition Charges

The source from which William G. McRae, attorney, hopes to recover $500,000 for Fulton county under a proposal made to the county commission at a meeting last week, was revealed Tuesday in a suit filed by McRae in Fulton superior court in the name of Mrs. Marjorie McRae, a taxpayer, against the Atlanta Title and Trust Company.

According to McRae's petition to superior court, the Atlanta Title and Trust Company is indebted to the county in the sum of $505,800 for examinations of records and abstracts and inspections of records. McRae alleges that it is the duty of the defendant to pay $1.50 for the privilege of making each examination of record and abstract of result, and that the county is due $280,000 from this source for 187,200 examinations. Also, the attorney charges, the defendant is due the county $225,000 for 900,000 inspections of record at 25 cents each.

The suit alleges that the defendant had no special interest in the subject matter of the records inspected, examined and abstracted, and that the defendant represented no one having a special interest in the subject matter. The attorney alleges that no persons or corporations have a right to inspect, examine and make abstracts from records in the office of the clerk for the purpose of making a full abstract of the contents without paying the fee prescribed by law, except that a person or corporation may make an inspection of the subject matter in such records without charge where the aid of the clerk is not required and where such person or corporation has a special interest in the subject matter or represents some person or corporation having such a special interest.

Sewer Improvements Voted by Committee

Four sewer improvements costing $4,300 were sanctioned Tuesday by the sewer committee of council, the funds to come from 1926 sewer bonds.

Included in the list are $2,000 for construction of a storm water sewer in Eastwood avenue from Delaware avenue to near Palatine avenue; $1,100 for extension of the Morningside storm water sewer; $500 for construction of a storm water drain in Madeira avenue, and another $500 for extension of the storm water drain near Westminster drive and Park Lane to near Barksdale drive.

The following lateral sewers also were recommended:

Spain place from near Whitaker street to the end of the street; Howell avenue from near McLendon avenue to near Harriett avenue, and Glenwood avenue from Hampton avenue to the end of the present sewer connections.

All the bond recommendations must be submitted to the Atlanta bond commission before they are finally approved. All the measures on which the sewer committee acted Tuesday afternoon will be offered to council Monday for approval of that body.

Schroeder Jury Selection Is Slow

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 11.—(AP)—The second day of the trial of Irene Schroeder, charged with the killing of Patrolman Brady Paul, opened today with both the state and defense hopeful that a jury would be obtained before nightfall.

Four jurors were selected out of 34 examined yesterday.

W. & A. Commission Signs Lease of Union Depot Site

The work of the Western and Atlantic commission was completed Tuesday afternoon when members of the body signed an instrument leasing the state-owned Union depot property to the United States Cold Storage Company.

The site of the depot will be used for a 26-story combined office building, warehouse and cold storage plant, construction of which is expected to begin about May 1, and which, under the terms of the contract, must be completed by May 1, 1931.

Copies of the contract will be sent to the warehouse company headquarters at Kansas City and to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad for their signatures. A copy will be returned to Governor L. G. Hardman for preservation among the state files.

The lease is for a period of 70 years, 40 of which are from the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, and the last 30, after the expiration of the lease of that railroad of the state's Western and Atlantic railroad properties, are from the state. A rental of $25,000 a year for the first 40 years and $35,000 for the last 30 is provided.

The attachment of the signatures of the members of the railroad commission, which was created by the last legislature for the express purpose of leasing the property, was in the nature of a formality, an express agreement to lease having been entered into several weeks ago. Since that time the power of the state to lease the property has been tested in the Fulton superior court.

The Western and Atlantic commission, it was said, Tuesday completed the work for which it was created. It probably will hold one other meeting for the purpose of preparing a report for submission to the next legislature. The members of the commission are Governor L. G. Hardman, C. Murphey Candler, Atlanta; Judge W. Frank Jenkins, of the court of appeals; W. D. Anderson, of Macon; W. D. Martin, of Dalton, and C. K. C. Ausley, of Thomasville.

The lease executed Tuesday was qualified as to a strip of land 7 feet in width lying along the south side of the depot property. Owners of abutting property advance a claim to this strip, and the lease carried notice of their claims. It was said that the strip is occupied by a railroad track and that the warehouse company does not contemplate building upon it.

It may interest the followers of the slow-tempo music produced by Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians over the Columbia network to know that of the ten members of the original orchestra, nine are still together after seven years.

Audrey Marsh, Columbia's latest radio find, is just 18 years old. The young lady is the possessor of a soprano voice that is considered very valuable for microphone work. Despite her youth, she played a leading role in "Abie's Irish Rose" for two years, followed by a featured appearence in "After Dark," a Hoboken product.

Emery Deutsch, director of the Gypsy orchestra on WABC, plays a violin which was given him by the famous gypsy, Janci Breknavatchi. The violin was willed to him many years ago and it was only in 1920 that Emery finally received the instrument. It is this he uses during all of his radio concerts.

Keith's Stars on Air Over WSB Tonight

Joseph Regan, who was awarded the R. K. O. gold medal as radio's most popular tenor, will be heard over WSB at 11 o'clock tonight on a program staged by Keith's Georgia theater and which also will include Eddie Stanley, vaudeville funster, and his partner, "Ginger," a cute, bricktopped lass.

Regan will present a group of numbers including popular songs done in ballad style and also will sing a group of Irish songs which have met with unusual approval on the part of audiences this week. He has announced that he will attempt to include all of the many request numbers that have come to the theater since his opening performance Monday.

Dance Orchestra On WGST Tonight

Stanley Mayo and his orchestra, popular Atlanta dance unit which was recently introduced at WGST, will again open the local broadcast calendar from the Georgia Tech station at the Ansley hotel tonight. Thirty minutes of dance music will be offered, beginning at 7 o'clock.

The Bamby Baker Boy, songster of the Atlanta Baking Company, occupies the 7:45 to 9 o'clock period, offering a program of request numbers. Other local features tonight include Miss Grace Gaffney and Mrs. Tom Suttles from 8 to 8:30 o'clock, and Miss Elsie Lynch from 9 to 9:30 o'clock, both units offering programs of popular songs.

The Hech High orchestra and quartet will fill the 8:30 to 9 o'clock period.

Girls' High Students To Give French Plays

Under the direction of Miss Caroline Larendon, of the French department of the Girls' High school, a French program will be given at Emory University Thursday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock in Room 103, Theology building.

One of Molier's plays, to be staged in costume, will be given by Misses Helen Chotas, Mildred McFall, Laurie Bell Stubbs, Katherine Williams, Elizabeth Cudlippe, Helen Geffen, Olive Lynch, Eleanor Williams and Caroline Larendon, all Girls' High students.

FOREIGN TRADE CLUB POSTPONES MEETING

The semi-monthly meeting of the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club, scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed until after the return of the Cuban good-will trade tour, it was announced Tuesday.

Rotarians Hear Talk By Col. Sandy Beaver

Colonel Sandy Beaver, president of Riverside Military Academy, of Gainesville, and one of the best known educators in the south, was principal speaker Tuesday at the Capital City Club at the weekly luncheon of the Atlanta Rotary Club.

Colonel Beaver spoke on the youth of the country and gave in detail the methods of handling boys, their instruction, athletic program and general welfare at Riverside Military academy. Several students from Riverside were present and were introduced to the Rotarians.

Riverside has the unusual distinction of being the only military institution in the south which has been designated by the United States government as an honor school for eight consecutive years. Several other Georgia institutions have been thus honored at various times.

Emory in Liaison Post At Veterans' Bureau

Walter Emory, of LaGrange, state treasurer of the Georgia department of Disabled American Veterans, has assumed his duties as liaison officer for the disabled veterans organization at the United States veterans' bureau in Atlanta. Dr. Jesse R. Farr, national executive committeeman of the disabled veterans, made the appointment.

Emory has been service officer for the LaGrange chapter of the disabled veterans and last fall served as assistant liaison officer here. He succeeds George R. Martin, of Washington, D. C., who resigned because of ill health.

Five Are Killed In Storm on Gulf

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, March 11. (AP)—One man, out of a crew of six, escaped death when the fishing smack Deamita foundered in a storm a few miles off this port.

Carlos Avila, the survivor, said that a giant wave overturned the craft, throwing the crew into the water in which sharks and barracuda were playing. Avila said he personally saw two of his struggling companions devoured by the fish.

He managed to reach a rock and clung there 50 hours until he was picked up by a boat. The captain of the ship, Jose Anis Merillo, he said, as his craft capsized, shouted: "We are lost. But we will rejoin you in another world. Adois."

Runs Half-Mile To Report Robbery

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., March 11. (AP)—Terrified by menacing pistols in the hands of five youthful bandits who had robbed him of $60, the proprietor of a filling station here, ran a half-mile, past several telephones, to report the robbery at police headquarters.

He was unable to describe the robbers, but said that the five men escaped in a large high-powered car.

One-Year Sentence Given to Freidman

A sentence of one year was given Morris Freidman, 42, Tuesday by a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court. He was charged with attempted arson.

The indictment against Freidman charges that he attempted to set fire to a store at 127 South Main street, East Point, on March 2, 1929, by placing a lighted tallow candle in a pasteboard box with strips of celluloid, an inflammable material, in a vacant room over the store. The property is owned by Mrs. Pauline Furstenburg, it was said.

Man Given 12 Months For Larceny of Bag

Larceny of a bag containing personal property of Madison S. Massey from the Terminal station Tuesday cost Glenn Whitehead a term of 12 months when Whitehead pleaded guilty in Judge John D. Humphries' division of Fulton superior court. The bag and contents, valued at $150, were stolen on February 6, according to the indictment.

Elijah Buchannon was given a term of from three to five years by Judge Humphries following Buchannon's plea of guilty to a charge of burglarizing the store of C. P. Suber, at Ben Hill, on January 25 and stealing raincoats, pocket knives, cigarets, etc., valued at a total of $100.

Two Youths Held In Kidnaping Plot

The officers were aided in the arrests by Bradley Jobe, Pine Bluff politician, who said he also was kidnaped from the streets of Pine Bluff and robbed by the two men.

Sapp was arrested near his home at Doyline in Webster parish while Majors was arrested in a house at Shreveport. Officers said both men were identified by Quattlebaum, who also accompanied the officers.

Modern 'Bill' Tell Act Wounds Youth

LA PORTE, Ind., March 11.—(AP) A backyards William Tell act with a few modern trimmings ended yesterday not in applause, but in shrieks and groans.

Leland Day, 15, had seen his chum, Harry Mandeville, 14, knock can after can off a fence post with his small calibre rifle. So Leland placed a can on top of his head and shouted:

SHIKAT, JONES MEET TONIGHT AT AUDITORIUM

Mat Show To Open at 8:15; Feature Starts at 9:15.

Dick Shikat, the young German giant, recognized by the National Boxing Association as the world's heavyweight champion wrestler, makes his debut tonight at the auditorium in Atlanta in a match with Paul Jones, the Texas scissors artist.

Shikat is being brought here by Henry Weber, promoter, for the feature bout on a card that offers as a semi-windup Roy LaDucy, of Montreal, and Charles Fox, of Cleveland. A curtain raising one-fall match will open the show at 8:15.

As far as the records show, the gigantic Germar has not lost a match since he came to America six years ago to enter the lists. When the National Boxing Association took over control of the mat game and proclaimed five contenders who would work through an elimination series for the title, Shikat was one of the five nominees.

MEETS LONDOS.

After Shikat had defeated Pete Sauer and Rudy Dusek, he was matched with Jimmy Londos, the idol of the Greeks. The winner was to meet Gus Sonnenberg, the man who made the flying tackle famous, for the championship.

Shikat defeated Londos. Since then Sonnenberg has refused to meet him for the crown, Promoter Weber says, and the N. B. A. has recognized the German as the titleholder.

Paul Jones, the hard working Texan is certain to give Shikat a hard fight. Jones has been wrestling here for years and has never failed to please his crowds. He is a lithe, fast-moving young man with plenty of power at every grip and a scissors hold that is a terror.

JONES IS COMER.

Jones is rated but one flight below Shikat and is considered a real comer who has a royal chance to take the title some day.

Atlanta wrestling fans have been waiting to get a look at Shikat ever since he crashed through the N. B. A. eliminations. Promoter Weber expects a capacity crowd for the show. His contests have been drawing gates that have steadily increased attesting to the high quality of the sport offered and the smoothness of the arrangements.

The main bout will be started at 9:15 o'clock sharp. If the semi-windup bout between LaDucy and Fox is not finished by that time it will be stopped, the promoter says.

EARLY ENDING.

"A wrestling show should be over by 11 o'clock," Promoter Weber says. "People do not like to get home at all hours of the night when a main event is drawn out. With Paul Jones going his best, Shikat will have a hard time wearing him down, if he can win at all. The main event will be contested under Police Gazette rules, two falls out of three."

With fair weather in prospect the auditorium should be packed for the contests. Advance sales of tickets have been highly encouraging.

Two Dogs Matched In Finals Today

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., March 11.—(AP)—Mary Blue, pointer, and Feagin's Mohawk Pal, setter, will run in a final heat here tomorrow for the national birddog championship. Both dogs have won the title on other occasions. Mary Blue won last year and Mohawk Pal won two championships previously.

Mary Blue outworked Rod M's Dan, setter owned by E. R. Beetham, of Cleveland, in the final scheduled heat today. Dan found more birds than Mary, but the pointer's endurance gave her the heat. Dan found seven bevies and Mary six, but the pointer ran around the setter and was going strong at the finish.

Mary is owned by W. C. Teagle, of New York, and her opponent in the next heat is the property of E. M. Tutwiler, Jr., Birmingham. Pal won the right to work in the finals by his performance last week.

Kadie II, owned by H. D. Vail, of Mount Gilead, Ohio, and Arbu Betty, property of Robert Herndon, of Detroit, worked in the first brace of a second series today. Both are setters and cannot be counted out of the race, particularly if Mary or Pal turn in poor jobs tomorrow. Katie made one good find and Betty spotted three, but two of them were not well located. A high wind handicaped the dogs.

The races this year have not been outstanding and no sparkling performances have been turned in, but dog enthusiasts look for a good race between Mary and Pal tomorrow.

Prep Baseball Meeting Slated

Schedules for the nine Atlanta prep baseball teams will be completed at 6 o'clock tonight at a meeting of the city prep league members in Coach Joe Bean's office at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Officials for the baseball season also will be named at the meeting.

Tech High and Boys' High, just completing their spring football work, will start diamond work this afternoon at Piedmont park. Tech High will practice on its former diamond at the northwest corner of the park, with University on the northeast corner and Boys' High on the southeast section.

Crackers Now Far Ahead of Rivals---Turn In First Box Scores of Season.

While other Southern league clubs are beginning to make preparations to start to inaugurate spring training in earnest—while the noble athletes are straggling into other camps with various hard luck stories as to why they were delayed—the Crackers are knee-deep in work at Douglas.

The contrast between the Cracker training operations as of this date and those of competing clubs is striking.

Birmingham and Memphis have plenty of players on hand and have been doing their best to speed up practice but weather conditions have been unfavorable.

The others are in various stages of getting dressed. To carry on the simile, some are wearing nothing but a towel so far.

The Crackers already have started their Regular-Yannigan games and box scores have budded in the papers. Johnny Dobbs has been steering a mean wheel since he took the driver's seat.

PELS BACKWARD; LOOKOUTS JUST STARTING.

One gathers from all reports that the Pelicans are a bit backward this spring due to one thing and another. Larry Gilbert likes to win those early games but his regulars were not in a hurry to report, it seems.

Wild Bill Rodgers, of raw-meat fame, is just getting his regulars down to work this week. Battery men were on hand last week. It is plenty chilly in Chattanooga this time of year and is no spot to get frisky in early March.

BEARS AND CHICKS.

Fifteen players have reported to Jimmy Hamilton at Mobile. They have been so busy down there getting financial affairs arranged that spring practice was sort of tardy. Two of the first to report were Axel Lindstrom and Gallatin Tom Rogers; the old-timers mean business.

The Chicks dodged rainy weather last week by working in the cattle barn at the state fair grounds and this week got away to a fine start.

There are 13 pitchers in camp. One of them is Old Slim Love, once a great lefthander, now a free agent. Old Slim started in Memphis 15 years ago, went to the majors and drifted down this way again.

BARONS, TRAVELERS AND VOLS.

The Barons are rushing along trying to get in shape for two exhibition games this week-end with Toledo Mudhens. Toledo is training at Anniston.

Seventeen Travelers have started work at Hot Springs, across the street from the Milwaukee Brewers. Exhibition games will be played between the two neighbors. There may be some trading and swapping done, too.

The Vols started work Monday. Manager Clarence Rowland likes them big and lefthanded at the plate and his roster shows almost none but giants. The Vols always are up there in first division.

WHERE THEY FIGHT.

Roy Booker attended a boxing show at Fort Benning recently and was so carried away with the experience he passed the word along in a letter. He says:

Recently I had a business trip to make to Columbus, Ga. My friend, Allen Woodall, met me at the train and stated I had wired him just in time for him to get me a ticket to the semi-monthly boxing bouts which they held at Fort Benning.

I am a tair-to-middling fight fan, and frankly, it was purely a matter of indifference to me whether I went or not. However, I was certainly repaid several times over for the trip out to Fort Benning with Allen and his friends.

The word "boxing" as applied to those affairs at Fort Benning is really a misnomer. When I say fight, I mean just that. My descriptive powers are entirely inadequate to tell you what happened during the eight or nine bouts put on that evening. All I am asking you to do is to go down and see for yourself just what is going on.

Sufficient to say, out of the eight or nine bouts there were five knockouts and plenty of excitement from the beginning. Another thing that I liked about them, there were no long waits. Immediately upon the conclusion of one bout the next pair were coming into the ring. There are no waits over, say one or two minutes, between bouts.

The crowd is colorful. There is a negro regiment out at Fort Benning, which furnishes the band for the bouts. They have a knack of playing very appropriate tunes at times, as for instance, "Oh, How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning," just as some poor devil was being dragged to his corner in a semi-conscious state.

Civilians, both men and women, as well as a sprinkling of officers and their wives, make up the very enthusiastic and highly emotional audience.

FATHER LUMPKIN TO RETURN.

Roy (Father) Lumpkin, who drops 'em with one blow from five knuckles encased in a leather mitt, is going to fight in Atlanta in April.

Lumpkin said yesterday just before leaving for Johnson City, Tenn., that he had agreed to fight an opponent to be selected by an Atlanta promoter as soon as he had finished with his matches already contracted.

The ex-fullback fights in Johnson City, Knoxville and Cincinnati within eight days. He is definitely committed to the fight game now and unless he receives a setback in the person of a man counting "ten" slowly over his prostrate form, he might not play football again.

Nats Are Ordered To Repay Chicks

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis today ordered the Washington club, of the American league, to pay $3,000 to the Memphis, Tenn., club for the contract of Clarence Thomas, an incapacitated baseball player.

Washington sent Thomas to Memphis in 1927, but before he reported the player became physically unable to play and was placed on the voluntarily retired list. Memphis appealed to Commissioner Landis for return of the $3,000 paid for the player.

Bing Miller To Wed Philadelphia Girl

FOR MYERS, Fla., March 11.—(AP) Edmond J. "Bing" Miller, heavy hitting outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Miss Helen F. Bennett, Philadelphia society girl, will be married here Sunday morning at St. Xavier Catholic church, it was learned today when Miller failed to join the squad on an exhibition trip.

Miss Bennett is a keen baseball fan and has known Miller for seven years. Their engagement was made known last Christmas, but plans for the marriage were secret until today.

SMITH, DUDLEY MEET DEFEAT ON LAST HOLE

Favorites in Four-Ball Meet Lose on 36th Green at Miami.

By Rex Saffer,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MIAMI, Fla., March 11.—(AP)—Horton Smith, valiant youngster of the links, took a 36th-hole drubbing today as he and his partner, Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., were eliminated 1 up in quarter-final play of the $5,000 international four-ball matches.

Neil McIntyre, Indianapolis, sunk a 12-foot putt for a birdie four on the lengthy 36th hole of Miami Country Club course to advance himself and Harry Hampton, Chicago, to semi-finals of the affair in spite of early predictions that Smith recently signed at Cragston, N. Y., and Dudley would be finalists.

OVERWHELMED.

Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadow, L. I., and Johnny Farrell, St. Augustine, Fla., both veterans to four-ball play here, overwhelmed Frank Walsh, Chicago, and Al Watrous, Detroit, 5 and 4, in their matches today and prepared to resume play tomorrow toward the crown that they won in 1927, only to lose last year to Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel.

Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., and Densmore Shute, Columbus, Ohio, developed a latter-day spurt of birdies to take their 36-hole match, 3 and 2, from Al Espinosa, Chicago, and Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N. J., after the latter had squeezed an early morning advantage in their favor.

Cyril Walker, Saddle River, N. J., and Clarence Kamber, Boca Raton, Fla., played consistent golf through the day to win, 3 and 2, from Jock Collins, Dayton, Ohio, and Eddie Williams, Cleveland.

Hampton and McIntyre developed a smooth golfing combination that defied Smith's desperate afternoon attempts to forge another step toward the championship crown that hitherto has been worn by old-timers at the golfing game.

GRAB EARLY LEAD.

Hampton and McIntyre copped the first two holes of the day with birdies, but were able to collect only a best ball par four on the third as against Smith's birdie three. Smith and Dudley took the fourth, but lost the fifth to another birdie from the club of Hampton. They halved the sixth and split the seventh and eighth, Dudley stroking a par four to win the ninth.

A birdie deuce by Hampton cost Smith and Dudley the 11th in the morning after they halved the tenth hole. The next four holes were halved as the four players developed wood and iron accuracy for par figures. Smith and Dudley took the 16th hole, but were forced to stand even at the 18th after a pair of halved holes.

Hampton and McIntyre poled birdie fours at the 19th to take a 1-up advantage that they held through the 24th hole, when they won another, halving the 26th and losing the 27th. Neither pair was able to change the status of things until the 31st, when Smith assumed the burden of play to sink a birdie three. From then on Horton carried the attempt to win, but after two more sub-par holes that tied the teams up at the end of the 35th, McInyre sunk his 12-foot putt for a four to win the match.

Carnera Kayoes Sully Montgomery

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 11. (UN)—Primo Carnera, the Italian Behemoth, who has ambitions to win the heavyweight boxing title, tonight scored his ninth consecutive knockout victory in this country at the expense of Sully Montgomery.

Montgomery, once a great football player, but never considered an exceptional fighter, succumbed to Carnera's punches after one minute and 15 seconds of the second round.

Football Wins

DOWS, Iowa, March 11.—(AP)—A movement to outlaw football as a sport at the Dows High school has been defeated. As protests grew against the sport the perplexed school board put it up to the local voters. The score was 114 to 86 in favor of the game.

Meadows Says Nothing to Dobbs

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 11.—Manager Johnny Dobbs said tonight that he had heard nothing from Lee Meadows, former Pirate pitcher, with regard to his wanting a job with the Crackers. Meadows played a part of last season in the American association and had an unsuccessful summer. Jim Brice, the red head from the New York-Pennsylvania league, reported this morning and worked out today.

With his arrival the Crackers have only Ernie Koob, who is not expected until tomorrow; Ivy Griffin, first baseman with Milwaukee last year, and Johnny Jones, the self-confessed holdout, absent from camp.

What Well Dressed Ex-Champs Wear

Here are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tunney wintering at Miami Beach. Mr. Tunney, once a prizefighter and heavyweight champion, is recovering from an operation performed recently in New York. Mr. Tunney is now devoting his days to loafing and being well dressed. He seems to be eminently successful at both pursuits.

RING PAIRINGS SLATED TODAY

Southeastern A. A. U. Tourney Opens at A.A.C. Friday Afternoon.

By Roy White.

With more than 30 entries already in the hands of the committee and at least 20 others expected today, pairing for the first annual Southeastern A. A. U. boxing tournament will be made at a meeting of the boxing committee at 6 o'clock tonight at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Steve Hartney is chairman of the committee, with Mike Chambers, the Georgia Tech trainer, and Joe Bean, athletic director at the club, as assistants.

The eliminations will start Friday afternoon and there will be plenty of action in each of the fights. There will be boxing in each of the divisions on the afternoon and night program. Another series of eliminations will be staged Saturday afternoon, and Saturday night with the finals scheduled to be held Monday night.

Members of the committee have decided that the bouts will be three three-minute rounds with a one minute intermission. In case there is a difference of opinion among the judges, an extra three-minute round will be allowed. Starting times for the Friday events depends upon the exact number of entries.

Jakek Abel, Mike Chambers and Sergeant Foster, of Fort McPherson, will be the referees. Abel is a veteran local fighter and has refereed many fights in local rings. Chambers is coach of the Georgia Tech boxing and wrestling team and has been assisting in boxing instructions at the athletic club. Sergeant Foster has been interested in prize fighting at Fort McPherson.

Particular interest is being centered in the University of Georgia boxing team. Fielding Russell, captain of the team and son of Judge Richard B. Russell, is the star on the team. He won the bantamweight division at the recent southern conference tournament at Lexington, Va. He won all of the elimination bouts by knockouts and then won the conference bantamweight championship by a knockout.

Lem Clark is another of the Red and Black team who is expected to last several rounds in the eliminations. There will be six entries from University of Georgia.

Georgia Military Academy, of College Park, has six entries, which will be filed today. Carpenter is the best bet of the cadets. He recently won a decision over Duverney, a heavyweight from Riverside, on a card at the athletic club. Carpenter is reported to have more than a dozen knockouts to his amateur record.

Atlanta Athletic Club will have a good representation at the tournamen with more than a dozen fighters on the program.

By Ralph McGill,

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 11.—There is something in the bucolic air which acts as a specific soporific. No better illustration of that assertion is needed as substantiation than a look at the lobby of the Doucoff hotel lobby at about 9 o'clock each evening.

By that time there are plenty of noggins nodding on the broad shoulders of the athletes. For a time your correspondent worked on the idea that it was the exercise which the Cracker ball players take in training here which made them inclined to seek the cool caresses of the sheets at about the time the first show is thinking about ending around the corner at the Rivoli theater.

This was promptly disproved by a look at the traveling men who take no exercise at all beyond pulls at cigars and bottles. They, too, were all exceedingly sleepy.

At 10 o'clock one may walk up the halls and hear snores and the mutterings of sleeping men. There is something in the air which overpowers the senses and sends one yawning to bed.

ROOS EXPLAINS.

All this was very nicely explained tonight by Mr. Chick Roos, the city man. Mr. Roos, who is secretary of the Atlanta ball club, spent several years at Mobile where they have a large supply of country air. Hence Mr. Roos may be said to qualify as an expert on rural air and its effect on the human mechanism which produces sleep.

"It is all a mistake," said Mr. Roos, "to assume that the country air is healthy. You often hear doctors prescribe country air for invalids and sick people. This is a very grave mistake.

"Country air," said Mr. Roos, "is not nearly as healthy as city air."

STARTLING STATEMENT.

This, of course, was a startling declaration and upset the cumulative force of the fresh air adherents. Nevertheless, Mr. Roos remained firm. City air is much healthier than country air, he says.

"Why, you have only to look about you," continued Mr. Roos. "What do you see? You see a number of men and women sitting with dull and listless eyes, their faces lacking expression, their eyes drugged and lusterless.

"What is the matter? They have been poisoned by country air.

"If you were in a city of size at this time of the night you would find an eager people, donning dress clothes and setting out in search of entertainment. They would be vivacious, lively. Their eyes would be lively and sparkling with anticipation. They would be animated, entertaining, and ready to go places and see things.

"What do you find in the country? What happens when you go to the farm to visit Uncle Jerry or Grandma? You know as well as I do what you find. You find a lot of people who grow duller and duller until they finally stagger off to bed about 9 o'clock.

"And what happens in the morn-

Two Games Set For Crackers

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 11.—Two games will be played by the Crackers this week. The game with Nashville, Georgia semi-pro team, will be played Friday instead of Wednesday, and on Saturday a full Regular-Yannigan game will be played. Admission will be charged to both games. The organization of businessmen who brought the Crackers here will have charge of all the exhibition games. In addition to these games short practice games will be played tomorrow and Thursday.

Favorites Are Upset In K. C. Tournament

KANSAS CITY, March 17.—(AP)—The Kansas City Strandbergs, one of the favorites to win the National A. A. U. basketball tournament, were eliminated in a second-round game tonight by the South Side Turners of Indianapolis, 21 at 18. The Turners were semi-finalists last year in the national event.

Constitution Staff Correspondent.

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 11.—Big Ed Brown, old High Pockets himself, pocketed most of the glory this afternoon as the Cracker regulars avenged the tie game of Monday by plastering a 9-to-3 defeat on the yannigans.

In four times at bat Ed Brown smashed out two doubles and a home run. That home run was a smashing drive that went sailing, sailing over the bounding main and the left field fence. The distance to the left field fence at Douglas is 331 feet and that ball was still traveling when it went over. It would have easily reached the republican stands at Spiller field. It was the kind of home run Casey meant to hit and didn't.

There were two men on base in the fourth when Ed Brown's home run bobbed up. That was the biggest event of a big inning in which the regulars scored five runs and got five base hits. Jim Griffith, a tall Atlantan, was pitching and he was roughly treated. In the previous inning the regulars had reached him for a brace of tallies and three hits. The regulars got 15 hits during the seven-inning game while the yannigans collected but seven.

BUSY MILTON.

Milt Stock was an extremely busy man. He seems to be in shape right now. He was on base four times, twice with hits, once by walk and again by an error. His single in the third drove in two runs. He and Brown accounted for six of the nine runs made by the regulars.

Milt Stock is going to be quite a ball player for the Crackers. The cheering sections may as well reserve him a carload or so of cheers. He is going to get them. And if Ed Brown, the big end man from Toledo, doesn't increase the pulse beats of the fans this summer it will be because they are cold and hard. The Crackers in their second game of the spring season managed to look very good indeed. John Dobbs will get a ball club out of them.

WINGO DESERTS.

Ivy Wingo, who managed the yannigans into a tie with the regulars on Monday, deserted today and was wearing the wiadpad and mitt for the regulars. The citizen of Norcross looked very fine indeed. He isn't in shape yet but he caught well and he threw well when he had to. Not only that but he was coaching the young pitchers he handled, correcting their mistakes during the game.

Jimmy Johnston, another of the veterans, was scurrying about. The club performed with a lot of paprika in everything it did. It is a bustling baseball squad.

CARD MANAGER SOLIDLY BACKED BY HIS SQUAD

By Walter Trumbull.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—Gabby Street, whose fingers were twisted by catching Walter Johnson, when the Washington speed king was at his best, is now Charles E. Street, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and you can say this for him: No leader ever had men more anxious to do well; the players are for him from baseball caps to spikes.

St. Louis has had many managers—one a year has been the average—but I doubt whether any of them had the whole-hearted loyalty which appears to exist for Street. The boys will win for him if they can. Street himself makes no wild predictions.

"You can't boast in the spring," he says, "without facing the danger of having to take it back during the fall. But I do believe that if I can manage to work a bit more strength out of my pitching staff, this club will be in the race all the way. I don't say we will win the flag. Chicago has a great ball club, probably a stronger club than last season, and it will be hard to stop; but I do say that, if we get the pitching, any team will have to play great ball to beat us.

ACUTE LOSSES.

"Chicago and Pittsburgh combined won either 21 or 22 straight games from us last year. If we had split even on these games, you can figure out the difference it would have made. We didn't finish any higher because we couldn't beat the teams above us. I am hoping that we can change that.

"I'll carry 9 or 10 pitchers and it will be strange if I can't find four or five winners in the lot. Haines is still a good pitcher. Sylvester Johnson is a fine pitcher. I don't think Sherdel is through; he has a lot of good pitching left in him yet and Clarence Mitchell should be good for some games if you give him plenty of rest between contests. That old left-handed spitballer knows how to pitch. Then there is Carmen Hill and Harold Haid. Haid is the best relief pitcher in the league.

"Al Grabowski and Jim Lindsey showed me something last year when they beat Chicago and Pittsburgh. Hallahan has a lot of stuff and Frankhouse looks good. I don't see why we shouldn't get the pitching we need. As for catching, I think Jim Wilson is the best catcher I know; then I have Earl Smith and O'Neil.

SURE STARTERS.

"Hafey and Douthit are sure to start in the outfield. The third man will depend a lot on the condition of the leg Roettger broke. I have Orsatti, Blades, Martin and Peel to try for that other place. There is nothing wrong with our outfield.

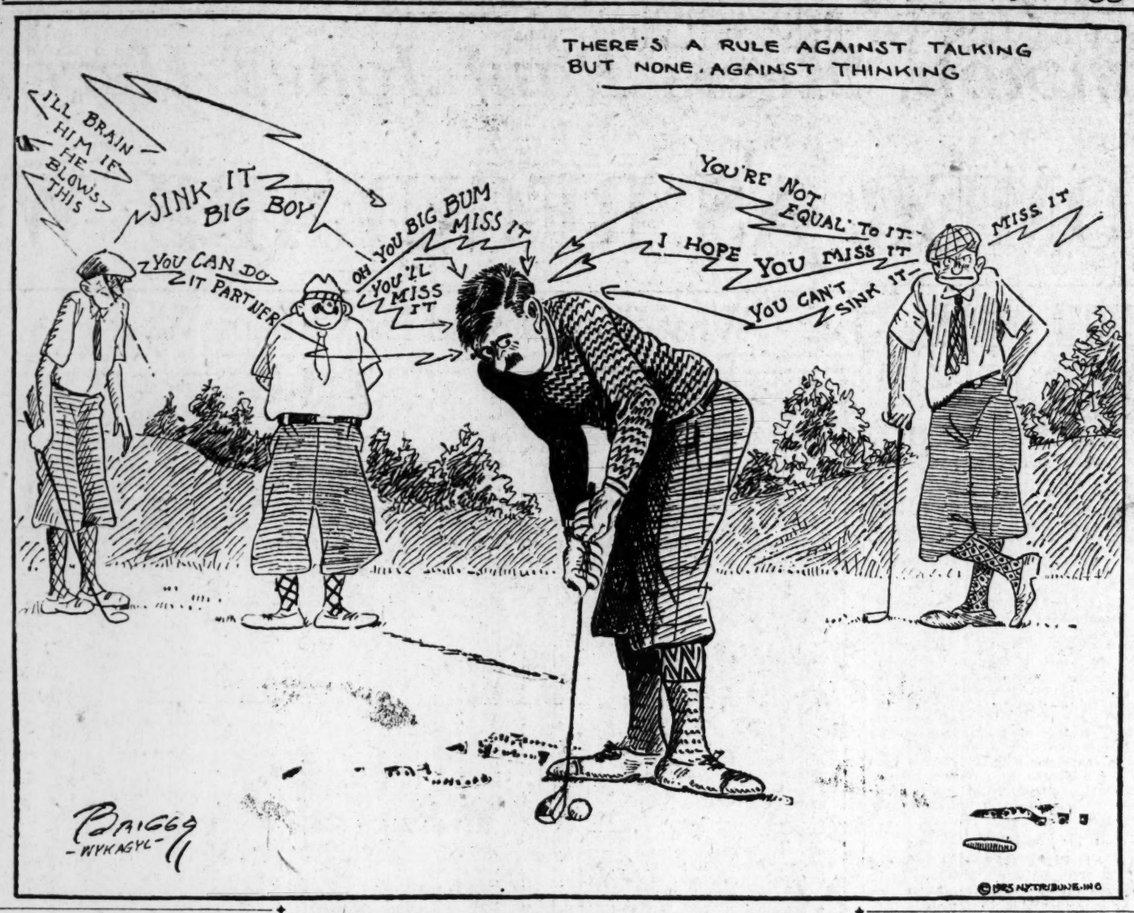

"As for the infield, Bottomley will be at first, Frisch at second, Gilbert at short and High at third. Gilbert is a star. If he isn't the best shortstop in baseball this season, I'll be badly disappointed. High is a great hitter, especially in the pinches, but he hasn't a lot of stamina. When he needs a rest, I can put Adams on third and then bring High back when he is in shape. Adams is a fine reserve man.

He can play about anywhere in the infield. Hunt has a fine reputation as a third baseman and I'll probably carry him, too. I have a good ball club, and I expect it to make a good showing.

"Pittsburgh? I expect the Pirates to be stronger, the Waners are fine hitters and if that young first baseman makes good they probably will have a better team, especially on attack. The Giants look weak in certain spots, but any team led by McGraw always is dangerous."

"I want to get off to a good start," Street says. "When you are in front the other clubs have to catch you, and that is a lot better than having to chase them. The games you win in April you don't have to worry about in September. I hope to have a couple of spring pitchers ready to go."

SHAWKEY FACES TOUGHEST JOB OF ALL PILOTS

Yankee Club, Being Rebuilt, Is Expected To Be Winner.

By George Moriarty.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The toughest managerial task this year falls to the lot of Miller Huggins' successor, Bob Shawkey, of the New York Yankees.

The last five years have marked a decided change in managerial appointments and service. In the old days managers signed long-term contracts and experienced little trouble in lasting at least six years, while of late there have been constant changes after one and two-year periods.

In taking up the reins dropped by Miller Huggins, Bob Shawkey faces a mammoth job. The Yankees won seven pennants during Huggins' tenure, and it is only natural that their followers expect them to continue their thunderbolt tendencies.

BEING REBUILT.

In all fairness to Shawkey, it must be said that the Yankees are somewhat in the stages of rebuilding. Bob Meusel, once one of the five feared sluggers, is now out of the picture. However, the incomparable Babe Ruth and his power-house partner, Gehrig, twinkle tremendously, and the success of the club depends largely upon these mighty mortals of maul.

Other departments border on problematical phases, particularly the pitching, but if Shawkey is fortunate in picking up the desired material the Yankees may get hot enough to burn up the league again.

Bill Killefer, Charley Street and Jewel Ens, respectively of the St. Louis Browns, Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, line up directly behind Shawkey relative to difficult assignments. The Browns finished fourth in 1929, and must do as well or better this year to lend Killefer the proper managerial prestige. Street and Ens tackle similar roles as bosses of the Cardinals and Pirates.

GAMBLING CHANCE.

Wherever there has been a choice of jobs in the past few years, it is noticeable that managers prefer to cast their fortunes with second division clubs, and thereby take the gambling chance of rising out of the mire rather than the risk of assuming the head-man duties of a first division club with pennant aspirations. Starting in the vicinity of the bottom is the much preferred employment as little improvement is expected of the manager under such conditions. It is somewhat like the situation of the doctor whose praises are sung when he puts a dying patient back in robust health.

The prospect of making rookies into stars is another feature that appeals to managers. A team head gets his biggest kick in watching a once lowly team sprout skyward under his tutelage. As an illustration of managerial preference for a second division club, observe how Donie Bush fled the high-geared Pittsburgh outfit last year when impossible results were expected of him. Removed from pennant demands, he seems exceedingly contented at the possibility of elevating the White Sox to a satisfactory place in the major league sun.

HOWLEY'S ENTHUSIASM.

Further proof is noted in Dan Howley's enthusiasm since he took over the lowly Cincinnati Reds. It seems to invoke the ancient human dictum: Don't ask too much of a man, and he may surprise you with more than you expect.

Look at what Roger Peckinpaugh accomplished with the Cleveland Indians last year. And don't overlook Bill McKechnie, the new pilot of the Boston Braves; the lack luster of an alleged second division club brings Bill double the amount of contentment he enjoyed while he was attired in resplendent pennant togs, first as manager of the Pirates, and later as bench-beacon of the Cardinals.

Scott League

Two very close and also important games were played in the Trammell Scott league at the Jewish Progressive Club Tuesday night. The championship of the league depended upon these games and they were won by very slight margins.

Gulf Refining Company lost to Pullman Company, 19 to 16, but First National, the only team that had a chance of beating out Gulf for the championship had already been beaten in the first game by Western Electric Installers, 17 to 15, so Gulf is practically sure of the championship in spite of the defeat.

In the final series First National plays General Motors and Gulf plays Western Electric Telephone Department. If Gulf wins it will be 1930 champion of the league.

Coffman and M. Adams played their usual good games against the Installers, but Causey and Sanders had a night on, and rang the basket more than usual.

Virilyn Moore was back in the Pullman lineup and scored 10 points for the team, causing them to win. Gulf forwards were a bit off of form also.

MANY ROOKIES ARE EXPECTED TO LAND JOBS

Flock of Freshmen Come Bearing Huge Price Markers.

By Jay Vessels.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—All of this complimentary talk about the way those rookie flashes performed in 1929 has been great stuff.

It gave the recruits a good send-off in their departure for the big leagues and it also made pleasant reading.

But from now on what the boys did in the bushes isn't going to count, for the time has come for the youngsters to get out and prove that they deserve to keep company with the elite of baseball.

Some of the freshmen appear to be certain successes. They include First Baseman Gus Suhr, Pirates; Third Baseman Tony Cuccinello, Reds; Outfielder Walter Berger, Braves; Pitcher Lyn Nelson, Cubs; Third Baseman Ben Chapmna, Yankees; Outfielder Tripp Sigman, Phillies, and Outfielder Smead Jolley, White Sox.

Others in the "sure-shot" class include: Outfielder Dusty Cooke, Yankees; First Baseman Bruce Caldwell, Indians; Second Baseman Eddie Marshall, Giants; Pitcher Elon Hogsett, Tigers; Pitcher Harry Smythe, Phillies; Infielders Finn and Slade, Brooklyn; Outfielder Eliza Funk, Tigers, and Shortstop Eric McNair and Pitcher Mahaffey, Athletics.

Among the other recruits of various grades are:

CUBS—Pitchers Moss, Lautenbacher, McAfee, Teachout, Warneke; Infielders Jones, Jurgess; Outfielder Taylor.

Providence Names Two Grid Leaders

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 11.—(UN)—The election of two captains for the Providence College varsity football team for 1930 resulted today when 18 lettermen deadlocked in the balloting.

The two men chosen were Mark L. McGovern, of Flint, Mich., and Hanley A. Zande, of Torrington, Conn. They were elected by a like number of votes after several ballots had been cast.

Pro-Amateur Loop Opens Play Today

First round matches in the Atlanta Pro-Amateur Golf league are scheduled to be played this afternoon on the Capital City and Ingleside Country Club courses.

Lanier Reed and G. H. Rudolph, representing Forrest Hills course, will play Jimmy Livingston, Robert Schwab on the Ingleside Club course.

Howard Beckett and Harry Huff will entertain Tommy Wilson and H. R. Wagar, of Ansley Park, on the Capital City course in their first match of the year.

Stockade and Black Rock are scheduled to play at Black Rock, and Piedmont Park is scheduled to play West End on the West End course in the other matches. Billy Wilson and his Piedmont partner will play Albert Jones and his West End partner next Monday afternoon. No definite date has been set for the Stockade-Black Rock match.

Another meeting of the Atlanta Professional Golf Association will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at Ansley Park Club. Second round matches are scheduled to start next Monday, with two weeks given for the matches to be completed. Harry Stephens, of Druid Hills, is president of the association.

RURAL AIR POISONOUS

ing? Why, they sleep as late as possible and come back to life yawning and tired.

"I tell you," continued Mr. Roos, warming to his subject, "the country air is a very definite poison. The farmers boast that they go to bed at dark. It is simply because they are poisoned by the air.

"There is nothing finer for the human respiratory system than an air which is two parts smoke, three parts exhaust from automobiles, five parts gas leaks, six parts dust, one part burned rubber, with equal parts of tobacco and smoke from the railroad yards.

"That is real air," said Mr. Roos. "When a man or woman breathes that his blood courses faster, his eyes brighten. He is away for the night. He is not dull and nodding at 8:30 o'clock. I could come right here in the lobby and burn some rubber, let an automobile exhaust pipe exude its fumes in here and in 10 minutes every man would be awake and wanting to go to the movies.

"I have thought this for a long time," said Mr. Roos, "and I recently read a substantiation of my ideas in a magazine of note. I am but repeating his ideas. Country air is poison. What do you say?"

It was very unfortunate for Mr. Roos because when he ceased talking it was found that everyone in the lobby was asleep and he had to awaken all of them and send them off to bed.

REGULARS WIN, 9 TO 3

Not only that, but Lefty Wierman explained the balls, saying they were too high or low.

This was very much unlike Bill Brennan. Once Bill Brennan was umpiring; he called a ball and Benny Frey, the Nashville pitcher, rushed up and asked what was the matter with it.

"I call them, I don't explain them," said Bill Brennan, rocking on his heels and standing on his dignity.

Six pitchers worked this afternoon. Don Brennan, John Rydzewski, the tall totem pole from Poland, and Jim Segraves worked to the regulars. Nick Domovich, the left-hander; Jim Griffith and Red Oldham, also southpaws, gave the regulars a look at crooked arm pitching.

The tall totem pole worked three innings and allowed three hits and no runs. His work was about the best of the afternoon, so far as the sharpshooters were concerned.

"Rydzewski looks better than any of the young recruits," said Johnny Dobbs after the game was played.

Incidentally Rydzewski's name is pronounced as if it were the word reduce with a ski on the end of it. Which should make his name one your wife will remember, most wives being interested in reducing.

The rain did not halt any of the workouts today. There were few showers in the morning, but they halted by the time the club was on the field and in the afternoon a hot sun was out.

Easter Hero Wins English Cup Race

CHELTENHAM, England, March 11.—(UN)—The American horse, Easter Hero, owned by J. H. Whitney, won the Cheltenham gold cup race today and improved his standing among the leading contenders for the Grand National Steeplechase to be run at Aintree March 28.

Easter Hero defeated C. R. Taylor's Grakle in the three and a quarter mile test. Colonel G. Foljambe's Donzelon and Ben D. Davis' Vib also started, but fell at the last fence. Gib was remounted and finished third.

Borg To Race European Rival

Arne Borg and Jean Taris, the latter holder of one English and many French swimming championships, are to meet in June, probably in Paris. Borg, a world record-breaking star, has competed in this country. Taris is recovering from a recent appendicitis operation.

A BEAUTIFUL complexion depends largely upon the blood and the circulation. A satiny skin, pink cheeks and bright eyes depend upon the blood beneath. Enrich the blood, and the skin will take care of itself.

If you need good red corpuscles, strength, vivacity and health, take a safe and sane tonic made from native roots, which has stood the test of sixty years of approval by the American people—namely, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This is made without alcohol, and is safe to take in small or large doses.

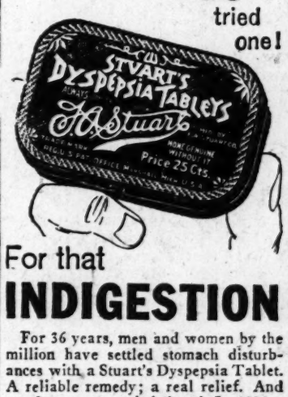

It is surprising how quickly you feel the effects of this wonderful tonic. All druggists dispense it in fluid or tablet form. Where before, that tired, logy, dull feeling was frequent, now, the energizing influence of this herbal tonic brings back the pink cheeks, the bright eyes, the buoyant spirit. This "Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's, tones up the stomach and is very efficacious in indigestion, while it increases the appetite and is a system-builder that thousands in every State of the Union have successfully used.

One woman makes this statement for publication: "I was suffering with my stomach and with what I thought was liver trouble. Anyway I was in a badly debilitated condition—was all rundown, so to speak. I finally decided to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and by the time I had taken one bottle I was feeling like a different person. I am now glad to say that I think the 'Discovery' is an excellent tonic, good for one's blood and stomach and to restore general good health" —Mrs. Ida E. Gober, 455 Simpson St., N. W., Atlanta.

It's Time YOU tried one!

For that INDIGESTION

For 36 years, men and women by the million have settled stomach disturbances with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet. A reliable remedy; a real relief. And you have never tried them! In 1894 a druggist sold his first package of Stuart's. Today they are a drug-store staple. The first thing that comes to mind when the stomach needs a sweetener. No burning soda! Just a happy combination of Calcium Carbonate (2½ times more effective than soda) Magnesia and other valuable ingredients. In ten minutes—or less—acidity is overcome; all that sourness dispelled.

Many parents have come to realize these tablets are ideally suited to children's digestive disorders. The tremendous sale of the family size boxes is proof of that. Next time a young stomach is complaining, think of Stuart's.

MAKE THIS TEST!

Purchase a 25c, handy pocket tin of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets from your druggist, use after meals and be convinced it is not necessary to suffer the distresses of indigestion.

Mehre Calls Temporary Halt to Spring Grid Practice at Athens

Exams Necessitate 2-Week Vacation

Centers and Tackles Will Return March 25 for Second Drill Period.

ATHENS, Ga., March 11.—Thirty Georgia football players were dismissed this afternoon by Head Coach Harry Mehre at the end of a long hard scrimmage. Fifteen of the players will report back to Mehre for further drilling on March 25 after the second term examinations are over.

In dismissing his players, Mehre told them their work today and yesterday had been much better than that of last week. The Georgia coach will keep all his center and tackle candidates out for several weeks longer for additional practice and instruction. Besides the centers and tackles, several other players will be given the benefit of the extra work.

In today's drill the offensive team managed to score no less than six touchdowns in a little more than an hour, which was considerably better than they did in the scrimmages last week.

FIRST SCRIMMAGE.

Vernon "Catfish" Smith and Spero Tassapoulas, end and center, respectively, on the Bulldog eleven last fall, were in their first scrimmage of the spring training, both players having just reported last week.

"Demi-Tasse" didn't stay in long as Coach Mehre ran in Tex Collins and Jimmie McWhorter, another member of the McWhorter family that has contributed several star players to Red and Black elevens of the past, as relief men for the stumpy little fellow who last year starred as "sub" for Captain Joe Boland.

Catfish went the entire route on the offensive side of the line and turned in a good afternoon for his first heavy labor on the gridiron this year.

Charlie Hardin, the long, lanky freshman fullback, kicked sand in the eyes of the lads on the defensive this afternoon as he circled the ends in the accepted collegiate manner. Hardin came in for Jimmy Patterson, whose status has been changed from guard to fullback and back again so often that it is a moot question whether he should be called a back or a lineman.

However, Patterson passed most of the afternoon at guard, after Hardin came in.

PLENTY OF YARDS.

Homer Keyes, Sully Sullivan and Charlie Gaston ran up yardage a-plenty against the defensive, but not until after they had been stopped cold on several occasions by the 11 plugging opposing players with their backs to the wall.

Keyes suffered a slight knee injury late in the scrimmage, but it was not thought to be serious.

Ed Hamilton, reserve halfback last fall, made the prettiest run of the afternoon when he side-stepped through the opposing line for 50 yards before being brought down by the safety man. Charley Gaston continued his line-plunging activities and Homer Keyes made several pretty line plays.

"Skinny" Davis, the beefy freshman tackle, who has been out of the sessions the last two weeks because of a shoulder injury received in practice, was back in uniform today and spent most of the evening opposite Bobby Rose at the tackle position of the offensive team. "Thorny" Thornton, reserve tackle of two years' standing, was out of commission this afternoon on account of an injury to his hand suffered Saturday.

April Horse Show Dates Changed

Hunt Chipley, president of the Atlanta Horse Show Association, announced Tuesday that the dates of the show, originally set for April 18-19, had been changed to April 25-26. This change in dates was sanctioned by the American Horse Shows, Inc., from whom the original dates were obtained. The change was made to allow more time for entries and to avoid any possible bad weather.

The program committee is hard at work arranging the various classes for the show and expects to have the catalogue ready within a very few days. Invitations are being sent over the entire south and a large number of entries are expected.

Cubans Will Meet West Point Rats

By K. D. Gilmore.

HAVANA, March 11.—(UN)—Arrangements have been completed for a football game to be played between the Cuban Cadet school and the United States Military Academy freshmen at West Point, N. Y., on Thanksgiving Day, General Alberto Herrera, chief of staff of the Cuban army, announced here today.

The contest was said to have been suggested by Major Joseph O'Hare, military attache of the United States embassy.

It will be the first game between the two institutions. The Cuban Cadet school has not had a football team, but will begin formation of a squad immediately.

The trip to West Point already is being anticipated with zest by the athletically minded cadets. Plans have been made to transport the team by boat to Key West and thence by special train to West Point.

A large group of Havana sportsmen will accompany the cadets. The contest was interpreted here as an indication of increased friendliness between the two republics.

Tourney Starts.

BRASELTON, Ga., March 11.—The Braselton four county public school invitation basketball tournament sponsored by the Braselton High school and the Braselton Chamber of Commerce will get under way at the high school gymnasium here beginning Thursday night and lasting through Saturday night when the finals will be played and champions crowned.

Birdman.

Christian K. "Red" Cagle, West Point's outstanding football player for the last few seasons, passed the examinations for the air crops and will not be a member of the West Point football coaching staff next fall.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

Another Timing Argument.

Dear Grantland Rice: In your reply to my recent letter you stated that the mere fact that a body is elastic or relaxed means that it has a better chance to control all tension which is the basis of timing. In this discussion I disagree with you, for the following reasons:

1. A relaxed or elastic body is similar to dead weight in motion.

2. Dead weight, as you know, is harder to control than live weight. (I mean a relaxed or elastic human in action.)

3. As the strength of the human body decreases as the exertion continues, and the mass of the weight of the body remains constant, you will perceive that as a tennis player rushes from one side of the court to the other the chances of controlling his body when he tenses his muscles decreases as the game goes on. He will have to tense his muscles every time he changes his direction or increases the velocity of his motion, in accordance with Newton's first law of motion.

4. So it will be more difficult for him to attain and achieve perfect timing, because it is more difficult for him to acquire a state of equilibrum, or, in other words, the proper balance.

Again, you state that balance is motion under control. I disagree with you, for the following reasons:

1. Balance is the result of unconscious effort.

2. Unconscious effort is the result of constant repetition.

3. Constant repetition is the product of the human instinct to attain forward progress and protect himself while doing so.

4. All unconscious effort is outside the control of the human mind, and if we were to try to control ourselves in motion, as you say that is defined as balance, it would be impossible for two human beings to play as many as six sets of tennis in one whole span of life.

Trusting you will see my point and tell me what you think of it,

ROBERT SULLIVAN.

The Important Point

I made the point that a relaxed body has a better chance to control tension, Mr. Sullivan disagrees with this premise. However it may work out scientifically, it is true in all sport.

Not only that—only the relaxed body can drive out tension. A body can be elastic or relaxed and still be in motion. In fact, it has to be in motion to get elastic or relaxed. It has been shown that "nature abhors a vacuum." In the same way tension abhors motion, which is the greatest enemy of tension.

Watch almost any one under high tension suddenly get up from his chair and walk up and down the room. It is only in this way that he can break up part of the tension.

The point I was trying to make was that tension had to be wiped out or relieved before timing could be effected. The two most relaxed looking football players I saw last fall were Al Marsters and Albie Booth. Marsters always moved around with his hands and arms dangling at his side. They were two of the season's greatest.

Certainly in sport a relaxed body is not "dead weight." It is in position to accept an instant signal from the brain.

The point I tried to make between golf and tennis was that tennis had much less tension to battle against because the tennis player was in motion, while the golfer was not. It is the old principle that it is much easier to catch a fly ball while in motion than to camp under it and wait for the ball to drop. In the first case motion relieves tension. In the second place, the act of waiting tightens up the entire system. The average golfer is tied up in a dozen places before the club is half-way back.

The tennis player needs more speed, endurance and much greater all-round athletic requirements. But he still has the weapon to fight off tension, which is motion.

I still say that true balance is "motion under control." Not conscious control, but unconscious control. A spinning top keeps perfect balance. When motions begins to die out the top wabbles all around the floor.

Balance is not "the result of unconscious effort," but of conscious effort practiced and worked out until it becomes habit, instinct and then unconscious effort. But the correct habit has first to be formed, either by conscious thought in the way of imitation or by conscious effort along the right lines until the habit is formed, where unconscious effort arrives.

That may not stand certain scientific tests, but it works out in sport.

DUNDEE IS DUE HERE SATURDAY

Former Champion, Foe of Goodrich, Will Work Out in Public Sunday.

Transportation has been forwarded Joe Dundee, the hard-hitting Italian welterweight, and his manager, Jimmy Johnston, the Boy Bandit, for their appearance here March 18 to fight Ted Goodrich, the Atlanta welterweight. Matchmaker Max Abelson said last night that Dundee would arrive here Saturday and would take a public workout Sunday.

"Both the boys were signed on big guarantees," Matchmaker Abelson says. "Probably larger sums than ever were paid any fighters here. Yet the auditorium has been scaled at popular prices. We want to fill up the place. We prefer to play to 6,000 people at a smaller price than double the fee and have only 3,000 attend. These two boys will give a great show and it should just about 'make' boxing in Atlanta."

Abelson is dickering for a strong semi-final number to tack on to the card, a pair of hard-working young heavyweights if possible. He hopes to build the whole card on a crowd-pleasing basis and assure fast action in every match.

Orders by mail and long distance telephone were in hand for several hundred tickets yesterday and the tickets have not yet been delivered by the printers.

Goodrich is training harder for this bout than for any of his career. L. C. Warren, his manager, has signed three high-powered sparring partners for him and Ted has been working diligently perfecing his timing of punches. The Dundee match is considered the stepping stone to big-time engagements. Goodrich is confident of winning a decision if not by a knockout.

Matchmaker Abelson has promised to angle for Sergeant Sammy Baker or Jackie Fields, the champion, in case Goodrich can dispose of Dundee.

Kaye Don Planning Speed Test Today

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 11.—(UN)—Weather permitting, Kaye Don, of England, will test his "silver bullet" over the Daytona Beach course Wednesday. Mechanics have been conditioning the 31-foot machine since it arrived here Saturday.

Don traversed the entire course today in his roadster at a speed of 65 miles her hour and expressed satisfaction at the condition and smoothness of the beach.

"I think the beach course is the most perfect for automobile racing that I have ever seen and I am sure that a speed of 250 miles per hour or higher can be attained with a comparative degree of safety," he said. "It all depends on my car. I am going to give my best."

BASEBALL NOTES

Cincinnati.

Howley held his first meeting of the Reds today.

Sidney Weil, president of the club, conferred with city officials and told them that if the Cincinnati club is not relieved of the expense of maintaining the local ball park the Reds would train elsewhere next year.

The expense is about $4,500 annually. This is the eighth straight year the Reds have trained in Orlando. The city never has contributed anything to the cost of training the club or maintaining the park.

Giants.

Shires Answers.

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Charles Arthur ("The Great") Shires, fighting holdout of the Chicago White Sox, finally answered Owner Charles A. Comiskey's more than a month old letter today but stuck by his booming guns for larger figures on his pay checks.

Enclosed in the long-awaited letter, which carried a promise by the White Sox "bad boy" that he would direct his punches at baseballs instead of eyes and noses, were two unsigned contracts.

In keeping with the club's policy, Owner Comiskey refused to name the amount of salary offered Shires and the amount the pugnacious first baseman demanded. However, it is believed the White Sox offer is around $8,000, a $1,500 increase over last year, while Shires' demand is estimated at $10,000.

5-5 Deadlock.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 11. (UN)—Tying the score in the ninth after two men were out, the Chicago White Sox battled the New York Giants to a 5-5 deadlock in 11 innings in their third exhibition game today. A walk to Hunnefield, a triple by Reynolds and Watwood's single accounted for the tying runs.

Athletics.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11. (UN)—The Philadelphia Athletics evened the series with the St. Louis Cardinals at two games each today by pounding out a 14-to-3 victory. The game was called at the end of the sixth because of rain. Jimmy Foxx and Eric McNair, rookie shortstop, hit homers for the Athletics.

Yankees Win.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—(UN)—The New York Yankees defeated the Boston Braves today, 8 to 5, winning the game with rallies in the eighth and ninth innings. The Yankees made 16 hits to eight for the Braves.

Robins Win Easily.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 11.—(UN)—Collecting 17 hits, Brooklyn won its first exhibition game of the season by defeating Detroit today, 11 to 3. Bressler and Thurston hit homers for the Robins. Brooklyn played errorless ball and made 17 hits off four Tiger hurlers.

President Frank York announced tonight that Babe Herman, holdout outfielder, must accept the contract offered him if he wants to play with the Robins this year. Herman, who is at his home in Glendale, Cal., has not been heard from for several weeks.

If Herman has not signed by April 15 President York said he would be suspended.

Senators.

BILOXI, Miss., March 11.—(UN) The Washington Senators will play their first baseball of the year tomorrow when the team, divided into two nines will work through a six-inning game.

Recruit Pitcher Herbert Pyle left today for Chattanooga for neuritis and dental treatments. The team will meet him there in 10 days.

Recruit Infielder Jimmy McLeod looked great in practice today and will doubtless be carried as a utility infielder this season.

Red Sox.

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 11.—(UN)—Well satisfied with the conditioning of the Boston Red Sox, Manager Heinie Wagner and Coach Jack McCallister have started smoothing off the work of the young players on the squad.

No new players appear likely to displace any of last year's regulars. The pitching of Horace Lisenbee and Ben Shields has been the biggest surprise of the camp.

Phillies.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 11.—(UN)—Manager Bert Shotton today received a letter from Captain Fresco Thompson, holdout second baseman, and replied by wiring Thompson the Phillies' best offer for a 1930 contract. He hopes that Thompson will now report to camp.

Lefty O'Doul, champion National league hitter, has been expected for the past two days and it is believed he will be on hand for tomorrow's practice.

The Phils held two workouts today in which the infield of Hurst and Sherlock at first, Friberg at second, Thevenow at short, and Whitney at third, turned in brilliant exhibitions.

Cubs.

AVALON, CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., March 11.—(UN)—Rubber shirts were not needed in the warm weather that greeted the Chicago Cubs today, but Hack Wilson and Pat Malone wore theirs anyhow. Pounds of excess weight leaked out of their sleeves.

Two long practice sessions were held by the Cubs today, one in the morning and another in the afternoon, followed by a 20-minute period of snappy fielding.

An exhibition game with the Los Angeles team of the Coast league will be played here tomorrow.

MANN DISCUSSES LEAGUES HERE

Committee Named To Form Local Chapter of Amateur Sports Federation.

Leslie Mann, former major league player and a field representative of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, was principal speaker Tuesday night at the Y. M. C. A. at a meeting of persons interested in amateur sports in the city.

No attempt was made to organize any baseball leagues, but much time was given to discussion of amateur athletic organizations.

Mr. Mann spoke at length on the organization of the N. A. A. F. and its work in many cities throughout the country at present and of its plans to carry through a summer program of baseball, swimming, tennis and golf. Also of its plans to sponsor football and basketball in the fall and winter.

He explained in detail how to organize an Atlanta chapter and how it should function with relation to the national organization which has its headquarters in Chicago.

At the conclusion of the meeting, H. L. Cunningham, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., was named chairman of a committee to organize a local chapter. Pat Stephens and Trammell Scott were named as assistants on the committee and they were instructed to hold a meeting within the next week.

Tech Basketeers Start Spring Work

Mundorff will have only four lettermen on hand next winter when he starts regular drills, and will push the squad in the present practice period in an effort to find the men with which to plug the vacancies. Ted Raines, Ginny Wages, Vance Maree and Bill Perkins of the Jacket crew which bore the brunt of the recent campaign, will return for another year, but Captain Sid Goldin, Alternate Captain Josh Wilson, Red Williamson, Bill Tate and Jack Warner, of the 1930 quintet, will not be back.

Taking the above quartet as the nucleus of his squad, Mundorff will set to work in the spring grind to pick out from his reserve squad and from the freshmen who graduate to varsity ranks next fall the replacements with which he must battle through the season ahead.

Spring practice at the Flats will run for about five weeks under present plans.

Wethered Replaces Tolley as Captain

By Frank H. King.

LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—Cyril Tolley's long visit in the United States has cost him the captaincy of Great Britain's Walker Cup golf team.

The Royal and Ancient Club announced seven of the ten men who will oppose Bobby Jones' American team on the sands of Sandwich May 15 and 16 and their leadership is in the hands of Roger Wethered, brother of the famous Joyce and himself British amateur champion in 1923.

Britain's finest amateur player of iron shots, weathered on occasions can be one of the wildest with his woods. Not so this spring, however, for early tryouts have showed him at top form. He has won no major golf title since his victory in the amateur.

Named with him were Rex Hartley, Sir E. W. E. Holderness, J. N. Smitie, J. A. Stout, Tolley and T. A. Torrence.

Three more names soon will be drawn from the royal and ancient hat to complete the list of 10 from whom Wethered's fighting line of eight and two reservists will finally be selected for the Walker cup battle.

Like the king, the royal and ancient can do no wrong in the realm of golf but comment on today's selection mainly centers on why Wethered has been named captain instead of Tolley. The latter is Great Britain's amateur title-holder and is by many considered one of the very few figures of British amateur golf who treads the fairways in the grand manner of a real champion and who posses golfing personality second to none in these links-strewn isles.

The explanation in Tolley's case appears to be his absence from England, coupled with the fact that he already has had his chance of captaining the British Walker cup team.

Wethered never has led the Britons against the United States but has competed in most of the international battles. In 1923 Great Britain would have won if Francis Ouimet, of Boston, opposing Wethered, had not finished the last three holes at St. Andrews with birdies three, four and three to square his match.

Of the seven named today, five are Englishmen and two are Scotsmen. The remaining three members of the team will be chosen from among T. A. Bourn, William Campbell, Robert Harris, C .O. Hezlet, J. A. Land, S. L. MacKinlay and R. H. Oppenheimer. The chances are that the Scotsmen, Land and MacKinlay will get two of the berths.

Augusta Horse Show Draws Many Entries

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—Plans are going forward for the erection of 30 or more new stalls to handle the large number of horses expected to be entered in the Augusta horse show on March 21 and 22.

Ban Johnson Alarmed Over Commercialism

Ban Johnson is not too sick to sit up and see what is going on around him. The former president of the American league says:

"I am an unofficial observer and baseball means nothing to me except the memory of the days when the game was more scientifically played and there was less commercialism in the business offices. But it would be too bad to see the game ruined by top-heavy salaries and indifferent players."

Brennan Expects Big Mound Year

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 11.—Don Brennan's appearance on the mound today in the regular-yannigan game, was his first one since he was injured in the Nashville ball park near the end of last season. Brennan fell off one of the precipitous banks in the Vol ball lot and broke his collar bone.

"They told me I wouldn't pitch again," said Brennan, "but I kept my arm rested all winter and it didn't tire today at all and I expect a good season."

LINGERING COUGH WORRIED FARMER

Hung On Ever Since the Flu. Wife Worried About It, Too

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY QUICKLY STOPPED IT

"After that attack of Flu I had a bad persisent cough cling to me in spite of everything and after a while even Mrs. Walter worried about me but soon as I got to taking Lin-O-Nine Emulsion it was wonderful to see the way it helped me. Right away the cough began loosening up and disappearing. It is such wonderful medicine I gladly recommend it for people troubled with a cough," writes Jacob S. Walter, well-known farmer of Carpenter, S. Dak.

In the Dakotas, where it surely gets cold, people can't be bothered with weak, ordinary cough remedies. It takes a real strengthening, fortifying, upbuilding Emulsion like Lin-O-Nine to knock out a bad cold or cough due to it. Lin-O-Nine is a nice tasting, snowy white emulsion of Flaxseed, Eucalyptus, Cassia, Betula, Irish Moss and Glycerine. Children, elderly folks with weak stomachs or just getting over lingering illness, find it especially nice to take and quickly effective. Now being introduced here. If your druggist hasn't it, in either 50c or $1 size, just send dollar bill with name and address to Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md., for large 15-oz. bottle return mail.—(adv.)

Wanted–Owners for 18 Cars In Constitution Contest

Opportunity of Earning Valuable Awards Given to All—Best Time To Start Is Now.

WANTED—Eighteen persons, men or women, to accept fine new motor cars, ranging in price from $600 up to $3,100, in exchange for a few weeks' spare time, inducing friends to become regular readers of Georgia's most popular newspaper. Address Campaign Department, The Atlanta Constitution.

If you saw a want ad like that wouldn't you answer it quickly?

Well, it's really true.

Virtually everyone in this section of the state has by this time heard of The Atlanta Constitution's stupendous $25,000 prize offer, wherein 18 automobiles, 20 Atwater Kent radios and cash commissions are to be given.

Already a number of men and women have enrolled in the campaign. New ones will be entering daily. In case your name has not yet been sent in, better attend to it right away. One of these fine new automobiles might as well be yours. The winners cannot be known until May 31—just a few short weeks from now and the winners will be able to take spins in their new cars.

Get Subscriptions Anywhere.

But, meanwhile, it has to be decided who shall get these automobiles. And that important question will be settled by credits. Candidates earn these credits by getting both new and renewal subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution. Each subscription brings so many credits, depending on the length, and whether new or old. You may take subscriptions anywhere. There are no restrictions to territory in which you may work.

And what if you get more credits than anybody else in the campaign? You will receive a new $3,120 Pierce-Arrow sedan. Suppose you land second place? Then you will be given a new $2,835 Franklin sedan. Suppose you do not get first or second place, what then? Well, there are three cars to be given in each of the two divisions. If you live in the first division you still have the opportunity of winning a $1,615 Nash sedan, a $1,180 Chrysler brougham or a $935 Essex coach. If you live in the second division you have the opportunity of winning a $1,495 Reo sport sedan, a $1,295 Marmon Roosevelt eight sedan or a $965 Pontiac sedan.

Suppose you do not win any of the above listed cars, you still have an opportunity of getting a fine automobile. The two divisions have been divided into five districts each and an automobile must be awarded to each of these districts. The district cars are as follows: Five $675 Chevrolet coaches and five $608 Ford Tudor sedans. So, you see, you have a splendid opportunity to win a car.

After the car awards there are still 20 radios to be given. Ten $174.50 Atwater-Kent radios and ten $146.50 Atwater-Kent radios will be awarded as district prizes, one each to the ten districts. And to all those active candidates who fail to win one of the regular awards, liberal cash commissions will be paid.

Full details of the prize offer are given on another page in today's Constitution. No alert man or woman who scans the prize list and who studies the gigantic offer can fail to appreciate the fact that this offer gives him or her an unrivaled opportunity to turn a few weeks of spare time effort into big profit without cost or interference to one's regular business.

What is your spare time worth? Why not take advantage of this offer and make your spare time pay you BIG during the next few weeks by winning one of these fine cars?

Every Headache Is a Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of overtaxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headache is high nerve tension or strain, which leads to high blood pressure and serious injury to the nervous system.

The next time you have a headache, neuralgic or rheumatic pains, or periodic pains, try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid, Capudine gives relief almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders. It relieves by soothing the tense nerves—not by deadening them. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore is the ideal remedy.

For over thirty years Capudine has been bringing relief to those who suffer from nervous pains. You, too, will find it a joy and comfort when your nerves are unstrung and when you suffer from pain. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—(adv.)

Lloyd George Ill; Confined to Home

He was obliged to leave the house of commons early last evening for his own quarters, and was not able to preside at a meeting of liberal members discussing plans for renewal of debate on the coal mines bill today.

3,000-Mile Trip Ends in Liberty On Liquor Charge

Lester Williams, who was brought here from California to answer a prohibition violation charge dating back to 1923, was a free man Tuesday but some 3,000 miles from his new home, when he was acquitted by a jury in local federal court. The government bore the expense of bringing him across the country but he now faces the problem of making the return trip "on his own."

Williams, formerly a resident of Georgia, was jointly indicted in 1923 with two others on a charge of making whisky. The other defendants faced trial in state courts and later in federal court where they were fined $1 each. In the meantime, Williams had drifted to California, where he married and settled down to the business of making an honest living. His transcontinental hop to face trial here was completed a few weeks ago and since that time he has been at liberty under bond.

The "big parade" of prohibition offenders continued in federal court here Tuesday with some 15 people entering pleas of guilty. Judge Samuel H. Sibley meted out a few fines and several jail sentences.

The court docket, however, continued to lose ground as approximately 20 indictments charging whisky violations were returned by the grand jury.

PARK STREET CHURCH TO SPONSOR CONCERT

A musical concert which will feature Earl Rhoads at the organ will be given in the Park Street Methodist church at 8 o'clock Friday night. There is no admission and the public is invited.

Tribe of Red Men To Gather Tonight

The weekly meeting of Creek Tribe No. 15, Improved Order of Red Men, will be held tonight at the wigwam, 160 Central avenue, S. W., it was announced Tuesday by W. E. Coogler, chief of records.

A short business session will be held beginning at 7:30 o'clock and at 8 o'clock the meeting will be given over to the three staff of the Atlanta District School of Instructions when the warriors' degree of the order will be conferred in full dramatic form under the direction of J. B. Davenport, director of the staff. The famous "Metamora" ceremony will be conferred by the district junior sagamore, E. L. Howell, assisted by the degree staff of the Atlanta District School of Instructions.

It is also expected that great junior sagamore, L. I. Grubbs, will attend and deliver an address following the ceremony.

Program Completed For Bank Conference

Plans have been completed for the program of the Southern Bank Management conference here March 25 and 26, which is expected to assemble more than 800 bankers from 10 southeastern states, it was announced Tuesday.

Headquarters are to be maintained at the Biltmore hotel and Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the executive committee of the First National bank, will preside at all sessions of the conference. Ronald Ransom, vice president of the Fulton bank and the Atlanta Clearing House Association, is general conference chairman, and J. Sherrard Kennedy, vice president of the First National bank, is chairman of the program committee.

Alva G. Maxwell, vice president of the Citizens & Southern bank, is in charge of hotel reservations and transportation. A luncheon and dinner will feature the entertainment for the first day of the gathering and speakers on these occasions will be Harry J. Haas, president of the First National bank, Philadelphia, and Eugene R. Black, governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank.

Junior Schools Form New League

Organization of an Atlanta junior high school athletic association was perfected Tuesday night at a meeting of representatives of the six junior high schools. The meeting was held in H. R. Hunter's office in the city hall and was called by the assistant superintendent of city schools.

W. W. Webster, athletic director of Hoke Smith Junior High, was elected president with H. L. Langston, of O'Keefe Junior High, as secretary.

Members of the newly organized junior high league are Bass, O'Keefe, Smith, Brown, Maddox and Murphy, and each had a representative present at the meeting.

It was voted to have a baseball league and a schedule of two games will be played between each league member. The schedule was not announced at the meeting.

It was also decided to sponsor a tennis, and golf tournament and a track meet. The tennis and golf tournaments will come at the end of a series of matches within each school and after a school team has been picked.

It is proposed to hold the track meet at Grant field during the latter part of April or the first of May.

Commission Authority In Bus Case Questioned

The Greyhound Lines, Inc., answering a rule nisi before the Georgia Public Service Commission Tuesday to show cause why its authority to operate bus lines in the state should not be revoked, advanced the claim that the commission is without authority to regulate bus lines devoted to interstate commerce.

Lawyers for the bus company, in response to a question from James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, said the busses engaged in interstate business can be operated on the highways in any number their operators see fit to employ, even to the "practical exclusion of the public."

The rule nisi against the company was issued when the company refused to obey an order of the commission to discontinue two of its runs between Atlanta and Chattanooga. The company contended that the two schedules ordered discontinued were necessary to their interstate operations.

Action in the case was upheld until after next Monday, when attorneys for the bus company will submit a brief to the commission.

"It will be necessary for us to get greater and far more certain returns on our advertising investment in 1930 than heretofore. In consequence I suggest that you thoroughly investigate the lately developed NATIONAL MEDIA of Motion Picture (Screen) Advertising as vehicles of our advertising expression."

As direct consequence of the exhaustive survey which grew out of this conference, shortly there will appear on "Simpson Service" screens, advertising films from several of the country's greatest National Advertisers.

You, too, may find that this medium is the secret of making your advertising dollar bring greater results.

It is aggressive, live, forceful, actually delivers your message to 99% of the circulation for which you pay, in the most graphic and impelling manner. Why not follow the lead of this sales manager and direct your advertising department to investigate this new sales force today.

COLLEGE BELLES TO RETURN FOR SPRING HOLIDAY

Home-Coming To Inspire Gay Parties at Eastertime

Easter, with all of its springtime beauty and glory, will be made even more joyous in Atlanta this season by the presence of so large a number of college belles and beaux beginning to arrive the latter part of this month to spend the spring holidays with their families. Many will be accompanied by their classmates, who are numbered among the popular members of society in their various home cities and for whom Atlanta's younger society will entertain at parties galore.

Among the first to arrive will be Misses Helen and Martha Candler, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Candler, Jr., who will arrive Friday, March 14, from Ward-Belmont college in Tennessee, where they are attending school. They will bring with them as their guests for the spring holidays Miss Jane Nowels, of Colorado Springs, Col.; Miss Jane Clark, of Beaumont, Texas, and Miss Margaret Hayes, of Eldorado, Ark. Saturday evening, March 15, Mr. and Mrs. Candler will entertain their daughters and their visitors at a buffet supper at the Candler home on Briarcliff road. Another popular Atlantan who is enrolled at Ward-Belmont is Sarah Ison, who will spend the early spring holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ison, at their home in Druid Hills.

Those arriving next week will be Misses Florence and Mary Bryan, Nancy Frederick and Mary Ann Carr, the latter to be accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Adams, of Colorado. This quartet of youthful belles will arrive March 22 from National Cathedral school in Washington, D. C., and on Tuesday, March 25, the Misses Bryan will entertain at luncheon at their home on Peachtree road in compliment to Miss Adams and Miss Carr. Another early arrival will be Miss Rachel Neely, who is a senior at Smith college, who reaches Atlanta March 18, to spend the spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neely, at their home on Piedmont avenue. Miss Margaret Kell, who is also enrolled at Smith, returns Saturday, March 15, to be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kell, who reside on Sycamore street in Decatur.

Sweet Briar Group.

The group of Atlanta girls attending Sweet Briar college in Virginia will arrive March 29, the list including Misses Sue Burnett, Teresa Atkinson, Sarah Meador, Sarah DeSaussure and Mary and Helen Lawrence. Miss Burnett will be accompanied by her classmate, Miss Connie Fowler, of Brookline, Mass., who will be feted at numerous social gayeties during her visit here. Miss Burnett will keep open house Sunday, March 30, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burnett, on Peachtree road, in compliment to her guest. After a brief stay in Atlanta, Misses Lawrence will go to Marietta to spend the holidays with their family, but will motor to Atlanta daily for the Easter gayeties.

Miss Louise Moore, Miss Margaret Underwood, Miss Nancy Kamper, Miss Elizabeth Thompson and Miss Florence Underwood, who are attending college at Hollins College, Hollins, Va., will arrive April 18 to spend the spring holidays with their families. Miss Eugenia Bridges, who will receive her diploma this spring from Hollins, will spend the spring vacation with friends in New York city.

Misses Josephine Crawford and Vaughn Nixon, who are popular students at Mount Vernon seminary, in the national capital, will arrive March 27. Misses Laura Payne Smith and Helen Hill Smith, college girl daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Smith, will return from the Georgetown Visitation convent, near Washington, April 17. Miss Elizabeth Everitt is another popular Atlantan attending the Georgetown convent who will spend the spring vacation in Atlanta.

Misses Katherine Ginn and Anna Blake Morrison will return a few days before Easter Sunday, April 20, from the fashionable Marymount school on the Hudson river, in New York state.

Miss Helen Bivings, popular daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Troy Bivings, who is a student at The Castle, Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., arrives in Atlanta Saturday, March 22. She will have as her guest, Miss Betty Mason, of Louisiana, who is also a student at this well known New York school.

Double Wedding Interests Atlantans.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 11. A double wedding ceremony was performed last Wednesday afternoon, March 5, at 2 o'clock in the home of Rev. Charles E. White, of the Oak Park Baptist church in East St. Louis, Ill.

The young couples who will surprise their friends with the informal announcement of their marriage include Miss Helen Lively, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., to Richard Schaeffer, and Miss Dorothy Donner to Lester Purcell. Both couples will make their home in East St. Louis.

The engagement of Miss Lively to Mr. Schaeffer was recently announced in The Constitution, the original date set for their wedding being Monday, March 17.

St. Philip's Aid To Serve Luncheon.

The Ladies' Aid of St. Philip's cathedral will serve a dinner Wednesday at the lunchroom, 11 Hunter street, S. W., opposite the capitol. The menu will include chicken pie, vegetables, rice and gravy, hot biscuits with butter and corn sticks, 25 cents; lettuce hearts with Thousand Island dressing, 10 cents; coffee, tea, milk or buttermilk, 5 cents. Mrs. W. C. Dabney is chairman of the following committee: Mrs. F. S. Gould, co-chairman; Mesdames C. M. Barnwell, Evan Butler, E. M. Power, S. M. Finnigan, Althea Marcon and Miss Eloise Hurtel.

"Vanity Fair Revue" Given in LaGrang.

LAGRANGE, Ga., March 11.—A large audience attended the "Vanity Fair Revue" given Monday evening by the LaGrange college senior class, assisted by Miss Mary Margaret Chester, head of expression department; Miss Neenah Woods, director of music; Misses Virginia Moseley, Margaret Thomason, Mae Radcliffe and Martha Button. The scene, an old-fashioned garden, with shrubs and roses, formed a suitable background for the "Girls" of Many Years Ago," "The Girls of Not So Long Ago," and "The Girls We Know Today." Those composing the cast were Misses Anna Mae Dean, Alice Bird, Evelyn Powell, Julia Teasley, Mary Alice Holbrook, Pinkie Craft, Inez Bartley, Agnes Richardson, Margaree Partee, Elizabeth Dozier, Catherine Chestnutt, May Beall Yancey; Isabelle Brady, Virginia Moseley, Margaret Thomason, Mable Stanton, Margaret Dallis, Sara King. Miss Duncan is sponsor of the senior class, which appears each year in an original performance. Miss Mary Alice Holbrook, of Royston, is president.

The Junior Playmakers of the LaGrange college expression department, presented a play Thursday evening in the college auditorium. The Playmakers are directed by Miss Evelyn Powell, graduate student in expression and dramatic art. The members of the cast were Misses Margaret Nooty; Betty Sutherland, Elizabeth Lemon, Anne Birdsong, Martha Grant, Jenny Cooper Davis, Frances Lehmann, Lois Anne Brooks, Carolyn Sue Hadaway, Emma Binns, Georgia Clark, Betsy Neal Davis, Alice Sutherland, Margaret Reynolds, Kathryn Young, Jane Daniel, Emily Guinn, Helen Leahman, Jean Taylor, Mary Mayer, Margaret Fleeth.

Wednesday, March 26, LaGrange college will sponsor the Coffer-Millee players, who will present two performances, "A Marriage of Convenience" and Sheridan's "The Rivals."

Mrs. Rice Led D. A. R. Pageant On the Statendam

Interesting chatter relative to the George Washington celebration on board the steamer Statendam which docked in New York last week after a two months' cruise to the West Indies, and returned to their native shores Mrs. Charles F. Rice and her daughter, Miss Mary Rice. Members of the D. A. R. passengers aboard the vessel were in charge of the patriotic demonstration, with Mrs. Charles Rice leading the colorful pageant, this honor being conferred upon her by virtue of her popularity and the office she holds in state D. A. R. work. One of the most memorable of the entertainments on shore was the tea given members of the group by Theodore Roosevelt at his home, the Casa Rosa, in San Juan, Porto Rico. While in San Juan, these Atlantans visited Casa Blanca, said to have been built by Ponce de Leon over 400 years ago, but now the residence of Colonel George Helms.

Two famous towers on the Virgin Islands, the tower of Blackheard and the tower of Bluebeard, were visited by the party. Near to Mount Pelee, that grewsome volcano which wiped out the city of St. Pierre in 1903, Mrs. Rice and Miss Rice went on their visit to the island of Martinique.

Mrs. Fuller Callaway Is Luncheon Hostess.

MIAMI, Fla., March 11.—Delicately tinted tulips, asters and jonquils in a silver container centered the luncheon table yesterday when Mrs. Fuller Callaway was hostess to a group of friends at the Pancoast hotel on Miami Beach. Mrs. Callaway, who has been spending the winter at 1614 West avenue, Miami Beach, will return shortly to her home in LaGrange, Ga.

Her guests included Mrs. E. B. Douglas, Mrs. H. E. Talbott, Mrs. O. P. Allen, Mrs. Oscar Thompson, Mrs. E. H. R. Green, Mrs. Clifton W. Bartlett, Mrs. Benjamin Hodges, Mrs. Edward Brantly, Mrs. Frank O. Headley, Mrs. Charles Seiberling, Mrs. T. M. Leonard, Mrs. M. Newberger and Mrs. N. C. Lenfestey.

Miss Margie Webster Elected Delegate.

Atlanta Kindergarten Alumnae Club met last Friday at the Atlanta Athletic Club, with Mrs. P. G. Hanahan, Miss Gertrude Jossie and Miss Mamie Heinz as hostesses. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Margie Webster.

Plans were discussed concerning the meeting of the International Kindergarten Union at Memphis in April, and Miss Webster was nominated as one of the delegates to attend the convention, but no further definite plans were made. Announcement was made that the next meeting will be in the form of an interesting benefit program, the proceeds to go toward the fund for the portrait of Miss Willette Allen, to be presented to Emory University as a love offering from the friends of Miss Allen.

Mrs. Van Holt Hall was speaker and gave an inspiring talk on the work of the Nursery school at Vassar College.

Miss Ruth St. John Exhibits Work.

Miss Ruth St. John, niece of Mrs. John M. Townley, of 128 Fairview road, Atlanta, Ga., is one of the students at the School of Fine Arts and Crafts, in Boston, whose work is on public exhibition in connection with the celebration of Art Week in that city. Miss St. John is a senior at the school and samples of her work include two mahogany panels painted and gilded in the early Italian manner and two schemes of interior decoration; one for a renaissance library and one for a modern ballroom.

Japanese Buy From Collection Shown in Part at High Museum

Celebrated collectors and the Japanese government have purchased from the collection of handcraft in metals by Mrs. W. McLellan Edson, of Tiger, which is being shown in part at the High Museum of Art, 1262 Peachtree street. The purchase by the Japanese government was a beautifully enameled silver spoon which was bought for the permanent collection of American craftsmanship at the Kyoto museum, Kyoto, Japan.

Mrs. Edson's work, which includes sets of pewter, jewelry, carved crystal, rose quartz, necklaces artistically linked with silver, enamel boxes and beads, represents the best in American handcraft. The collection, which affords a remarkable idea of the scope and perfection of Mrs. Edson's work, has been wrought from her own original designs. Her studio is near Lakemont, Ga., where she works with her husband in this interesting phase of art.

Mrs. Edson is well known in Atlanta to numbers who have recognized the quality of her work. She has exhibited upon several occasions at the High Museum of Art and at the Atlanta Woman's Club, where she has lectured upon "Enamels" and similar subjects. She is a frequent visitor here and has upon several occasions been the guest of Mrs. Beaumont Davison and Mrs. Walter Hill, of this city.

The collection of 20 pieces of pewter includes plates, candlesticks, cigaret cases, bowls, many of which are ornamented with copper. The metal has been hand-hammered and made from original designs with a mastery of the technique of the craft which places Mrs. Edson in the forefront of her branch of art.

Mrs. Edson is a master craftsman and a member of the Boston Society of Arts and Crafts. She has been awarded prizes for her work in Boston, Mass., Buffalo, N. Y., and New York city. She received a prize for an enameled panel last year at an exhibition of Georgia artists here. Mrs. Edson's work has aroused wide interest wherever it has been shown and the appearance of the collection here will be sure to evoke the admiration and interest which it deserves.

Gov. and Mrs. Slaton Honor Their Visitors.

Former Governor John M. Slaton and Mrs. Slaton were hosts last evening at a buffet supper at their home, Wingfield, on Peachtree road in honor of their guests, Mrs. Valeria Langloth and Miss Elizabeth Knapp, of New York. # Atlanta Business Women Are Active In Office and Professional Work

The third annual observance of National Women's Business Week, March 10-16, brings to the memory of Many Atlanta citizens the time when the only so-called respectable positions open to women were teaching, sewing, nursing, domestic work, including washing and ironing, and cotton factories. Stenography and bookkeeping were slowly, if reluctantly, added to the list. During the war emergency a chief clerk in a large institution gave instructions that women were not to be put in any positions other the five they were already holding: "Filing, stenography, clerical work, telephone operator and machine operator." That was 12 years ago; today women are filling in that particular line of work every position from the five specified up to the president. In Atlanta there are women in all lines of office work and in the professions—lawyers, dentists, doctors, chiropodists, interior decorators, beauty shop owners, operators of tea rooms, bake shops, gift shops, artists, chiropractors, osteopaths, pharmacists, chemists, statisticians, dieticians, etc.

Some of these women have the distinction of being the only woman in Atlanta in her particular line, or if there are others, the first who had the courage to enter into it. Shorthand has probably been the stepping stone to something better more times than anything else. From stenographers to an official in a business that as yet has only three or four other women executives in the United States, is the record of Miss Inez V. Yager, assistant secretary of the Capital City Tobacco Company. During her 22 years of service with her company, Miss Yager has endeavored to "capitalize good English."

"I believe," she affirmed, "that a well written, concise letter, is the best representative a business can have, and I have exerted every effort to realize this."

One field that has appeared particularly promising to women is that of insurance. Miss Mary Mendenhall, one of the first women in Atlanta to enter the work, said that the turning point in her business life hinged on a "raise."

"I had been doing secretarial work," she explained, "in a large fire insurance company for a number of years. I asked the manager for an increase in salary. He replied that I was already making more than most women and that he could get someone who, though they might not do the work as well as I, would do it much cheaper. If I wanted to make money I would have to get into a line that paid it. I began to watch for an opportunity that seemed to offer this, and shortly heard that the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company was thinking of putting a woman in the sales department. I determined to risk it, to give up a certain salary for an uncertain one."

Atlanta has only one woman licensed embalmer, Mrs. J. Austin Dillon. Mrs. Dillon began as a trained nurse and while in the employ of a local undertaking establishment, was often called in to assist in the work. Becoming rather proficient in this, she was advised to study and take the state examination, which she did in 1920. The only woman in a class of 44, and the second woman in Georgia to secure a license.

Miss A. M. Cole, of the A. M. Cole Optical Company, Inc., first took optometry in a trade school and liked the subject so well that she took postgraduate work. About ten years ago, Georgia passed a law making optometry a profession, requiring anyone to pass a state examination before securing a license to practice. Miss Cole is the only woman licensed to practice in Atlanta.

Miss Leila Ross Wilburn, the only woman architect here, radiates her enthusiasm for her work. Miss Wilburn took lessons from an architect while still in school, and later worked for several years in the office of a contractor. For the past 20 she has been in business for herself, specializing in residence plans.

Mrs. Sarah A. Blake, better known as Miss Sallie Clayton, is probably the first woman, still in business, to open a beauty parlor of her own. Quiet, modest, long hair, with only faint streaks of gray, she does not show 34 years of business activity.

Mrs. William Lycett, dealer in imported china and crystal, is probably the first woman to enter this line exclusively. She began work as an instructor of china and ceramic painting. On the death of her husabnd in 1909, she took over his business, which had grown from a small decorating business started some 30 years previous. Mrs. Lycett has some goods that are made in America, but for the most part her stock is received from England, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, France, Spain, Italy, China, Japan and other countries. In addition to this work, Mrs. Lycett built the two-story building on Peachtree known as the Lycett building, which she occupied for some time, and then sold.

There are only three or four women in the United States who are head of chiropractic colleges, and Dr. Helen Smellie, president of the Atlanta Chiropractic College, is one of these. She was one of the first to secure a state license after chiropractic was legalized as a profession in 1921. Having been a teacher in public schools and an instructor of dancing, before entering this work, it seemed only natural that she should visualize a school of her chosen profession.

Mrs. Earnest C. Daley, of Katherine Daley and Lida Nash, Inc., but better known to the alumnae of the North Avenue Presbyterian school as Katherine Crandall, is doubtlessly the youngest "pioneer" business woman in Atlanta, as she appears to be the first to go into the interior decorating business for herself. After her marriage Mrs. Daley went to New York to live, and as she had nothing to occupy her time, took a course in interior decorating at Columbia University.

Makes Vaults.

So far as known the only woman in the world who makes vaults and septic tanks is Miss Sue Methvin of the Methvin Cement Vault Company, and as such has secured national publicity. She is indeed on the job. If a driver fails to show up she drives the truck herself. Sometimes she leaves as early as 4 in the morning when a vault goes to some other place, making deliveries in a radius of 100 miles. As she says of her business, "My work knows no time, creed, race or nationality." Miss Methvin is a friend to homeless dogs and cats. The ones straying into her place received food and kind attention until she finds a home for them. One cat, known as Buddie, followed her wherever she went, riding with her in her car or on the truck to the cemetery. He would stay around the grave until the approach of the funeral party, then at a word from his mistress would jump into the truck and not get out again until every one else was gone. But Buddie, as often befalls good cats as well as bad, met an untimely end.

Tea To Be Given Friday Afternoon.

The ladies of North Avenue Presbyterian church will entertain at a "friendship" tea and musical Friday afternoon, March 14, from 3 until 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mell Wilkinson, at 1280 Peachtree road. The tea will be sponsored by the White Cross organization of the church.

Euzelian Class Holds Meeting.

The meeting was turned over to group No. 4, who presented an interesting program planned. Two vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Ralph Mitchell and Mrs. Fulgum, accompanied by Mrs. Dora Hamilton at the piano.

Those present were Mrs. E. M. Fain, Mrs. Etta Guimarin, Mrs. R. C. Sellars, Mrs. J. F. Williams, Mrs. C. D. Melton, Mrs. C. M. Bolen, Mrs. C. H. Bowden, Mrs. Rubie Bethea, Mrs. J. W. Parham, Mrs. J. F. Bethea, Mrs. Alvin Fields, Mrs. F. Webb, Mrs. Dora Hamilton, Mrs. R. Mitchell, Miss Mittie Chappalear, Mrs. Fulgum, Mrs. George Howard, Mrs. B. S. Hamilton, Mrs. W. A. Kelso, Mrs. C. D. Mann, Miss Mildred Barrett, Mrs. Frank Harper, Mrs. H. J. Boothby, Mrs. H. L. Ashley, Mrs. H. C. Barrentine, Mrs. O. A. Beckwith, Mrs. E. L. Demarcus, Mrs. K. D. Dorris, Mrs. M. L. Irwin, Mrs. W. E. Johnson, Mrs. E. L. Leach, Mrs. C. D. Mann, Mrs. L. E. Peck, Mrs. E. Bullard, Mrs. E. T. Pente, Mrs. J. S. Upchurch, Mrs. E. L. Waterhouse, Mrs. M. S. Webb, Mrs. D. L. West, Mrs. C. R. Wofford, Mrs. J. Hill.

Roosevelt Auxiliary Holds Meeting.

Theodore Roosevelt auxiliary No. 2, department of Georgia, United Spanish War Veterans, met recently with Mrs. Hattie McMillan, president, presiding. Visitors present included Mrs. Katherine Badger, Mrs. Alice Chosewood, Mrs. Ida Greer, Mrs. Lillian Hayward and Mrs. Owens, of Helen Gould auxiliary No. 1. Seven new members were elected to membership and Mrs. Minnie Lester, Mrs. Maud Kendall, Mrs. L. Childers and Miss Evelyn Harralson were welcomed into the auxiliary.

Mrs. Daisy Irwin and Mrs. I. B. Scogin, who were appointed captains of the membership drive, urge those eligible and not affiliated with the auxiliary to join at once.

Saturday, March 15, a benefit oyster supper will be given in the dining room of the Western Heights Baptist church, Chestnut and Kennedy streets, beginning at 2 o'clock. Admission is 50 cents, the event being sponsored by the two auxiliaries and department. The public is invited.

Miss Hortense Moran, who has been doing the publicity for several months, was nominated director of this department by Mrs. M. E. Patterson, when Miss Lenus Daniell, the appointee, was unable to serve. Mr. McGriff, of the Civic Music Association, spoke in the interest of child memberships. Eleanor Whited won the prize offered by Miss Madeline Kelpp for the best answers to the study questions discussed by Miss Nana Tucker on February 22. The chorus, with Miss Grace Gaffney as leader, gave a varied program of songs and dances of all nations.

Musicians Give Program at Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson's.

Miss Martha Whittemore, 'cellist; Mrs. Elinor Whittemore King, violinist, and Hugh Hodgson, pianist, presented a musical program at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson, 14 Vernon road, Monday evening. These three musicians presented the same program last week at the University of Georgia. Mrs. King and Mr. Hodgson are recognized as leading figures in Atlanta's musical life. Miss Whittemore is visiting her sister, Mrs. King.

The program opened with a group by Miss Whittemore—Correlli's Grave, Bach's Gavotte and Couperin's "Pieces de Concert," including a prelude, Sicilienne, La Tromba, Plainte and Air de Diable. These numbers represented notable phases of Miss Whittemore's skill. Mr. Hodgson, Mrs. King and Miss Whittemore played Brahms' Trio in E Flat Major with skill. Miss Whittemore's second group of solos were the Intermezzo from Granado's "Goyescas." Faure's "Apres un Reve" and Saint-Saens' Allegro Appassionate, played with distinguished style. The trio's final number was "Miniature," by Frank Bridge. This included a Gavotte, Russian Waltz and Horn Pipe. The guests included a group of music lovers.

Boston Visitors and Army Leaders Honored at Dinner Last Evening

Major and Mrs. Harry J. Malony entertained at dinner last evening at their home on Peachtree road in compliment to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Fitch, of Boston, Mass., and General Frank Ross McCoy, U. S. A., commander of the fourth corps area, and Mrs. McCoy, prominent leaders in the army and civilian society.

The center of the exquisitely appointed table had for its adornment, a crystal bowl holding sprays of peach blossoms, hyacinths and jonquils. Handpainted cards in floral design marked the place of each guest, and crystal candlesticks held yellow candles. Bridge was played after dinner.

Mrs. Malony wore a gown of brown velvet. Mrs. Fitch was gowned in black lace. Mrs. McCoy wore a gown of blue lace.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Fitch, General McCoy and Mrs. McCoy, Colonel Christine A. Bach and Mrs. Bach, Colonel Henry Ashley Ripley and Mrs. Ripley, Colonel Harry H. Tebbetts and Mrs. Tebbetts, Colonel Fitzhugh Lee and Mrs. Lee, Colonel Lewis Morey and Mrs. Morey, Major Ward E. Duval and Mrs. Duval, Major Roland L. Gaugler and Mrs. Gaugler, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Holmes, Mrs. J. B. Whitton, Colonel William F. Pearson and Major Malony and Mrs. Malony.

Splendid Program To Be Presented For Wey Memorial

The Emory Players will present "The Diabolical Circle," a one-act comedy of Colonial days, under the direction of Dr. T. H. English, of Emory University, at the Atlanta Woman's Club Friday evening, March 21, at 8:15 o'clock. The Blackfriars of Agnes Scott College will produce "The Gypsy," an emotional one-act play, under the direction of Miss Frances K. Gooch, professor of dramatic art at Agnes Scott College and is of special interest to Atlantans because it is written by Parke Hord, who is well known in social and artistic circles here. Mr. Hord was one of the authors on the program of the book exhibition last spring when he read "The Gypsy" to a large and appreciative audience and is the author of one of the outstanding books of 1929—"A Youth Goes Forth."

The third number on the program will be given by Miss Eugene Dozier and some of her talented pupils. Miss Dozier is an Agnes Scott graduate and was, as a member of the student body, a beautiful dancer on various college programs.

It is very fitting that graduate students unite efforts in an entertainment to increase the Student Aid Foundation of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. This is a revolving fund loaned to Georgia girls for a higher education. Four hundred and fifty girls have been aided in the past twenty-one years by this work, but each year many girls are refused assistance because of lack of money. Therefore, a further fund, called "The Frances Liggett Wey Memorial," is being raised in order to help more girls and to stand as a tribute to the service of Mrs. H. B. Wey, for twenty years, state chairman of student aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Celebrate Their Fiftieth Anniversary.

BUTLER, Ga., March 11.—Mr. and Mrs. James H. Giles, pioneer residents of Taylor county, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Monday at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Childres, in Butler. The house was artistically decorated with ferns and lovely spring flowers.

Dinner was served on long tables in the spacious dining hall to about 50 guests, many being from a distance. The table, which was a duplicate of the one of 50 years ago, held as a centerpiece a massive and beautiful wedding cake of white and gold, surrounded by lighted candles, presented by their children. Toasts and congratulations were offered by Rev. J. T. Adams, whose father-in-law officiated at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Giles.

The couple were presented with many handsome and costly gifts, most of which were in gold.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles were married March 10, 1880. Mrs. Giles was formerly Miss Katharine Joiner, member of a prominent middle Georgia family. They have reared a large family of children, who are prominent citizens of this section.

BIG EXTORTION PLOT BARED IN LOVE FIGHT

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Two women who claim the same man's love met in the state's attorney's office yesterday and from the jealous outbursts that followed prosecutors announced today they had gleaned details of two additional extortion plots perpetrated by the kidnap-torture gang arrested Sunday.

In a carefully set stage, Mrs. Norman Resnick, wife of one of the five men reported indicted in connection with the extortion ring, was brought face-to-face with Mrs. Myrtle Thoren, who, when arrested with Resnick, at first said she was his wife and later that she was his sweetheart. Mrs. Thoren is believed to have suggested that the ring kidnap Theodore Kopelman, her former husband—a tip that led to the ring's capture.

"I didn't know he was your husband."

"You lie! I showed you the certificate."

"If you can't keep your husband, what are you squawking about."

And so on until Patrick Roche, state's attorney investigator, decided the psychological moment had been reached. Then rapid-fire questioning with a sympathetic appeal here and there produced from Mrs. Thoren a story of two kidnapings in which the victims were a real estate man and a broker who gave up $28,000 in payment for their release.

Roche said he expected to get more information from Mrs. Thoren, who was reported included in a second indictment brought by the grand jury yesterday charging her and the five men with conspiracy to kidnap.

It was revealed when the case was brought before the grand jury that the Association of Commerce's new "secret six" committee was behind the investigation which resulted in the ring's capture. It was the first major achievement of the committee formed during the recent crime wave with the slogan "Crimeless Chicago in Six Months."

Secret of Sad Ballad Singer's Success Bared

Charles Jolley, blues singer in an Akron, Ohio, theater, must pay alimony to two ex-wives. On complaint of Helen Jolley, wife No. 2, Jolley was haled into court before Judge Lester S. Moll yesterday to explain why he was back $400 in monthly alimony payments. The crooning tenor let it be known that he owed also $125 to Mrs. Pearl Jolley, wife No. 1, of London, Ontario.

Pearl divorced him in April, 1927, a month before he married Helen. There are two children by the first marriage and one by the second.

Judge Moll warner Jolley to arrange his $125 a week income to care for his obligations to his ex-wives, and Jolley departed for Akron, unjolly and humming "Alimony Blues."

The Story of the World War
126—The Last Russian Offensive.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

SO QUICKLY DID THE SOVIETS GAIN THE ASCENDANCY IN RUSSIA THAT BY JUNE, 1917, THE CONSERVATIVE MEMBERS OF THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT HAD BEEN FORCED OUT AND THEIR PLACES TAKEN BY SOCIALISTS. HOWEVER, KERENSKY, THE PREMIER, STILL STOOD FOR THE ALLIES AND WAS OPPOSED TO RUSSIA MAKING A SEPARATE PEACE.

THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT PLANNED TO MAKE A NEW OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE AUSTRIANS. KERENSKY, DRESSED IN A PRIVATE'S UNIFORM, TOURED THE FRONT AND ATTEMPTED TO RESTORE THE FIGHTING SPIRIT OF THE RUSSIAN SOLDIERS WITH HIS ELOQUENT ORATORY. THE ALLIES LOOKED ON HOPEFULLY.

IN JULY (1917), THE RUSSIAN ARMY, LED BY GENERAL KORNILOFF, ATTACKED THE AUSTRIAN FORCES IN GALICIA. BUT THE DISCIPLINE AND MORALE OF THE RUSSIAN TROOPS SOON PROVED TO HAVE BEEN THOROUGHLY UNDERMINED BY BOLSHEVIST PROPAGANDA AND, AFTER A FEW INITIAL SUCCESSES, KORNILOFF'S ARMY WAS BADLY BEATEN.

THE CAMPAIGN ENDED IN A DISORDERLY ROUT AND, TO KEEP THE ARMY FROM COMPLETELY DISINTEGRATING, THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT WAS OBLIGED TO ORDER A RETREAT ALL ALONG THE LINE. FROM THAT TIME ON, THE KERENSKY GOVERNMENT GREW WEAKER, AND RUSSIA CEASED TO BE AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN THE WAR.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WHITEFOOT INVESTIGATES.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

He's seldom master of his fate
—Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

Whitefoot the Wood Mouse gave Peter Rabbit the slip. It wasn't difficult to do. Whitefoot is such a little fellow, and can move so quickly that he can slip into a hiding place without being seen, almost while you are looking at him. When Peter discovered that Whitefoot had disappeared, he grumbled a little and then went off to look for Chatterer the Red Squirrel, to find out if Chatterer had discovered Whitefoot's home yet.

No sooner had Peter disappeared than Whitefoot slipped over where he could look up at the big wasps' nest in which his own nest had been built and which had so long been his secret home. Courage was coming back to him now. He looked hastily in all directions to make sure that no sharp eyes were watching him. Then he quickly climbed that bush. When he came to the place where Farmer Brown's Boy had tied the branch holding the nest to another branch, he stopped to examine the string. It bore the man-smell and that made him a little uneasy.

But now that he was so near the entrance to that nest, he just couldn't turn back. In half a minute he was inside. Everything seemed alright. He went all over that nest of his, every particle of it. Nothing had been disturbed. Just around the entrance he caught just a faint whiff of that man-smell. That was where Farmer Brown's Boy had poked his finger in through the doorway. Otherwise nothing was wrong. This man-smell was very faint. Whitefoot poked his head out the doorway and peered down. He couldn't understand matters at all. He couldn't understand how that nest was back where it had been after it had been cut down. Finally, he gave up trying to understand.

"Perhaps things are all right after all," said he to himself. "Perhaps Farmer Brown's Boy didn't know I was living here when he cut down this nest. I guess I'll stay here a while and see what happens. Farmer Brown's Boy is the only one who has found out yet where I live and somehow I have a feeling that he won't bother me. What I need now is a good nap. I'm all tired out. I suppose it is the fright I have had. Never did I have a worse fright."

So Whitefoot curled up in his bed and in no time at all he was fast asleep. Meanwhile, Peter Rabbit had found Chatterer the Red Squirrel and had speedily discovered that Chatterer was no wiser than he was, so far as Whitefoot's home was concerned.

"I tell you," said Chatterer, "I don't believe it is around here. Whitefoot is smart, but he never has been and he never will be smart enough to fool me."

"You've got a good opinion of yourself, haven't you?" said Sammy Jay, who came up just then.

Chatterer turned his back to Sammy and pretended not to hear him. Peter thoughtfully scratched a long ear with a long hindfoot. "I saw Whitefoot just a few minutes ago," said he, "and I still can't believe that his home can be very far away. You know as well as I do that Whitefoot never is found very far from home."

Wife Uses Mate's Insurance To Aid Alleged Slayer

CHICAGO, March 11.—(AP)—Chief of Detectives John Stege today was investigating reports that Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien had contributed $3,500 life insurance money to the "defense fund" of Samuel Howard Dorr, convicted slayer of the woman's husband, William J. O'Brien.

The money was paid on a policy written upon O'Brien's life by Dorr, an insurance salesman and paramour of Mrs. O'Brien.

Kidnaping Mystery Believed Solved

Accompanied by Quattlebaum, the victim, Sheriff Garland Brewster led a squad of deputies into Louisiana today and arrested Emry Majoe in a house in Shreveport and caught B. L. Sapp as he was walking the highway near his home at Boyline in Webster parish, and charged each of the young men with the crime.

Previously he had arrested B. H. Jobe, Pine Bluff politician, who was arrested in connection with the case and involved Sapp and Majoe. The sheriff brought Jobe with him and returned to Arkansas with the three men under arrest.

'Dry Ice' Trade Mark Upheld by Judge

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—(AP) In a decision today Judge Ben C. Dawkins, of the United States district court of the western district of Louisiana, upheld the claim of the Dry Ice Corporation of America to the trade name "dry ice" as designation of a refrigerant manufactured by the corporation.

The corporation brought suit against the Louisiana Dry Ice Corporation on the grounds of infringement on their trade name and trade mark. Judge Dawkins held the Louisiana corporation had no right to use the term without the consent of the Dry Ice Corporation of America, a New York firm. The Louisiana concern has ten days in which to file an appeal.

'City Slicker' Steals $100,000 in Bonds

NEW YORK, March 11.—(UN)—A man "in a cream-colored office coat" gained the confidence of a Wall street messenger today, took a package containing $100,000 in securities from him and escaped.

The theft occurred in the heart of the financial district, where scores of plainclothes detectives were on duty. Louis Moorehead, 56-year-old messenger, arrived in the outer offices of Benjamin Block with the securities, entrusted to him by his employers, the F. E. Keech Company.

In the outer office the man in the "office coat" approached Moorehead and asked if he were the messenger from Keech's. When Moorehead answered in the affirmative, the thief calmly extended his hand and Moorehead handed him the packet. The messenger then returned to his work.

Georgia Delegation Called To Present George for Court

State Representatives To Urge Hoover To Name Junior Senator to Sanford's Vacant Seat.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(Special.)—The movement towards having Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, appointed to the vacancy on the United States supreme court caused by the death of Associate Justice Edward Terry Sanford, of Tennessee, began to take more definite form today when a meeting of the Georgia congressional delegation was called for Wednesday for the purpose of formally presenting the senator's name to the president.

Representative Charles R. Crisp, of the third Georgia district, after a conference with his colleagues, issued a call for the caucus in the absence of Representative Thomas M. Bell, of the ninth district, who is dean of the delegation. It is the purpose of the delegation to draw up resolutions indorsing Senator George for the post and urging the chief executive to continue the past policy of maintaining the same measure of geographical representation on the court.

The meeting will be held despite the statement of Senator George that in no sense is he a candidate for the high office and his insistence that his name not be formally presented.

Expect Early Appointment.

There were reasons to believe today that President Hoover will not wait for the expiration of the 30-day period of official mourning, proclaimed for the late William Howard Taft, to appoint a successor to Justice Sanford. The president, it is asserted, will give his attention to the appointment within the next day or so and while he has no intention to act with any haste, it is believed that he will reach a decision and be in position to announce his selection within two weeks, more or less.

Mr. Hoover's first step will be to confer with Charles Evans Hughes, recently appointed chief justice upon the resignation of Mr. Taft, and with Attorney-General Mitchell. Chief Justice Hughes returned to Washington today from Knoxville, Tenn., where he attended the funeral rites of Justice Sanford and there was some chance that he and the president would confer at the White House tonight or tomorrow.

Long List of Names.

Attorney-General Mitchell has been confined to a hospital for the past several days suffering from some ailment of his foot but he returned to his home today and it was understood that he too would have a conference with the president on the subject at once.

Already the list of those mentioned for the important office has grown so that speculation over the probable appointee has been emphasized all the more. The candidates being put forward come from all sections of the country but it is still the concensus that the president will maintain the past scale of representation and go to the south for Justice Sanford's successor. Seldom in the history of the nation has the south failed to have less than two members of the highest tribunal except for brief intervals. The death of the distinguished Tennessee jurist leaves the section with only one, Justice McReynolds, who also is accredited to Tennessee.

Aside from the interest in the geographical policy involved, intense speculation has arisen over the character of appointment the president will make. In short, whether he will name a liberal or a conservative and whether party lines will be drawn in the consideration of candidates.

Considers Progressive.

So pointed was the criticism in the senate of Mr. Hughes' rigid conservatism and the philosophy of government which he was known to hold that more than one student of administration affairs has suggested the possibility of the president leaning far in the opposite direction in choosing a successor to Mr. Sanford. Foremost in this group of progressives that has been proposed is Judge William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, former United States senator and the organizer of the original farm bloc back in the early days of the Harding administration, but now a member of the eighth federal circuit court.

Some of the others, not specially cataloged as outright progressives or conservatives, include John W. Davis, of West Virginia and New York, former democratic presidential nominee; Federal Judge Samuel L. Sibley, of Atlanta; Federal Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina; Federal Judge Xenophon Hicks, of Tennessee; Federal Judge Morris A. Soper, of Maryland, together with Senators William E. Borah, of Idaho, and Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, mentioned in earlier dispatches.

The name of former President Calvin Coolidge continued to figure in the picture, but this is regarded as more of a gesture than anything else. Close friends of the former president insist that the office would be unacceptable to him, both from a standpoint of personal desire and previous training.

Riot Victims Die.

BERLIN, March 11.—(AP)—Two of those wounded by bullets in the riots attending communist international unemployment day last Thursday died today. Their decease brought the death toll over the country from the riots to four.

Bomb Plot Is Laid To Convict's Wife

JACKSBORO, Tenn., March 11.—(AP)—Charged with mailing dynamite to her husband in the Petrols, Tenn., state prison, Della Bates, 38, negro woman, was in jail here today under $5,000 federal bond.

The woman was bound over to the federal grand jury at Knoxville yesterday after testimony was given that she mailed the explosive in an alleged plot to blow up the prison and free her husband, John Bates.

You will like Kotex because of its rounded, tapered corners

And you will like the assurance that 85% of America's leading hospitals use this very same absorbent.

YOU'LL discover, once you use Kotex, any number of things about it which distinguish it from any ordinary sanitary pad. One of these is the fact that it's shaped to fit. That means you have inconspicuous protection. You can wear any kind of frock under the most difficult circumstances and you're entirely free of self-consciousness. You can feel immaculate and dainty, for Kotex deodorizes by a special process, which is most effective.

Then, too, Kotex is hygienically safe. It protects health at a time when vitality is low. Over 85% of our leading hospitals have chosen the very same material of which Kotex is made, because of its remarkable efficiency and surgical purity. What a comfort to know you are using the same sanitary protection hospitals find best.

Superior Absorbent

Kotex, you know, is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding . . . a cellulose substance which performs the same sanitary function as cotton, with five times the absorbency.

Then, of course, there is the reason most women first began to use Kotex. It is disposable. Just think what that fact alone has meant to the women of America and women all over the world. You will want to try Kotex if you haven't already. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

IN HOSPITALS . . .
2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much!
3—Kotex is soft . . . Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

Invisible POWDER BASE Protects the Skin

. . . . . and Lends Satin-Smoothness to Your Make-up

A vanishing cream that really vanishes—a cream that becomes invisible the instant you smooth it on your skin—that's Plough's Vanishing Cream, the dainty, protective powder base which lovely women everywhere are using with such gratifying results!

The snowy lightness and purity of Plough's Vanishing Cream keeps it from becoming sticky or causing powder to cake or streak. Its invisible film of protection prevents the darkening, coarsening effects of dust and weather and makes face powder and rouge adhere for hours with natural beauty.

Today, before going out, smooth on a bit of Plough's Vanishing Cream, then apply Plough's Rouge and Face Powder. You will be so delighted with the refined texture of your skin that you will want to use this cream regularly. It comes in two sizes, attractively packaged and sensibly priced. 30c and 50c at all dealers.

Aunt Knew What to Do

"My daughter Gertrude was very much rundown. She was all broken out with pimples and eruptions on her hands and legs. I tried everything for her but nothing did her much good. She was only 16 years old and was working at tailoring. Her aunt Sophia advised us to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she has gained in every way. Her skin and color are good, her nerves are better, she has a good appetite now and seems well and strong. We think the Vegetable Compound is the best medicine for girls to take and we will answer letters asking about it."—Mrs. Mary Earle, 817 S. Montford Ave., Baltimore, Maryland.

FIRST INSTALMENT.

"Wanted on the 'phone, sir," a voice announced.

Dr. Stopford, of the Atlantic flier Ruritania, disentangled his fingers from a one-ended black tie which refused to function, and turned, surveying Huff, his man. Dr. Stopford was tall, slim-waisted, and possessed of light brown hair which grew in little tight waves envied by more than one woman. He was very flesh-colored and looked ridiculously young. One of his blue eyes was windowed by an extremely small rimless monocle which apparently grew there.

"Look here, Huffy," said he, "why do you always crop up when the battle's over? I've crushed two perfectly good collars because you forgot to leave a stud out. I'm no good at fixin' stiff collars with a needle an' cotton."

"Sorry, sir. You didn't tell me you were dressing tonight."

"Do I ever go ashore naked?"

"No, sir."

"Commander Drake Roscoe, sir."

"What!" exclaimed Stopford. "Oh, I hope the 'do' isn't off!"

He hurried out onto the deck and along to where a telephone connecting with shore stood on a temporary support. He took it up, and:

"Hullo, Roscoe, old scout!" he called. "Who's dead?"

"I'm not!" a voice replied, a voice which had a definite timbre of determination. "But there's a change of plan, Stoppy. I have had to put the ladies off for reasons which I will explain. It's a stag party, old boy, and it may end in a roughhouse."

"Cheery ho," Stopford murmured. "Failin' dalliance with the fair, there's nothing I enjoy more than a spot of danger."

"Right ho," said Stopford.

He replaced the 'phone, glanced down on to the deserted pier and then went back to his cabin, where Huff was daintily unscrewing the top of a pearl stud.

"Hullo!" said Stopford. "Hullo, hullo! Where did you find it?"

"In the case, sir."

"Extraordinary!" the doctor murmured. "Last place I thought of lookin'."

At about this time a man was seated in perhaps the most peculiar room in New York city. It was square and some ten paces from wall to wall. It seemingly possessed neither doors nor windows. The floor was laid with black and gold oriental tiles upon which some dark, rich rugs were strewn. The walls were decorated in black and gold and the ceiling was a lofty dome of dull gold. Four lamps concealed in tall black tripods illuminated the place by reflection from this dome. There was practically no furniture with the exception of a long, narrow antique table—apparently a communion table—set square center of the western wall; behind this stood a chair, or, rather, throne.

And in this chair the man was seated.

He was draped in a black gown similar to that of a master of arts, and he wore light yellow rubber gloves. These were of so thin a texture as almost to deceive one, in the dim light, creating an illusion of hairless yellow hands—long-fingered and flexible.

They rested before him on the table top, these strange hands; the left close to the base of a standard lamp so shaded as to leave the man's face always in half-shadow; the right upon a keyboard. There were many curious objects upon the long narrow table, but no human being, entering that room, would have had eyes for them. He would have seen nothing but the shadowed face of the one who sat there, silent, motionless.

It was a dead yellow face—the face of a mummy. The eyes were like the eyes of an Egyptian god. The nose was shadowy, indistinct, the mouth a mere slit. No hair crowned the high skull.

The effect was indescribably terrifying until one realized that this yellow horror was a wonderful mask of the same delicate texture as the gloves.

Now, the man so hideously disguised depressed one of the keys at the same moment that a point of green light, like the eye of some animal, appeared upon the blank wall of the room before him.

A voice, having intonations suggesting the Levant, spoke. From the sound one must have supposed the speaker to be in the room. But the room, which contained no visible speaking tube and no telephone, remained empty except for that one appalling occupant.

"Zone Officer 3-B is here."

No movement showed upon the yellow mask when the man at the table replied. He had the accent and intonations of culture, but laid undue stress upon certain vowels. His tones were smoothly musical.

"Observation Room," he said.

He depressed another key. The point of green light disappeared. He touched a switch. The room became plunged in darkness. Then, uncannily, a thing seemingly supernatural—the form of a man—took shape in the darkness!

The phantom was that of one sunk deep in materialism, a physically powerful man, heavy-jowled and small-eyed. His nose was like the beak of a vulture, and, holding a soft hat in one hand, he was looking about him suspiciously. This was a gross, uneasy shadow.

For fully five minutes the masked man sat studying it, then, as soft light reflooded the room, the apparition vanished. A key was touched—and the point of green sprang up.

"I will see him."

Having spoken, he depressed the second key and the green light went out. Twenty seconds later a door slid noiselessly open in the south wall, revealing a small elevator. In the elevator stood the substance of the shadow.

Seen in the flesh and in his natural coloring, the man was less sinister than his image. Save for the evasive little eyes and that bird-of-prey nose, he might have passed for a decent citizen. He was by nature a fellow sure of himself, but he came out into that black and gold dome room with marked hesitancy.

The door closed silently. He stood staring at the man behind the table, and his free hand openend and closed spasmodically. Then:

"Zone Officer 3-B," the suave voice began, "why did you fail to report to your divisional headquarters that Mr. Peter Champion received a visit from you at midnight on Wednesday last?"

The man addressed failed utterly to hide his consternation. He moistened his lips and was about to attempt some reply, when:

"I went on zone work," he finally replied.

His voice was somewhat hoarse.

"By whose orders?"

"Nobody's. I thought he was worth covering, that's all."

From his place at the extreme end of the room he was staring, staring, at that dead yellow face.

Moistening his lips again:

"I got to know Champion by ringing him up and telling him that his house was being watched by cat-burglars," the man replied. "Then I called late last Wednesday night and sent my card in. So far there was nothing to report."

"Wrong," the masked man interrupted gently. "You were promoted to charge of Zone 3-B in January, 1927. You know the regulations as well as I."

He touched a key. Before him, upon the hitherto blank wall, a map of New York appeared, brilliantly illuminated. It was a large and a wonderfully detailed map. It had many strange features; the most notable its division into a series of zones, distinctively colored. Their center was a spot in the heart of the city.

"Refresh your memory," he directed.

"You see," said the musical voice. "The Champion home is in Zone A-1."

No one, listen intently though he might, could have determined whether the smooth, formidable creature enthroned behind the table believed the man's story or otherwise. However, apparently he did, for:

"Be very careful," he went on. "Your explanation is unsatisfactory. Peter Champion is not in your zone. You have deliberately broken two vital regulations. First, you have failed to report to your divisional headquarters; second, you have undertaken inquiries, without orders, outside your zone. Forward your proper report not later than noon tomorrow. You may go."

In obedience to some control under the speaker's hand, the door of the elevator shaft slid open—and Zone Officer 3-B turned and went out. The door closed again; the green light appeared.

"I will see the officer."

A few moments later the elevator door opened again—and a woman entered composedly. The door closed behind her.

From her smart little hat crushed down rakishly upon short, coppery hair to the tips of her pointed shoes she displayed the chic which Paris gives. She was rather above medium height, slender, but curvy. Her features were irregular, yet, when she spoke, or more particularly when she smiled, few men would have denied her beauty. Her charming accent proclaimed her to be a daughter of France.

Her self-possession in that uncanny room and in the presence of the masked horror was admirable. The man at the table did not stir when she inclined her head in greeting, but:

"Zone Officer 2-A," he said—and his voice was smoother than ever—"your work has been excellent. Tonight, Commander Roscoe will be at the Lotos Club and not at the Ritz. He has realized his danger. He and his friend will dine alone. Detail a sector captain to trace the restaurant selected. Report to the chief chemist."

The girl—for she was little more—started involuntarily. Her expression hardened, lending a sudden angularity, almost haggard, to her face.

"I, myself, am to carry out this?" she asked.

"In person."

"It is not your affair," said the masked man suavely. "You are in no way responsible. But success means promotion. Start at once."

The elevator door slid open.

Still composedly, but wearing an oddly set expression, Zone Officer 2-A turned and went out. The door closed. The red light glowed.

"H. Q.," said a voice.

The red light faded. The man at the table raised his gloved hands and unfastened the hideous mask. . . .

Peter Champion, sometimes referred to as "The Lumber King," paced from end to end of his plainly-furnished study. He looked what he was—a retired woodsman—but he didn't look like a man who could write his personal check for $5,000,000 and know it would be honored.

Although it was past the social dinner hour, he wore a rough tweed suit by no means fashionable in cut. The pictures on his walls were of giant trees, monarchs of some northern forest; his study appointments were practical and unornamental. This great old New York house which he had bought to please his wife was like an echoing mausoleum, now that his wife had left him. And his son—

But Peter Champion's grim face which looked like a carving in mahogany, chiselled by Jacob Epstein, told a curious world that the old lumberman still stood, a mighty tree in the financial forest—ruffled, but unbowed by the storm.

His big gnarled hands, which even today could wield an ax with any man living, opened and clenched, and opened and clenched, as he paced ceaselessly up and down the silent room. Once he paused, listened intently for some moments, and then resumed his bear-like promenade.

Make It Pay You Big---Win One of These Fine Prizes

YOU can earn one of these fine new automobiles or radios, in your spare time during the next few weeks, by entering THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION'S $25,000 PRIZE CAMPAIGN. The First Grand Prize is a $3,120 PIERCE-ARROW SEDAN. The Second Grand Prize is a $2,835 FRANKLIN SEDAN. Either of these cars may be yours for spare time effort. Even though you do not land the PIERCE-ARROW or the FRANKLIN, there are still 16 more cars—20 radios—and cash commissions for all active candidates not securing a prize. Subscriptions to The Atlanta Constitution get credits and credits win the awards.

The campaign is just starting and ends May 31. There is plenty of time in which to see all your friends and acquaintances and get their subscriptions. Start today by sending in the Entry Blank below.

The territory covered by The Atlanta Constitution has been divided into two divisions and these divisions have been divided into districts of five each. The first division comprises that territory in the counties of Fulton and DeKalb. The second division comprises all the other territory. The first division includes districts number one to five, inclusive. The second division includes districts number six to ten, inclusive. Candidates are NOT limited to their own division or district in securing subscriptions, they may be obtained anywhere. Any person residing within the prescribed territory, excepting employes, members of employes' immediate families, carriers or agents of The Atlanta Constitution, may become a candidate.

How Prize Will Be Awarded

To the candidate securing the highest total of credits during The Atlanta Constitution's $25,000 Prize Campaign will be awarded the $3,120 PIERCE-ARROW SEDAN (First Grand Prize); to the second highest candidate in credit standing will be given the $2,835 FRANKLIN SEDAN (Second Grand Prize). These two awards will be made irrespective of the divisions or districts from which the winners may be entered.

After the two grand prize winners have been eliminated from further consideration, the three candidates highest in credit totals in the City Division (First Division) will be determined and to them will be given, in the order named, the $1,615 NASH SEDAN, the $1,180 CHRYSLER BROUGHAM and the $935 ESSEX COACH. In like manner the three candidates highest in credit standings in the Outside Division (Second Division) will be decided and to them will be awarded, in the following order, the $1,495 REO SEDAN, $1,295 MARMON-ROOSEVELT SEDAN and the $965 PONTIAC SEDAN. These division car awards will be made regardless of district boundaries in each division.

After the two grand prize winners and the six division prize winners of cars have been eliminated from further competition, next will be determined the three candidates highest in credit standing in each of the ten districts. To the leader in each district will be awarded one of the five $675 CHEVROLET COACHES or one of the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS. The five $675 CHEVROLET COACHES will be given to the five highest of these ten candidates and the five $608 FORD TUDOR SEDANS will be given to the remaining five winners of district automobiles. The second highest candidate, in credit standing, in each district will be given a $174.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO, and the third highest candidate, in credit standing, in each district will be given a $140.50 ATWATER KENT RADIO.

No candidate can win more than one of the above listed prizes. All candidates not winning a regular prize will be paid a cash commission of ten per cent on all new prepaid subscriptions and five per cent on all new contract subscriptions turned in by them, providing they remain active from time of entry and turn in at least $50 in new subscriptions.

Credit Value of Subscriptions

Subscription rates of The Atlanta Constitution are shown below, together with the regular number of credits allowed on both new and old subscription payments. Candidates are not limited to districts: subscriptions may be obtained anywhere. Positively no subscriptions accepted for less than six months.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Fizzling out of crop scare reports today did much to tumble wheat down to new bottom prices for the current season. July and September contracts, representing wheat yet to be harvested, were much more depressed than March and May, which stand for wheat ready to be milled at once. Dust storms today in Nebraska and persistent dry weather in Kansas aroused more or less anxiety among traders, but no actual serious crop damage to wheat was heard from.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 3-8 to 2 1-4c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1c off to 1c up, with oats varying from 1-8c decline to 1-8 to 1-4c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Lowest prices of the day in the wheat market here, and also for the season so far, came just before dealings were ended. To some extent the setbacks were due to increased weakness of values at Winnipeg and Liverpool, May wheat at Liverpool having dropped to 11-8c under the same month in Chicago, with export demand for North American wheat showing no improvement. Meanwhile, Canada was reported to be competing sharply with Argentina and Australia in efforts to capture the small amount of European business available. In addition, there were advices here that German farmers are in a desperate plight, and that further government measures restricting grain shipments into Germany are pending.

Contributing to selling pressure on the Chicago wheat market was the fact that official figures relative to farm reserve stocks of domestic wheat were larger than had generally been expected. On the other hand, more or less unfavorable crop conditions in Nebraska and Kansas, as well as some other states, acted at times as a rallying influence. A good deal of notice also was taken of statement from farm board officials that there is no intention of sending United States wheat abroad at prices lower than those which American millers are now paying. Nevertheless buying power dwindled toward the last, and the finish was near to the bottommost level reached.

Rye collapsed with wheat, and sold at prices not touched before since July, 1914. Corn broke the current season's low-price record. A bearish factor was that farm stocks of corn in eight leading states were shown to be larger than at this time last year. Oats sympathized with weakness of other grain.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Accumulation of foreign bonds proceeded vigorously in today's short market session, with the result that many issues in this group broke their previous high marks for the year or longer.

Much of the recent buying of dollar obligations of foreign governments, states, corporations and municipalities has come from abroad, and the impressive response to these inquiries indicates that floating supplies are rather limited. The current of this group is received with considerable enthusiasm in investment circles in view of the fact that the flotation of several important foreign loans, including the reparations issue, has been awaiting signs of definite market improvement.

Domestic rails rose rather easily during the two and a half hours of trading and new highs were numerous. Utilities took an upward course, while the industrials held steady. United States governments, none of which are now at a discount, were very quiet, but the treasury 4 1-4s rose to the new 1930 high of 113.

Latin Americans Popular.

Latin-American issues, which offer substantial yields, moved in some volume and were almost uniformly higher. Brazil 8s touched par, the highest price in months. New tops for the year or longer also appeared in Buenos Aires 6s, most of the Argentine 6s, Chile Mortgage Bank 6s, Bolivia 8s, Peru first 6s, Rio Janeiro 6 1-2s, Rio Grande Do Sul 7s and others. Among the European government and municipal bonds, Italy Kingdom 7s, Dresden City 7s, Berlin City Electric 6 1-2s of 1959 and Milan 6 1-2s exceeded their previous highs.

Trading in the rails reflected the favorable sentiment toward all divisions of this group and a miscellaneous assortment, especially the high-grade bonds, was bid up to peak prices. This movement embraced Chicago & Alton 3s, Chicago & Northwestern 4 3-4s, Rock Island general 4s, Great Northern 5 1-2s, Canadian Pacific 4s, Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s, Louisville & Nashville collateral 5s and Missouri, Kansas & Texas first 4s New York Central 3 1-2s rallied 1 3-8, Southern Railway general 6s and Union Pacific refunding 4s rose 7-8 each.

Amusements Fluctuate.

Amusement company bonds made further gains. Keith Corporation 6s advanced 8 points and Shubert 6s and Pathe 7s one each. Loew's 6s sold off 1 3-8 to 120.

Obligations of cement manufacturers declined, North American Cement 6 1-2s losing 3 points and Penn Dixie 6s 1. Otherwise the industrials were able to absorb selling rather easily, although fractional net declines came out in Armour 4 1-2s, American Smelting 5s and a few others. Shell Union Oil 5s, well supported, improved half a point.

Buying of utilities was fairly active. Utah Power & Light 5s, Peoples Gas of Chicago 6s, New Orleans Public Service 5s and American Telephone 5s of 1965 rose 1-4 to 1-2.

Bonds with stock conversion privileges were dull. American Telephone 4 1-2s, unchanged; International Telephone 4 1-2s and New Haven 6s, up 3-4, and the new Alleghany Corporation 5s led in activity. The last-named issue closed at 97 3-4 against the offering price of 97.

Today's offering of three-year 5 1-2 per cent gold notes of the Baldwin Locomotive Company, totaling $12,000,000, was oversubscribed.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The cotton market was generally firmer today on trade buying and covering which appeared to be coupled with some buying for a reaction promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and talk of a firmer technical position after recent severe declines. Fluctuations were somewhat irregular, but the market showed increasing firmness in the late trading with May selling up to 14.41 and closing at 14.39. The general market, which closed at 12:30 p. m. as a mark of respect for the memory of William Howard Taft, was finally firm, at net declines of 20 to 30 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 6 to 22 points in response to the relatively firm Liverpool cables. The bulge met considerable realizing or liquidation but it was absorbed on slight setbacks with the market showing net advances of about 17 to 25 points during the middle of the morning. It still seemed to be meeting some cotton, but the comparatively light offerings were absorbed on setbacks of 8 or 10 points and the market firmed up again later with March advancing to 14.19; and the old October contracts to 14.66. These prices represented net advances of about 24 to 31 points on the old contracts and the close was within a point or two of the best. New contracts were relatively easy but sold about 20 points net higher.

Private cable advices from Manchester said that the report of the International Cotton Manufacturers' Organization showed world's consumption of American cotton for the first half of this season amounting to 7,083,000 bales compared with 7,463,000 for the six months ending July 31, 1929. World's consumption of all kinds according to this report, however, amounted to 13,202,000 for the first six months of this season compared with 13,014,000 for the preceding six months and there were rather conflicting comments on the showing. Some were inclined to consider it bearish on American cotton, while others emphasized the heavy consumption of all growths as an indication of world requirements.

Liverpool cables reported covering, continental and Bombay buying in that market. Exports today 19,148, making 5,595,868 so far this season. Port receipts 13,343. United States port stocks 2,039,140.

SPOTS SURGE UP AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—(AP) The cotton market was active today and prices experienced a substantial advance, due mainly to an improved technical position and a feeling that a rally was past due. May, after advancing to 14.08 eased off to 13.98, but later advanced to 14.18 and closed at 14.17 or 28 points net higher for the day. The general market closed steady at net advances of 20 to 28 points. The market closed at 11:30 a. m., instead of 2 p. m., out of respect to the memory of William Howard Taft.

Liverpool came in 8 to 9 points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 14 to 20 points. Prices advanced a little further after the start to 14.08 for May; 14.32 for July and 14.47 for October or 19 to 21 points above the previous close.

After easing off 10 to 13 points on realizing near the end of the first hour prices again rallied and made new highs right at the end of the short session with May at 14.18; or 14 to 20 points up from the lows. The close practically was at the top, showing net gains on the active months of 20 to 28 points.

Port receipts, 10,692; for week, 24,796; for year, 7,804,908; last year, 8,626,127. Exports, 19,137; for week, 38,317; for year, 5,467,063; last year, 6,295,810. Stock, 2,111,148; last year, 1,882,480. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston, 104,616; last year, 87,744. Spot sales, 5,560; last year, 12,948.

x New highs.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER,
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The bull contingent encountered increasing opposition in today's brief session of the stock market, but waded gingerly through the rising flood of liquidation. Scores of issues were pushed further into new high ground for the year, and although there were sharp setbacks in spots, gains slightly outweighed the losses.

The price index of 90 leading shares closed 4-10 of a point higher at 153.4, the highest since last October, and slightly less than 10 points below the level of a year ago. Trading was the swiftest seen since December, and the ticker was delayed as much as half an hour for the first time this year. For the two and one-half hous session sales totaled 2,635,500 shares. The market closed at 12:30 p. m. in respect to the memory of ex-President Taft.

Tax Date Nears.

The approach of the midmonth tax settlement date and continued uneasiness in some quarters lest the market has more than discounted the improvement in industry contributed largely to the selling. Tax settlement dates are likely to cause firm monetary conditions, and normally are preceded by a moderate amount of liquidation. Furthermore, about $80,000,000 worth of new securities come due for payment this week. Call money was firmer, renewing at 4 per cent and failing to recede to 3 1-2 as it did yesterday. Interior banks were said to be drawing on balances at this center.

The consolidated statement of the weekly reporting federal reserve member banks showed the first substantial increase in loans on securities this year, amounting to $96,000,000, approximately equivalent to the gain of $94,000,000 in brokers' loans reported for the same period. This probably reflected the growing public participation in the market.

General Motors Surges.

Among important stocks reaching new high levels for the recovery, General Motors was conspicuous, selling up 1 1-2 points to 45 5-8. Since the split-up of the shares, more than a year ago, creating approximately 43,000,000 shares, market operators have found this capitalization rather unwieldly for their purposes, but oldtime sponsors of the stock are understood to have renewed operations, feeling that the current low levels are unjustified. Radio sold up nearly a point to a new top at 53 1-8, then lost its gain.

Utilities were mostly inclined to ease, but Electric Power and Light was a firm spot, rising more than 5 points to a new 1930 high. Most of the steels moved in narrow ranges, but Inland jumped 6 points to a new top. Wall Street gossip has it slated to become a part of the Republic combine. Other issues reaching new peak levels for the year included Du Pont, Coca-Cola, Underwood-Elliott, Reynolds Tobacco B, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, Timken Roller Bearing, Packard, Chicago Pneumatic, Real Silk Hosiery and Weston Instrument. Estimates indicating a further reduction in crude oil production last week stimulated bullish activity in the lower priced oils. Barnsdall A, Atlantic Refining, American Republics, Rio Grande, Amerada and Texas Pacific Land climbed 1 to 3 points to new top levels for 1930.

Bear Targets.

Simmons and United States Industrial Alcohol were again selected as targets for bearish operations, and hammered down about 5 and 8 points, the former to a new low for the year. Fashion Park sagged to its previous low on passing of the dividend. Air Reduction, Byers, Case, Hershey Chocolate, International Cement, Indian Refining, Loews and Mexican Seaboard were among issues reacting 2 to 5 points.

Commodity markets were irregular. Cotton rallied from $1 to $1.50 a bale as firmer Liverpool quotations prompted covering. Wheat, however, was again under pressure. The July positions lost nearly 2 cents more, selling close to $1.05 a bushel.

DAY IN FINANCE

By R. L. BARNUM

New York state factory unemployment drops to lowest February figure since 1914. Industrial commissioner challenges Hoover's statement.

NEW YORK, March 11.—For a two and half hour session the turnover was heavy, 2,628,000 shares. The tape at the close was 20 minutes behind the floor. Buying matched selling to an unusual degree. At the close the average price of 20 rails was down .02 of a point with 30 industrials up .013 of a point.

Steel common, Bethlehem, Consolidated Gas closed unchanged from last night. Sears, Roebuck was down 1 1-2 points, Simms Bed 4 to the lowest level in four years. Industrial Alcohol 7. General Motors was up 1 1-2 points and the feature of the market on very heavy trading, blocks running from 5,000 to 16,000 shares. According to rumors John J. Raskob and the DuPonts are back in the stock and talking 50. Columbia Graphophone was up 1 3-8 on rumors of a merger with Radio. American Can was up 2 points, Electric Power & Light 5.

Call money renewed and continued at 4 per cent against the low of 3 1-2 yesterday and recent sessions. Firmness in call money was due to withdrawal of balances here by interior banks, corporations and individuals preparing to make income tax payments on Saturday or earlier. Time money was easier but with the rates unchanged.

The First National Bank here declared a quarterly dividend of 25 per cent. Of this 5 per cent came from the bank and 20 per cent from the First Securities Company.

Midland States Steel declared an initial dividend of 75 cents on its common stock making the annual rate $3. An initial quarterly dividend of $2 was declared on the first preferred and one of 50 cents on the second preferred. The quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the common stock is equivalent to $7 a year for shareholders who accept the offer to exchange for one share of new common and two shares of second preferred.

Consider New Plan.

Woolworth directors are considering a plan to segregate foreign holdings and then declare a dividend with such stock, according to rumors heard here. Within the past three years the company has increased its holding in foreign stores from $14,500,000 to $27,500,000. A dividend made up of foreign holdings would be equal to $3 a share on the outstanding Woolworth stock.

February building permits in 572 principal cities in the country foot up $125,000,000 according to figure given out today. This is a decrease of 2 per cent compared with January. In recent years there has been a seasonal increase for February over January averaging 7.3 per cent.

Tidewater Associated Oil reports $1.73 a share earned for 1929 on 5,500,000 shares of stock against $2.01 for 1928 on 4,852,000 shares. The balance sheet shows inventories of crude and refined oil valued at $40,949,000 against $29,213,000 at the close of 1928.

See Rate Reduction.

The treasury offering of $450,000,000 3 1-3 per cent nine months notes received total subscriptions of $1,219,000,000, giving fresh evidence of widespread expectations on continued easy money rates. Wall Street is confident that the federal reserve bank here will reduce its rediscount rate to 3 1-2 per cent in the near future.

The Cleveland group of capitalists behind the recent Republic Steel merger is believed by Wall Street to own 500,000 shares of Youngstown Sheet and Tube. A conference to consider the proposed Youngstown and Bethlehem merger was held today at Cleveland. It is understood that the Cleveland group is opposed to the Youngstown-Bethlehem merger, which has been approved by the directors of both Youngstown and Bethlehem. Whether the Cleveland group can block the merger remains to bee seen. According to gossip here the Youngstown-Bethlehem merger originated with bankers who underwrote the offering of 800,000 shares of Bethlehem at $110 a share.

For the past few days stock market leaders have been moving sidewise. Stocks, however, that have been quiet for months have become active. Pools in speculative stocks are again busy. Under such market conditions good judges would not be surprised if a technical reaction occurred in the near future.

Factory Employment Falls.

Employment in factories in New York state dropped nearly one-half of one per cent in February compared with January to the lowest February figure since 1914, according to figures given out today by Miss Francis Perkins, New York state industrial commissioner. Miss Perkins points out that usually factories begin to take on employes in February in anticipation of spring orders. She points out that the normal seasonal gain in February over January is 1 per cent.

Challeging the statement given out by President Hoover at the end of last week to the effect that unemployment was marked in only 12 states, Miss Perkins points out that there are only 12 industrial states in the Union and then asks, what about agricultural unemployment.

Albany Statement.

Today's statement from Albany on the unemployment situation attracted attention because so far this year Miss Perkins has been right in her reports. Early in the year Washington gave out a statement that there had been a definie trend for the better in the employment situation. A few days later Miss Perkins reported that this did not apply to New York state, that unemployment here was increasing and that she wanted the facts known to prevent unemployed elsewhere from coming here to seek employment. She reported that the early January figures indicated a further decline of 2 per cent compared with December. Some weeks later Washington gave out figures for the country as a whole for January which confirmed preliminary reports made by Miss Perkins. Recently Washington has been blowing first hot and then cold on the unemployment situation.

As far as New York city is concerned, for the third time since it opened its doors in 1848 the Little Church Around the Corner is taking care of a "breadline." Randolph Ray, the recor, admitted today that his church is now issuing 100 meal tickets daily and if more funds were available it could give assistance to many hungry men seeking employment.

While admitting that the unemployment situation is serious, usually well informed Wall Street is confident that a definite turn for the better is at hand based on easy money plus the beginning of the outdoor work season.

Report Earnings.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. today reported record net income for 1929 totalling $27,062,611, which was equal after preferred dividends to $10.20 per common share. It contrasts with net for 1928 of $20,814,940.

Sales billed in 1929 also set a new record at $216,364,58, against $189,050,302 in 1928. The volume of unfilled orders on January 1, last was $62,025,389, an increase of approximately $15,000,000 over the first of the previous year.

The annual report of the General Foods Corporation shows 1929 net earnings, including those of subsidiaries prior to acquisition, of $20,519,527, equivalent to $3.89 a share on 5,274,527 shares outstanding on December 31. Net earnings, not including subsidiaries prior to acquisition were $19,422,313, or $3.68 on the same number of shares, as compared with a 1928 net of $14,555,683, or $3.10 per share on 4,682,736 shares.

The pamphlet report of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company for 1929, published today, disclosed a net income last year of $10,102,073, equal to $11.82 a share on the common stock. This compares with $8,216,507, or $11.01 a share in 1928.

Real Silk Hosiery Mills, Inc., had recorded net profit of $2,276,714 in 1929, or $9.31 per common share. This compares with $1,305,531, or $5.49 a share for the 15 months ended December 31, 1928.

FOX SUES TRUSTEES FOR THEATER CONTROL

NEW YODK, March 11.—(AP)—A suit for an injunction to restrain John E. Otterson and H. L. Stuart from voting stock holdings in Fox Film and Fox Theaters Corporation, which he deposited with them under a trust agreement last December, was begun by William Fox in United States district court today.

The stock of which Mr. Fox asked to be named the sole owner was voted by him in the recent meeting of stockholders of the two companies, under protest from Mr. Otterson and Mr. Stuart. Holding the majority control of the trusteeship, Mr. Fox being the third member, they wished to vote the stock against the plan of refinancing advanced by the Banc-America Corporation and other banks.

Fox disputed their claim, charging that the trusteeship had been violated, and since he was listed in the Fox companies records as the holder of record of the stock he was allowed to vote it.

The suit is similar to the state supreme court action decided last Wednesday, the day of the stockholders' meeting, in favor of Mr. Otterson and Mr. Stuart. In that action Justice Aaron J. Levy held that the trusteeship was valid by law and that the stock was being held in escrow by the Bankers Trust Company. He denied the petition of Fox to be named sole owner of the stock.

Fox charged that the trusteeship agreement was violated by demands for the resignation of directors and attempted widespread changes in the personnel of the Fox enterprises. He asked that the court declare the agreement null and void because of these alleged violations and that an order be issued cancelling the agreement.

Fox signed the trusteeship in December when various stockholders were filing receivership actions against him charging him with dissipating the assets of the company. Otterson and Stuart headed a banking group that was planning a refinancing plan for the film and theater companies. This was never made in such form as to be acceptable to Mr. Fox and his co-directors.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FAVORS DRY CHANGE

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(UN) Modification of the Jones law to strip federal judges and prosecutors of the discretionary powers it gives them in the trial of prohibition cases was recommended today by a house judiciary sub-committee.

The Stobbs bill defining "slight and casual" violations of the dry law and removing them from the category of crimes punishable by drastic Jones law penalties was reported favorably to the full committee.

Under the Jones law as it now stands, any violator of the prohibition law is a potential felon. A federal attorney is free to determine whether he shall be prosecuted under the Jones law and the judge to decide whether its maximum punishment of $10,000 fine and five years' imprisonment is to be revoked.

The Stobbs bill would declare it a "slight or casual" violation of law to make a single sale of liquor, manufacture a small quantity, transport a small quantity or to assist in transportation as a casual employe. Such offenses would be punishable by a maximum of $500, six months' imprisonment or both.

The measure would serve the double purpose of depriving federal courts of powers which many believe to be unduly great and of laying the foundation for carrying out the recommendation of the law enforcement commission that court commissioners be given power to try petty prohibition violators.

The sub-committee also reported favorably the Christopherson bill to create an entirely new category of federal crime. It would classify as a "petty offense" any violation of law not punishable by more than $500 fine and six months' imprisonment and not involving moral turpitude.

PRINCETONIAN JOINS MODIFICATION.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 11.—(UN)—Organization of college sentiment in favor of modification of liquor laws was begun today by the Princetonian, student newspaper at the university.

In co-operation with the Crimson, of Harvard, the Princetonian hopes to bring before undergraduates the entire question of prohibition, and eventually to poll college sentiment.

Policeman Is Killed By Hit-Run Driver

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—A policeman was deliberately run down and killed today by a speeding motorist whom he attempted to stop. The driver escaped after another patrolman had fired a bullet through his windshield and pursued him several blocks.

Witnesses said Patrolman Joseph J. Scott stepped into the roadway and signaled the driver to stop, but the motorist veered his car toward the policeman and ran him down.

The officer's body was dragged 90 feet, then with a jerk of the steering wheel the driver flung the policeman clear and sped away.

Patrolman John Sullivan fired a shot through the windshield of the car and then chased the automobile through lower Harlem and the upper east side until he lost the trail.

Scott died soon after being admitted to Harlem hospital.

National Title Week Set for March 17-22

The third annual observance of National Title Week has been set for the week of March 17 this year, according to word received by O. M. Fuller, president of Georgia Title and Guaranty Company. During the period from March 17 to 22, an intensive educational campaign will be carried on throughout the country to acquaint the public generally with the title insurance as a form of protection to the ownership of real estate.

Service clubs and civic organizations will be addressed on the subject during the week, while an advertising campaign will also be employed to impress upon the newspaper readers the importance of this protection.

It is pointed out by Mr. Fuller that a nation-wide survey just completed by New York Title and Mortgage Company has revealed that no section of the United States is free from title dispute and that litigation of this type is daily becoming more common.

Johnson City Banks Join Hamilton Group

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., March 11. (AP)—The Unaka and City National Bank of Johnson City today announced affiliation with Hamilton National Associates, Inc., with purchase of a large block of its stock by C. M. Preston, of the Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, who has just been elected a director of the local institution.

T. R. Preston, president of the Hamilton National Bank of Chattanooga, announced that the Unaka and City National becomes the second largest in the Hamilton group of 15 banks, with resources of more than $60,000,000. He said establishment of a headquarters here was contemplated.

Legge Tells Farmers To Cut Wheat Crop

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(UN) An ultimatum to wheat growers to cut acreage 10 per cent or go broke was laid down tonight by Chairman Alexander Legge, of the farm board.

Legge also said the United States cannot hope to compete in the foreign wheat market against its world competitors.

The farm board is going ahead with its plans to buy surplus wheat and expects to have 100,000,000 bushels on hand by the end of this season. But if the acreage is increased; if the farmers take the attitude, "Let George do it," the farm board will have to unload, Legge warned. The effect of such an unloading on wheat prices for next season would be cataclysmal.

Congress indicated its support of Legge's wheat purchase program today when the senate appropriations committee added $100,000,000 he asked to the deficiency appropriation bill. Republican leaders will try to get the tariff bill laid aside for a few hours to pass this measure tomorrow.

State Printing Plant Is Rejected Again

JACKSON, Miss., March 11.—(AP) Battle-scarred printing plant legislation received another setback today when a house committee unfavorably reported a senate bill for establishment of a state-owned printing plant.

This marked the fourth time such legislation has been presented to the house printing committee since 1928—and the fourth time that this committee has rejected it.

But its champion, Governor Bilbo, will not let the issue stop here, he said. It will be carried to the people in 1931 when he contemplates making the race for state superintendent of education.

Establishment of a state printing plant was the paramount issue in his campaign for governor in 1927, he said, and it was upon the plant that he based his election.

Two members of the committee announced intention of filing a minority report, seeking to bring the bill to the floor of the house.

NEW PRODUCE MARKET CREATES ENTHUSIASM

Farmers in the vicinity of Atlanta and the housewives of the city are enthusiastic over the possibilities of a new produce market which will be built for this community by Sears, Roebuck & Company at the junction of Ponce de Leon avenue and Glen Iris drive.

The market building will be a compact sanitary unit where the farmers may come daily and offer for sale fresh, home-raised fruits, vegetables and dairy products. The market will be under the supervision of a market master whose function it will be to see that both the farmer and the housewife may enjoy the fullest benefits of this method of distribution.

"Everyone to whom we have mentioned this plan has expressed hearty approval," declares L. H. Beall, general manager of the Atlanta region of the company. "We have sought the opinion of the county agents and farm leaders of the territory and they have been unanimous in their support of the idea. The greatest advantage of the market will be to the farmers. Under our plan of operation the participating farmers can, with very little effort and without interfering in any way with their present operations on their farm, add to their present annual income from $200 to $500. The building which we propose to start with will only accomodate about 50 farmers each day, but advance indications are that the need of more space will soon make itself felt. Even now the farmers are setting about to adjust their planting to the demands."

The Atlanta market is part of a national program of the company to determine what can be done in the way of effecting economies and increasing the profits in farm marketing. Similar experiments conducted elsewhere in the south have been very gratifying.

It is the plan to have the first unit of the market structure ready for occupancy on or about April 15. As soon as a market master can be selected the actual work of contacting the farmers will begin.

Assisting the Sears Roebuck officials in the development of the plan are the county agents and local agricultural leaders. In commenting on the proposition Mayor I. N. Ragsdale said: "The establishment by Sears, Roebuck & Company of a farmers' market would undoubtedly prove of substantial encouragement and aid to a great many farmers in the territory surrounding Atlanta. It would also be of much advantage to housewives by assuring them a steady, all-year supply of fresh country produce."

The county agents co-operating in the project are Harry Brown, Atlanta, R. P. VanSant, of Marietta, and E. P. McGee, of Decatur, representing Fulton, Cobb and DeKalb counties.

High Praise Given Erlanger Company

Atlanta theatergoers awoke Tuesday morning to the realization that they have one of the finest resident producing companies in the country in this city. After the premiere performance of the Erlanger Theater Players on Monday night it did not take long for the large audience which attended to spread the word that something far above the ordinary in stage entertainment is now available at Atlanta's "playhouse beautiful" at prices so low as to be revolutionary.

Orders for season reservations came in rapidly at the Erlanger box office all day Tuesday and it is evident that the city has taken the new organization of young and clever players to its heart. Not the least of the praise for the production of "Let Us Be Gay," Rachel Crothers' sophisticated comedy which is the bill for the opening week, is devoted to the lavish and beautiful stage settings. The settings were made and painted in Atlanta especially for this production and people who saw the play in New York last season declare that the Erlanger production excels the original in beauty.

Miss Helen Louise Lewis, the leading lady; Butler Hixon, leading man, and all the other members of the splendid cast won the approval of Monday night's audience from the opening act and it appears that this organization will stay in Atlanta for many months to come. Director Harry McKee was the recipient of congratulations from all sides all day Tuesday.

Morning Musicale Will Be Given Today

The sixth of a series of morning musicales which are being presented by the Atlanta Music Club, to be given in the auditorium of the Wesley Memorial church at 10:30 o'clock this morning, is expected to be one of the most brilliant programs of the year.

Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore, president, requests all members to present the yellow card of membership which they were given at the Lhevinne concert at the door this morning. The new members may use the 1930-31 cards for the remainder of the 1929-1930 season, it is announced.

Miss Louise Barili, mezzo-soprano; Mrs. Lillian Rogers Gilbreath, pianist, and Frances Henley Gilbreath, violinist, three well-known Atlanta artists, are co-chairmen for the musical this morning. They will have assisting them Mrs. Alfredo Barili, accompanist, and Jose Gasca, 'cellist.

REPORTER AND GIRL HELD FOR EXTORTION

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 11.—(AP)—Morris Lavine, a newspaper reporter and Miss Leontine Johnson, former secretary of Sheridan C. Lewis, president of the defunct Julian Petroleum Corporation, were under arrest here today on suspicion of conspiring to commit extortion.

Blaney Matthews, chief investigator of the district attorney's office, who made the arrests yesterday, said Lavine had two envelopes containing $75,000 in his pocket when he was taken in custody as he left the office of Charles Crawford, a broker. District Attorney Buron Fitts, who said the $75,000 was the first payment on a $300,000 sum which the couple was alleged to have demanded from various persons connected with the Julian company, declared the entire case would be presented to the grand jury Wednesday.

Miss Johnson, who recently testified at a deposition hearing being held in connection with a suit by Julian stockholders to collect $12,000,000 from the Los Angeles stock exchange and 64 brokers, was arrested at her apartment. The stockholders' suit is seeking recovery of money allegedly lost in manipulation of Julian securities.

Lavine and Miss Johnson, who were held incommunicado in county jail today, were charged with plotting to extort the money from a group of bankers and brokers under threat of publication in Lavine's newspaper of a series of articles exposing irregularities involved in the $100,000,000 Julian Corporation stock over-issue.

District Attorney Fitts said operatives from his office had been in touch with the alleged conspiracy for some time, and that he had numerous witnesses, data on telephone conversations and other records to substantiate his case. He said the articles were prepared jointly by Lavine and Miss Johnson and that persons involved in the Julian fiasco were advised unless they "paid up" they would be exposed.

Fitts said Cranford, Kent Parrott and Abe Morris, brokers, were met by Lavine.

Lavine denied that he had been a party to any extortion scheme, and said he was acting merely as a representative of Miss Johnson.

Miss Johnson told Fitts the entire scheme was concocted by Lavine and that she knew nothing about the payment of the money or the demands until she was arrested.

Workman Is Killed Paying Taft Tribute

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Attempting to adjust a flagpole on which was suspended an ensign, at half mast in honor of the memory of former President Taft, an Equitable Trust Company porter, Andrew Kizmiak, fell to his death from the second floor of the Equitable Trust Company building at 15 Broad street today. He was dead when an ambulance arrived.

Taft's Old Chauffeur At Funeral Services

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—At the wheel of President Hoover's car outside the church during the Taft funeral services today was Francis H. Robinson, chauffeur to Mr. Taft when he was president.

President Taft was the first chief executive to have an automobile and Robinson was the first chauffeur at the White House. He stepped to the church door for just a moment today as the service began but duty called him back to the wheel after this brief farewell.

Robinson has driven for every president since he started work for Mr. Taft.

New Hotel Proposed.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., March 11.—(Special.)—A new hotel may be erected in Milledgeville as the result of inquiries and investigations now under way by a committee from the Milledgeville Kiwanis Club. The organization invited prominent hotel men to speak before them several weeks ago. Rev. F. H. Harding is president of the Kiwanis Club and Dr. Willam T. Wynn is secretary.

One Vote Costs City Of New York $250

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—A voting machine was set up and four election clerks and a policeman assigned to public school 99 today in order that Joseph Stanek, 46, lone resident of the eighth election district, might cast his vote in the special congressional election of the eighteenth district.

Stanek strolled into the voting booth at 10 o'clock, cast his ballot and left. The four election members and the policeman, however, who had arrived there at 6 a. m., were required by law to remain until 6 p. m. His vote cost the city $250.

The special election was held to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Congressman John F. Carew to the supreme court bench.

Emory's debaters were Davie Gerschon and Warren Cox, and the Loyola negative team was composed of John K. Bruun and Thomas E. Downey. The decision was 3 to 0.

Railroads Reopen Fruit Rate Case

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 11. (AP)—Florida railroad commission officials left here today for Jacksonville to attend a hearing to be held tomorrow by an examiner of the interstate commerce commission to consider an application of Florida carriers in proceedings known as the fruits and vegetables refrigeration case.

The interstate commission sometime ago awarded Florida fruit and vegetable producers a reduction of rates amounting to about $10 a car on refrigeration shipments, but gave the railroads authority to reopen the case as far as the charge to be made for icing the cars was concerned. This the railroads did and tomorrow's hearing at Jacksonville will be a continuation of one recently held at Washington.

State commission officials attending the hearing include T. T. Turnbull, counsel; F. J. Pettyjohn, accountant, and J. H. Tench, rate expert.

CLUB WILL DISCUSS COMMISSION FORM

The Twelfth Ward Improvement Club will hold a special meeting, sponsoring the five-man commission form of government for DeKalb county, in the Kirkwood Masonic hall at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night. All interested citizens are invited to attend.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 93

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Never in all his savage existence had Korak suffered such blighting terror—never before had he known what terror meant! Meriem might reach the trees before Tantor overtook her, but even her agility would not carry her beyond the reach of that relentless trunk—she would be dragged down and tossed . . . What was that? . . . Korak's eyes started from their sockets! A strange figure had leaped from the tree which Meriem had almost reached.

It was a white man, a giant in build, leaping beyond the girl straight into the path of the charging elephant! He was unarmed, recklessly facing what seemed to be certain death. With one hand raised, he faced the maddened Tantor. A sharp command broke from the stranger's lips. The great beast halted in its tracks. Meriem meanwhile had swung herself upward into the tree to safety. Korak breathed a sigh of relief not unmixed with wonder.

Then as he looked at Meriem's deliverer and recognition slowly dawned upon him, Korak's eyes went wide with incredulity and surprise. Tantor, rumbling angrily, swayed to and fro before the giant white man, who now stepped straight beneath the upraised trunk and spoke a low word of command. The savage look died from the elephant's eyes, and, as the man went toward Korak, Tantor trailed docilely at his heels. Meriem was watching, too, and wondering.

Suddenly the man turned and she saw his face! With a startled cry, "Bwana!" the girl dropped and ran to his side nor did the elephant attempt to molest her. Together the three went to the helpless Korak. He lay there with a pathetic appeal for forgiveness in his eyes. "Jack, my son!" cried the white giant kneeling at the ape-man's side. "Father!" came chokingly from the Killer's lips. "Thank heaven it was you. No one else could have stopped Tantor."

Lots for Sale 85

YOUR LAST CHANCE

$12 CASH and same monthly buys a residence lot in Suburb Beautiful, subdivision facing Lee street at South End of Camp Jesup. It is the last property this near Five Points at this price. Open two years, 100 lots sold, more than 25 houses built. Atlanta is to be a city of 1,000,000 people; never again may you get lots like these for this money. Every lot covered with trees, some corners. Only 169 lots remaining. They will all sell in the next 90 days. 11 sold this week. Start your home now, even if only a tent. Home owners are the people who count. No city taxes. Improvements now available are water, lights, telephone and gas. Lots joining us sell from $600 to $1,500. Ours are $300. Prove it for yourself. Come out and see. Those who bought in first section one year ago will not resell now for twice price paid. Lots remaining are much more valuable, away from smoke and noise. One man built, finished six-room house, total cost of house and lot, $2,200. You can do the same. Our lots today are worth $1,000, but we are closing out at $300 each. Potential profit now $700. If you put $300 in savings bank at 4% and draw interest semi-annually it would take 58 years to earn $700. Buy land for land goes up. There can be no more land. Ask any purchaser if ours is not the best buy around Atlanta today. Five-minute car service. 10-minute bus service. Come out and see these lots. See or call owner and I will take you out. On property all day Sunday. Take East Point-College Park car, get off Lakewood avenue. For home or investment there is nothing better. Contractors will make money building here. Remember, $12 cash is all it takes and you start your home. Owner, 418 Peters Bldg., WAlnut 5745, WEst 0528, or WEst 3256-W. Representative on ground every day.

TENANTS AT WILL

MANY PERSONS go through life without ever having a spot of earth upon which they can set foot and call their own. They pay for the privilege of living in houses owned by others, and walk or ride on highways owned by the State, County or City. Their children in the public schools sing—"HOME SWEET HOME," and think of a rented house, "MY COUNTRY 'TIS OF THEE," and wonder what it is all about. They are tenants at will in the world of which others are the proprietors. Every good citizen becomes a better citizen by owning his own home. FOR MANY YEARS PAST THERE HASN'T BEEN A MORE FAVORABLE TIME TO MAKE A BEGINNING THAN NOW.

ATLANTA REAL ESTATE BOARD

Six Candidates Make Pleas For Votes at Five Rallies

Large Audiences Hear Addresses by Seekers of Posts on Fulton County Commission.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

With a series of charges and counter charges enlivening their speeches, six candidates for three posts on the Fulton county commission Tuesday mounted five stumps in widely separated sections of the county and presented their cases to large audiences as the final week of the campaign was entered.

Today week, 55,000 voters are entitled to march to the polls and express their preference in the democratic primary, and Tuesday the contenders prepared for a whirlwind finish as the final lap was entered.

Citing a list of civic and public improvements made throughout the county without an increase in taxes, incumbents, Paul S. Ethridge, Dr. W. L. Gilbert and Walter C. Hendrix, scored what they declared to be a campaign of villification by the opposition.

On the other hand, Dr. Dan Griffith, Nelson Spratt and Alex Whitley, composing the opposing ticket, launched scathing attacks on the records of the incumbents and at the same time hit "gag rule tactics" which they stated were applied Monday night at a meeting held at the Inman school by sponsors of the incumbents.

Five Meetings Held.

The five following gatherings Tuesday night were:

English Avenue school, by sponsors of the Spratt-Whitley-Griffith ticket; Cascade High school; Gilbert-Etheridge-Hendrix rally at the Kimball House, and another at the Lee Street school; Atlanta League of Women Voters at the Daffodil Tearoom presided over by Mrs. Harry Greene, president.

Standing firmly on their records and striking at "the financial Moses who plans to lead the county out of a phantom money crisis which exists only in his own mind," incumbents launched a stinging attack on their opponents.

From the same stumps, however, the opposition leveled their fire on "development of private real estate subdivisions in the interest of incumbents, mismanagement and waste."

Holmes Joyner, representing Dr. Gilbert, at the English Avenue school, disclaimed in behalf of the incumbents any responsibility for the fact that representatives of opponents were denied the right to the floor at the Inman school rally.

"The meeting was sponsored by friends of the incumbents, but Commissioner Etheridge asked that the representatives be permitted to take the stump," Mr. Joyner declared. "There was no effort on the part of the incumbents to bar speakers. The opponents, however, should not depend on representatives to carry on their battle. They should welcome the opportunity to discuss the issues of the campaign from the rostrums with their opponents."

Attack on Hendrix.

Demanding the withdrawal of Mr. Hendrix from the race because "he does not live in the Oak Grove district and never has," Dr. Griffith charged that the voter's oath which Hendrix took stating that the incumbent is a resident of that section of the county is false.

"Mr. Hendrix does not live there now and never has lived there," Dr. Griffith charged. "I could not find the house. He should withdraw from the race and leave the field to me."

George B. Hamilton, representing Commissioner Etheridge, stated that Mr. Etheridge has held the office and performed its duties for the very best interests of Atlanta for a long time and that on his record as a faithful public servant whose integrity cannot be questioned by honest men he should be returned.

Virgil Adams speaking for Mr. Spratt, hit alleged "gag rule" and declared that the commissioners did not insist that the representatives be accorded the right to the floor.

"If they had, we would have gotten it and don't you forget that," he added. "These men tell you that they should be received because they hold the office now. That is un-American. Fulton county grand jury in its summation of the trouble with the Atlanta city hall in that body's probe of graft, recognized that when it hit the fact that the city clerk had perpetuated himself in office. Dr. Gilbert and Mr. Etheridge are nice gentlemen. One is a fine doctor and the other an excellent lawyer, but as county commissioners they are flops."

Mr. Whitley also struck at the incumbents declaring that past performances are what their races are predicated on and that is just what the people of Fulton county do not want to continue.

"Their records alone will defeat them. We are going to be elected because the people are tired of this sort of thing," he said.

W. A. Lynn represented Mr. Spratt, and Mr. Etheridge and Hewitt Chambers spoke for Dr. Gilbert at the Cascade school session. Mr. Spratt and Mr. Whitley appeared in person About 150 persons were in the audience.

Defends Board Record.

Commissioner Etheridge declared at the Rivers' school meeting that the county is not on the brink of disaster and is not headed for bankruptcy as has been charged by opponents of the administration candidates. He told the audience that auditors' reports show that the county is in a healthy financial condition.

The necessity for Fulton county's borrowing $2,300,000 with which to operate the county until taxes come in during the fall was explained by Commissioner Etheridge. He declared that the proposal of the opposition to so run the county that the commission would not have to borrow could not be lived up to. In the first place, he said, it would mean that the county would have to rake and scrape and save enough to operate until fall of the next year, and that would result in people paying taxes for one year for the operation of the county during the next year, which would be contrary to law, and unfair to the taxpayers.

The law requires that each year shall be operated as an individual unit, Mr. Etheridge pointed out. Excess revenue derived from taxation during one year which would be carried over as a surplus into the coming year would be illegal and contrary to legislative enactment, he explained.

Mr. Etheridge said that if a homeowner returns his property and pays his tax for 1930, and the commission holds his tax money over until 1931 and spends it during that year, and then the home-owner sells his property at the beginning of 1931, he would be paying the other fellow's taxes, under the proposal of the opposing ticket.

No Moses Needed.

Commissioner Etheridge said that he has "no platform except my ten years of service to the county." Referring to Councilman Nelson T. Spratt, an opposition candidate, he said: "If he has the ambition and ability to render a service to his community, he is in the right place now to do it. There is no crying necessity in our county for this financial Moses to lead us out of the wilderness."

Commissioner Hendrix outlined the sane financial and progressive policies of the county, and made a strong appeal for continuance of those policies.

Commissioner Gilbert said that he has had nine years' experience on the board during his two connections with the county, and expressed his deep interest in sanitation and fire protection for the rural districts. He said that he hopes the voters will return him to office that he may aid in working out these problems.

Cam Dorsey, a member of the county board of education, and Prof. Jere A. Wells, superintendent of county schools, endorsed the candidacy of the incumbents, and told of their friendship of the administration candidates for the county school system. Mr. Dorsey and Prof. Wells spoke of the numerous occasions on which the commissioners have helped out the schools with money with which improvements have been made, and cited the new North Fulton High school as one instance.

At a meeting of friends of the incumbents Tuesday afternoon at the Kimball house, Ronald Ransom, vice president and trust officer of the Fulton National Bank, and George F. Longino, manager of the College Park branch of the First National Bank, commended the sound financial status of the county and said that its affairs are being administered in a wise manner. Short speeches were made by citizens from every section of the county predicting the overwhelming election of the incumbents. More than 300 persons attended.

All candidates are invited to appear at 7:30 o'clock tonight at a meeting sponsored by the Second Ward Citizens' Club at the Crew street school, second ward.

Increase of $7,000 In Decatur Budget

A budget totaling $323,080 for Decatur for 1930 was announced Tuesday by the commissioners, this amount representing an increase over 1929 of $7,000. Tax digest totals for the year amount to $11,600,000.

The items in the budget are: General operating expenses, $162,400.57; public schools, $104,197, and sinking fund for sewer and water bonds, $56,425.

MORTUARY

MRS. MARTHA E. FOUTE BAKER.

Alexander, 26 The Prado, will be conducted this morning from the First Methodist church, Dalton, Rev. F. K. Sims, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Dalton; Rev. Pierce Harris, of the First Methodist church, and Charley Bass, past grand master of Masons, will officiate at the funeral.

MRS. M. B. DONALD.

Mrs Mary B. Donald, 61, died Tuesday at her residence, 1300 Fair street, S. E. She had lived in Atlanta for 18 years and was a member of the Nellie Dodd Methodist church. She is survived by two sons, C. E. and A. B. Donald; three daughters, Mrs. G. C. Jones, Mrs. H. L. Scott and Mrs. J. W. Ryan; four brothers, George, Joe, John and Ed Hall, and one sister, Mrs. I. S. Stafford.

MRS. FRANCES HUMPHRIES.

Mrs. Frances I. Humphries, 88, one of the oldest members of the Park Street Methodist church, died early Tuesday at her residence, 1189 South Oxford road, N. E. She was in her 86th year. Mrs. Humphries came to Atlanta nearly fifty years ago from Cincinnati. Her husband, the late George T. Humphries, was a well-known architect for many years. She is survived by four sons, William C. Humphries, Miami Beach, Fla.; George P. Humphries, Atlanta; Dr. Homer H. Humphries, Jacksonville, Fla., and Ralph Humphries, of New York city. Services will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the residence and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Despite Tuesday's fine weather, not a single plane from other parts dropped in on the airport during the day. Very little of interest was noted in any phase of the airport's activities and visitors from "town" were conspicuous by their absence. Airmail planes continued to "click," all of them running on schedule, though the early morning ships were forced to take off in a heavy mist which hung low over the landscape. Paul Johnston, flying traveling salesman, took off for another swing around the territory in his Challenger Command-Aire.

George Sheely, piloting the Davis Airlines' Travel-Air monoplante from Birmingham Tuesday afternoon, took advantage of a strong tail-wind to complete the run, including a stop at Anniston, in 58 minutes. This is an average of nearly 150 miles an hour and cut the scheduled time for the trip almost in half. L. J. Sauerborn, on of the officials of the airlines, said Tuesday that the company has been operating at 75 per cent of capacity since the line was opened and that the results of the first few weeks' operations have exceeded even the most sanquine expectations of its organizers. Beginning April 1, the company's hook-up with Delta Airlines, which operates on a three-day-a-week basis from Birmingham to Dallas, will be placed on a daily schedule, Mr. Sauerborn stated.

The Prudden-Whitehead, tri-motored, low-wing, all-metal monoplane, of the Atlanta Aircraft Corporation, the first produced by the local company, is in Washington, where officials of the company are negotiating with the department of commerce for licenses which will permit the big ship to make its projected 20,000-mile trip to Cuba, Central America and South America. Lieutenant J. P. W. Vest, ex-army flyer, is in charge of the ship, with Edward Whitehead, vice president of the company, as passenger. The start of the Washington trip, which took place Sunday, was characterized by the same deep secrecy which has governed the company's operations since its inception. The journey was unannounced in advance, the ship being wheeled out of the hangar early in the morning and the flight begun immediately.

Air mail contractors, generally, had a fairly satisfactory year in 1929, but while further growth is in prospect, earnings for 1930 cannot be accurately estimated until the new rates to be instituted by the postoffice department are definitely ascertained, says the Standard Statistics Company, of New York, in a current survey.

"It is probable that the new scales will be based along lines whereby these carriers will be permitted to earn a fair return on capital invested and thereby bring individual returns for the carriers into closer symmetry than has existed in the past," the survey stated.

"Conceding that the industry will, of necessity, require indirect subsidy for some time to come, until it can be put on a profitable commercial basis—feasible only when flying becomes more of a routine to everyday life—the expansion of air mail poundage hauled has, nevertheless, caused the postoffice department to seek a revision of the existing rates paid individual contractors," it continued. "Future payments for air mail carried, it is indicated from Washington, will be based on scales entirely different than those now operative. Undoubtedly, the government is disposed to give aviation considerable assistance to insure its rapid development, but the policies to be followed evidently will be to graduate air mail payments so that operators of the systems shall receive a fair return on capital invested. In this respect it must be realized that capital invested will represent equipment costs, etc., and in no respect bear relationship to the security capitalizations of the respective enterprises."

Mrs. Mary Bowen Dies At Home of Daughter

Mrs. Mary C. Bowen, widow of the late W. H. Bowen, at the time of his death secretary and treasurer of Greenwood cemetery, died at a private hospital Tuesday night after a protracted illness. She was in her sixty-first year.

Mrs. Bowen, prior to her removal to the hospital, was living with her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Mumford, at 1137 Briarcliff road, but for many years she was a resident of West End. She was one of the pioneer citizens of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements had not been completed Tuesday night.

In addition to Mrs. Mumford, she is survived by five other daughters: Mrs. Sam Morris, Mrs. T. F. Cathcart, Mrs. Joe Brown, Mrs. Roy Johnson and Mrs. Emma Bone, and one brother, J. C. Stevens, all of Atlanta.

Death Car Driver Cleared of Blame

A jury in DeKalb county superior court Monday returned a verdict that the killing of Miss Leila Underwood on the night of January 17 was unavoidable and a verdict of not guilty was returned as to an involuntary charge of manslaughter against P. P. Baxter, driver of the car. The prosecution contended that Baxter was driving recklessly and the defense countered with the plea that an oncoming truck blinded his vision.

Coca-Cola Stock Continues Advance

In line with recent rumors in New York financial circles that Coca-Cola common stock was due for a gradual rise, the stock Tuesday on the exchange continued its advance. Rumor also has it that interests already owning the bulk of outstanding stock are "accumulating."

Tuesday's close was 160 3-8, a gain of 2 points over that of Monday and 7 7-8 points higher than Saturday's finish. At one time Tuesday the stock reached 161 3-8. Total sales for the day were 5,700 shares.
